FRENCH FLIERS SAFE IN AFRICA ON OCEAN HOP

RICH YOUNG BACKER SECRET PASSENGER

Mystery of Arrival in Morocco, When New York Was Goal, Remains Unsolved.

Paris, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—A sigh of relief went up from the aviation fields around Paris tonight when news came that the "Kid sergeants" Jean Assolant and Rene Lefevre had ended their big transoceanic adventure with a safe landing at Casablanca, Morocco, at 4:40 p. m. This was 9 hours and 36 minutes after their plane, The Yellow Canary, had hopped from Le Bourget Field.

Neither aviation experts nor the Paris man in the street had taken the attempt seriously. They were fearful, however, that the young fliers would come to grief as it was believed that their daring outweighed their experience, especially in the art of navigation.

Announcement said that the plane landed because of a leak in the oil lines. There was no explanation for their presence in Africa after they had started ostensibly for New York and had sent messages to representatives in the United States asking that arrangements for a landing be made at Mitchel Field, L. I.

Backer Hides Aboard Plane.

Besides the two fliers there was a passenger in the plane. He was Armond Lotti, son of Alfred Lotti, a wealthy hotel keeper of Paris. Young Lotti was the financial backer of the flight but his family had no inkling of his intention to go in the plane.

He concealed this even from workmen at the Le Bourget Field hidden under a pile of rags in the machine.

"Extraordinary," exclaimed Alfred Lotti when told of his son's action. "Perhaps now he will be back to work within a few days. I am grateful to the Associated Press for giving me the news of their safe landing. As always, it is first with any important tidings."

The lone hope of France for a negotiation of the Paris-New York flight this year is Dieudonne Coste, of the round-the-world flight firm of Coste and Lebrix. He is at Villa-Coublay with a plane all tuned up.

"I am in no hurry," he said this evening. "I am awaiting good weather and when I start I will try to stay in the air for 45 hours."

Future Plans Concealed.

Casablanca, Morocco, Sept. 4 (A.P.). The "kid sergeants" of French aviation who landed here this afternoon at an hour when they were believed to be well out over the Atlantic on a flight to the United States, continued tonight to mystify four continents as to their real intentions.

Jean Assolant and Rene Lefevre, the sergeants, now talk of flying the Yellow Canary to Dakar, French West Africa, thence to Pernambuco, Brazil, across the south Atlantic and then on to New York if their luck holds. Their dreams do not stop there, for already they talk of an attempt to fly from New York to Paris.

Whether their passenger and financial backer, Armond Lotti, will continue on their carefree air adventure was not learned. He had concealed himself from even the workmen at the Le Bourget Field, outside of Paris, when the plane took off this morning. His parents knew nothing of his intention to accompany the fliers.

Avoided Landing at Night.

The Yellow Canary accomplished the flight from Paris to Casablanca in little more than nine hours and a half. It is understood that the aviators plan another stop at St. Louis or Dakar before essaying the ocean hop. Although their primary reason for landing here was a faulty oil line, a contributing reason was said to have been that they would have reached the St. Louis Field at night had they continued their flight without a break.

Church Censures Queen For Awards on Sunday

Amsterdam, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Deep regret that Queen Wilhemina had desecrated the Lord's day by awarding prizes on Sunday to the winners in the Olympic games was unanimously expressed today by the wardens of the Amsterdam Christian Reformed Church. They decided to inform the queen of this opinion in a letter.

It is said that this was the first time that an individual parish had ventured to censure the queen.

North Carolinian Killed By Drop-Light Current

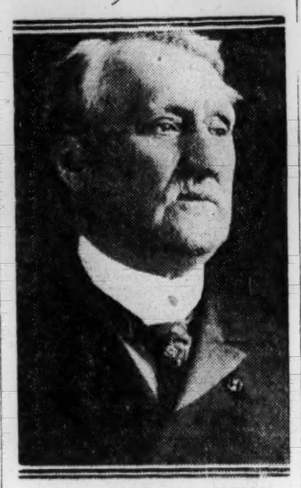

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Sept. 4.—While in the act of holding a drop light which he had plugged in a porch-light socket to make repairs to his automobile, Thomas M. Boyte, 50 years old, was instantly killed last night at Leaksville, N. C., near here.

The line carried 110 volts, and the supposition is that Boyte's wet hand and the wet ground were factors in his electrocution.

Stanton J. Peelle, 86, Veteran Jurist, Dead

Former Court of Claims Justice Long Active in City Affairs.

JUDGE STANTON J. PEELLE.

Judge Stanton Judkins Peelle, former chief justice of the United States Court of Claims and prominent religious and civic worker, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at his apartment in Meridian Mansions, 2400 Sixteenth street northwest. Although the justice had been in failing health for some time, he and Mrs. Peelle attended services at the Church of the Covenant Sunday, and his death was unexpected.

Judge Peelle, who was in his eighty-sixth year, served on the bench of the Court of Claims for 21 years, 7 years as chief justice. He was elevated to the bench in 1892 by President Benjamin Harrison, and in 1906 was appointed chief justice by President Roosevelt. He was retired in 1913, at the age of 70 years.

For ten years during his service on the bench he was a member of the faculty of George Washington University, lecturing on the law of partnership and bailment from 1901 to 1911. He was also president of the board of trustees of the Washington College of Law, Presbyterian Home for the Aged and Garfield Memorial Hospital from 1910 to 1924.

Judge Peelle was born in Wayne County, Ind., on February 11, 1843, and was the son John Cox Peelle and Ruth Smith Peelle. He was educated in the public schools, a seminary in

HOOVER PLANS PERSONAL PLEA IN SOLID SOUTH

INVASION PROPOSED FOR ABOUT OCTOBER 1

Republicans Evince Rising Hope for Break in Lines of Democracy in Dixie.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Republicans' confidence in their ability to break into the South was emphasized yesterday when it was made known that Herbert Hoover plans to make a speech somewhere near the North Carolina-Tennessee border. Asheville, N. C., or Knoxville, Tenn., suggest themselves because of their proximity to their respective State borders but no definite site has been chosen.

The invasion will come October 1 or thereabouts. President Harding in his campaign spoke both in Knoxville and in Louisville, Ky., but it is not recalled that any other Republican candidate has ever campaigned in the South, or a Democratic one either for that matter, especially in the Solid South into which class North Carolina has heretofore been placed.

A speech near the border is intended to be a gesture to both States, Tennessee and North Carolina, and the fact that it is to be one of the four speeches which Mr. Hoover will make from now on strikingly shows the importance which the Republicans attach to them. It will be, in fact, one of the six speeches that Mr. Hoover will have made in the entire campaign including his acceptance address.

Newark Date Is Changed.

He is to speak at Newark, N. J., September 17 instead of September 14 as first announced and in Carnegie Hall in New York a month later. There is to be another speech in New England, most likely Boston, at a date not yet definitely determined. Thus North Carolina and Tennessee are in a way being placed by the Republicans in the class with the Eastern centers and the likelihood is that the Tarheel State, at least, will be flattered as it has not been since the Civil War.

There is reason for the belief, too, that when the final choice for the place for the speech is made it will be found on the North Carolina side. Recently this State has begun to look brighter for the Republicans than Tennessee.

Asheville Smith's Stronghold.

If Asheville is selected Mr. Hoover will be striking right into the enemy territory because while there is admittedly all sorts of opposition to the New York Governor in North Carolina it is not centered at Asheville. It was there that the North Carolina preconvention movement for Smith was born. Of metropolitan ways and manners the New York Governor has an appeal there besides the fact that he is a Democrat.

Decision to make this gesture to the State was more than the North Carolina leaders hoped for, at least several weeks ago. They came up to see Chairman Work, assured him they would carry the State and put out a rather faint suggestion that it would certainly be nice for Mr. Hoover to come down there. But this, they realized, was too much to expect and so they made their real serious request for Senator Curtis or Senator Borah. Republican designs on the State have apparently become more serious since and, too, the vigorous manner in which they are going after the State would seem to suggest a recognition on their part that they need it.

Race Question An Issue.

Whether Mr. Hoover will attempt to go into the race question is not known. This is what the Southern Democratic regulars have been hammering him with to keep their States in line, about the only effective weapon they have seemed to be able to use. His antisegregation order in the Department of Commerce swept the South like a timber fire when it was issued and the Democrats are still loudly shouting it.

Subsequent activities attributed to the Hoover camp such as the ousting of negro Republican bosses, however, have taken quite a bit of the fire from these charges. There is also the reported drift of Southern negroes toward Smith, which has also lessened the force of the "white supremacy" cry of the Democratic leaders. In some quarters there is the feeling that as things are shaping up Hoover is the "white hope" rather than Smith.

Not only are the Republicans driving for their national ticket in North Carolina and Tennessee but in the latter especially they are getting behind their senatorial candidate. A statement yesterday by Senator Metcalfe, of Rhode Island, chairman of the Republican senatorial speakers' bureau, urged the election of Mayor James H. Fowler, of Knoxville, the Republican opponent of Senator McKellar.

Borah Visits Candidate.

"The State of Tennessee is crowded with infant industries destined to grow into great and prosperous institutions under a Republican regime," Senator Metcalfe declared. "But these industries, more than any others, need the

NUN ACCUSERS RETRACT STORY OF DEATH PLOT

Now Corroborate Sister Concepcion's Denial of Complicity.

CONFRONTATION USED BY MEXICAN CUSTOM

Confessed Plotters Against Calles and Obregon Admit Falsity.

Mexico City, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—A maze of contradictory testimony was before government officials tonight in their investigation of the assassination of Gen. Alvaro Obregon as a result of retractions by two principal witnesses against the nun, Sister Concepcion.

The retractions were to the effect that Sister Concepcion did not aid in the plotting against the lives of President Calles and Gen. Obregon, that she never furnished the poison with which the two were to be killed; that she knew nothing of the bombs which were manufactured to end their lives, and did not take part in the discussions in which the assassination schemes were concocted.

The new statements covered the previous testimony of Eulogio Gonzales and Senorita Maria Elena Manzano, who formerly had attempted to implicate Sister Concepcion in their own confessed plot to poison President Calles and Gen. Obregon by pricking them with a poison pin while they danced with one of the plotters.

Today, questioned by District Attorney Nieto in the presence of Sister Concepcion, they denied what they had insisted on before—that she furnished poison for their attempt, participated in their plottings, and, in fact, was an active agent in their assassination intrigue.

How Gonzales Retracted.

For her discrepancy in testimony Senorita Manzano had an explanation: "I was so nervous that day I did not know what I said."

For his discrepancy Eulogio Gonzales offered only th statement that whatever Sister Concepcion said was true.

A third man, Jorge Gallardo Pavon, upheld their retractions, all of which came through an old Mexican custom of "careada," or facing persons accused of crime with another to repeat accusations.

District Attorney Nieto brought Gonzales into the presence of the nun first. He began the investigation, addressing Sister Concepcion:

"Gonzales has previously testified you presided over meetings at your house at which it was plotted to kill President Calles and Gen. Obregon and that you furnished the poison for the attempts, is this true?"

The nun replied, "it is absolutely untrue."

Nieto turned to Gonzales, "Do you say it is true?"

Gonzales answered: "Well, I say that the truth is"—he hesitated—"whatever Sister Concepcion says is the truth."

"Do you ratify your previous testimony?"

"Yes."

Toral Alienists Resign.

"Then how is it you can testify today that it is untrue Sister Concepcion presided at the meetings and furnished the poison?"

"I never said they were political meetings at her house," Gonzales replied. "I thought she was present just because the meetings were at her house."

Sister Concepcion interposed the words here that she never listened to what was being discussed when groups of young persons gathered at her house. "Half the people of Mexico City gathered there for religious services," she said. "How could she know what every one of them was discussing?"

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Dispatches from Mexico City to El Continental today reported that the alienists and psychopathic experts who have been observing Leon Toral, slayer of Alvaro Obregon, president-elect, have resigned because they were not given cooperation by the authorities at Mixcoac Prison, where Toral is held.

Girl Hunger Strike Is Still Unbroken

Two Fair Prisoners to Fast, They Say, Until Labor Trouble Ends.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Resolute in their determination to fast "until the Allan A. strike has been settled in favor of the strikers," Kenosha's two girl hunger strikers today refused to listen to friends and sympathizers, who counseled them to accept food.

Andrew Weis, of the general strike committee, said the girls, Mertice Hudson and Amanda Rittner, have refused food since their arrest August 7. Jail officials, however, said the fast began August 26.

The hunger strike was voluntary, as was their imprisonment, the only requirement for release being the signing of their personal bonds.

The girls, who are in their teens and of slender build, have lost weight and are sinking into a state of apathy, physicians at the jail said. No effort at forcible feeding has been attempted.

Senator La Follette Leads in Wisconsin

ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—In his quest of a second term as Governor of Wisconsin, Fred R. Zimmerman, follower of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, was apparently defeated in the primary election today, on the basis of early returns. The choice for the nomination lay between Representative Joseph D. Beck, Progressive candidate, and Walter J. Kohler, conservative, who were making a close race.

Senator Robert M. La Follette apparently had scored a not-unexpected victory over George W. Meade.

The vote in the Republican governorship contest, with 735 of the State's 2,760 precincts counted, was:

Beck, 41,339; Kohler, 45,234; Zimmerman, 20,047.

For senator on the Republican ticket, the vote in 684 precincts was: La Follette, 51,534; Mead, 27,166.

Fair weather prevailed and served to bring out a large vote. Wisconsin polled 800,000 in the presidential election four years ago, but generally does not exceed 400,000 in a primary election.

Democrats and Republicans nominated candidates for governor and four other State officers, United States senator and the House of Representatives, the legislature and county offices.

This, combined with the closeness of

NINTH PRECINCT FORCE CUT TO 5 BY SUSPENSION

DOUGHERTY DEFENDS DEPARTMENT MORALE

Survey of Trial Board Cases and Inquiries Into Two Shootings Ordered.

With a sweeping investigation and analysis of the morale of the Police Department ordered, and with investigations under way of two shootings of civilians by policemen, suspension of another member of the force last night left the Ninth Precinct, one of the largest in the city, patrolled by only three footmen and two mounted men.

The night force of the Ninth Precinct, which embraces a large part of the Northeast section, has been depleted by suspension of five men, the fifth of whom, W. F. Fey, was relieved of duty yesterday and charged with drinking while on duty. Ordinarily the night force of the precinct is a minimum of twelve men. Last night three men patrolled the fifteen beats in the precinct, while one motorcycle and one bicycle man roved over the territory generally.

Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, in charge of police, yesterday issued a statement in which he declared "I think that the morale of the Police Department is better today than I have seen it."

Shooting Inquiry Ordered.

Shortly before the commissioner spoke, Maj. Edwin B. Hesse had ordered a survey of the cases before the police trial board made by Inspector William S. Shelby. In the meantime Inspector Albert J. Headley was proceeding with investigation of the shooting of Matthew Lee, colored, of 1715 Fifteenth street northwest, early yesterday morning by Policeman Lester Parks, who accompanied by Policeman J. L. Taylor, was attempting to arrest Lee on a traffic charge. Lee, in Emergency Hospital in a critical condition, denied that he had been armed when the policeman shot him, and no trace of the weapon with which the policemen say Lee fired at them has been found.

An investigation is also under way of the shooting of George Hargrave, colored, 26 years old, of 1241-A Carrollberg street southwest, by Policeman Lonnie O. Tompkins. Hargrave was also shot while trying to escape arrest on a traffic charge.

Suspension of Fey in the Ninth Precinct, the fifth largest in the city, confronted officers of the station with a serious situation, they admitted this morning when they studied a map of the territory they are expected to cover.

Trust to Luck, Says Brown.

"We are forced to trust to luck and thank God it hasn't failed us so far," Lieut. C. R. Brown, acting commander of the precinct, said.

The precinct covers territory from the Capitol to the Eastern Branch, north along North Capitol street to New York avenue, then northeast to Mount Olivet road and the Eastern Branch. In order to make even a pretense at covering this extensive area, it had to be divided into three beats, although normally it has 15 beats. Precinct officials said that it was almost impossible for the three men on patrol duty to walk around their enlarged beats once in an eight hour tour of duty. Suspension of the five men is the principal cause of the depleted force, Lieut. Brown admitted last night, although this is supplemented by normal sick leave and regular leave.

Dougherty Defends Force.

Despite the alarming increase in the number of policemen haled before the trial board, as revealed in a study of the records of the board by The Washington Post, Dougherty yesterday reit-

CHAMBERLAIN, SICK, MAY LEAVE CABINET

CRITICISM DENIED CAUSE

London, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Sir J. Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, is not likely to resume his office when he returns from his long sea voyage to California and trip through Canada, in the opinion of British political circles. It is believed that the space of two months is too short for his recovery from his recent breakdown.

This opinion is echoed in the London newspapers and there is much emphasis in their columns of the growing concern respecting the health of the foreign secretary. The independent as well as the opposition press is taking opportunity to bring out this viewpoint.

Officials of the foreign office maintain that they have no information that would give the slightest inclination that their chief contemplates resigning. All that they would say was that they knew he had taken the long journey in an attempt to regain a normal physical condition and that they expected him to return to England on November 7.

The officials are positive in denying that the criticism voiced in some sections of the British press over the Anglo-French naval agreement had anything to do with Sir Austen's condition. They say that his breakdown does, however, call attention to the increasing strain of the empire's political life.

It is obvious to any one talking with Downing street officials that they do not believe that Sir Austen could carry on his onerous duties unless he experiences a decided improvement from his present debilitated and exhausted condition.

All his friends unite in saying that he reached his physical state because of overstrain and overwork.

Although it was admitted that the health of Sir Austen was a problem of grave concern for Prime Minister Baldwin, it was authoritatively denied in Downing street today that the foreign secretary contemplates resigning. It is regarded as likely that Lord Cushendun will continue to assume his duties until Chamberlain is fully recovered.

The London Mail says that the cabinet, already disturbed by the an-

MORE OFFERS COME TO MATE HUNTRESS

Men Would Make Miss Davis' Expedition Unnecessary; Girls Want to Join.

EXCERPTS FROM LETTERS

After the arrival of another batch of letters yesterday, Miss Helen Davis confidentially predicted that success would crown her proposed transcontinental husband-hunting expedition. Yesterday's avalanche of mail came from all parts of the country and from all kinds of people.

Not only were there women who wanted to be among the four that Miss Davis will take along on the hunt, but there were men who asked that they be picked as the prey. In fact, most of the mail came from men.

Miss Davis, who announced her proposed matrimonial junket in The Post last week, was busy all day yesterday reading and answering the letters. She continued her policy of not revealing the identity of her correspondents, but consented to give out excerpts from some of the letters.

From Topeka, Kans., the home town of Senator Curtis, Republican vice presidential nominee, came a letter by air mail and on engraved stationery. It was from a man who craved to meet Miss Davis and the women she takes with her.

Another impressive-looking letter, one bearing a coat-of-arms, came from a 50-year-old widower in New York, a "tenth generation" American who had read the Washington Post's story in the New York Evening Post, and who thought he would like to look over the members of the expedition and have them look him over.

From Chicago came two letters, both inspired by a story taken from the Washington Post which appeared in the Chicago Daily News. One of them made an outright proposal to Miss Davis.

"My hair turned gray in the World War," he wrote, "but I've still got plenty of pep."

The other was from a college man, one who said he neither drinks nor smokes, and who wanted Miss Davis to "lay her cards on the table" and exchange photographs.

An Erie, Pa., woman, 30 years of age, and owner of a beauty shop, told Miss Davis that the idea of the expedition appealed greatly to her, and that she

MAN, 84, KILLS SELF AFTER FIRING AT KIN

Mrs. Margaret Cross Escapes Bullet When She Orders Uncle to Leave.

HEAVY DRINKING BLAMED

Incensed because his 62-year-old niece ordered him from her home at 1436 B street southeast last night, Fred Greenagle, 84 years old, seized an antiquated revolver, fired one shot at her as she fled to her room, and then ended his life with a bullet through his brain.

The niece, Mrs. Margaret Cross, told police that the first shot came so close to her head that it singed her hair. Police found her locked in her room screaming for help.

Greenagle came to the Cross residence about a month ago from Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Cross said. He was made welcome at the residence and moved in for a short stay. A short time after his arrival, Mrs. Cross told police, he began drinking and became bothersome around the house.

After repeatedly warning the aged man to cease drinking, Mrs. Cross declared that her patience became exhausted last night and she ordered him to leave. He refused, she said, so she packed his grips and placed them on the front porch, announcing that he could stay at her home no longer.

When Greenagle saw her place his grips on the porch, he became violently angry, she asserted, and went to his room, where he had concealed an old-fashioned small caliber revolver.

As she saw him reenter the room with the weapon in his hand, Mrs. Cross screamed and began running. Greenagle, she said, took deliberate aim at her and pulled the trigger four times. The first three shells in the gun, rusted with age, failed to explode, but the fourth crashed into the wall right beside her head.

By the time the fourth shot was fired, Mrs. Greenagle had reached the stairway and she raced up it to her room and locked herself in. A few seconds later she heard a second shot, but was afraid to investigate.

Neighbors who heard the shots and Mrs. Cross' cries for aid, telephoned for police. Reserves from the Fifth Precinct found Greenagle's body slumped on the back porch of the residence. The gun was lying by his side. Greenagle was pronounced dead by Dr. R. J.

VANISHED VETERAN OF CAPITAL FOUND

J. M. Vallin, Gone 4 Months, Arrested in Denver on Complaint of Wife.

ABANDONED AUTO HERE

Joseph M. Vallin, 31-year-old World War veteran and Washington haberdasher, for whom a four-months' search was made following his mysterious disappearance from his family on the night of May 6, was located yesterday in Denver, Colo., and arrested on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Mrs. Alma H. Vallin, of 2109 Eighteenth street northwest, charging nonsupport.

Although Mrs. Vallin refused to discuss the case last night, it is understood that the man was located through her own efforts, and that Vallin has expressed his willingness to return to Washington. The man has been working in the Colorado city, it is said.

At the time of his disappearance, Vallin was the proprietor of a haberdashery store at 1359 U street northwest, which has since gone into the hands of receivers. On the night of May 6, after leaving his wife at their home, following an automobile ride, Vallin returned to his store to turn on the night light and failed to return home.

Fearing foul play, Mrs. Vallin notified the police, who conducted a city-wide search for the man, and two days later found his abandoned automobile at Seventeenth and U streets northwest. No clews were unearthed in further search for him, however, although it was thought for a time that a body found in the Potomac river near Sycamore Point last July was that of Vallin.

90 Per Cent of Athens Victims of Dengue Fever

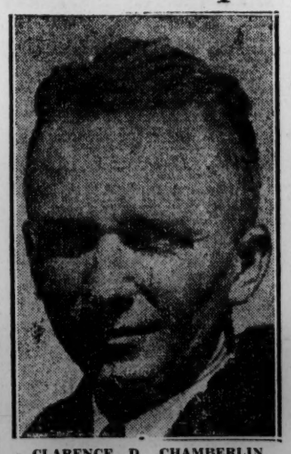

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—National headquarters of the Near East Relief tonight announced receipt of a cablegram stating that the epidemic of dengue fever in Greece had claimed as its victims 90 per cent of the population of Athens and Piraeus.

The disease is spreading to the coast islands and Salonica.

Braila, Roumania, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Four cases of the dreaded dengue fever were discovered today on the Greek ship Desco, which arrived in this port.

Chamberlin Out of Air Derby Because His Plane's Unique

CLARENCE D. CHAMBERLIN.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 4 (A.P.). Clarence D. Chamberlin, transatlantic aviator, withdrew today from the class A cross-country air race, as other contestants were tuning up their motors for the start tomorrow at 5:30 a. m., daylight saving time, for Los Angeles. More than 30 planes are entered.

Chamberlin's plane, a Sperry messenger special, failed to qualify under rules which provide that two models of an entered craft must have been flown before August 10. The noted flier's craft is the only one of its kind. He is expected to fly to Los Angeles later this week and take part in the events there.

The planes will be lined up 50 feet apart and will take off at one-minute intervals.

The winner will receive $5,000. Other prizes ranging from $2,500 to $300 will be awarded. The planes will make sixteen stops between here and Mines Field at Los Angeles. Nights will be passed at Columbus, Ohio; Kansas City, Mo.; Fort Worth, Tex.; El Paso, Tex., and Yuma, Ariz. Additional stops will be made for fueling.

Large crowds thronged this field all

Levine Leaves on Leviathan As Acosta Comes a Cropper

BERT ACOSTA.

Cherbourg, France, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Charles A. Levine caught his boat for home tonight but he left behind him in an embarrassing position his pilot, Bert Acosta, two Dutch test pilots and even his new plane, Queen of the Air.

The four men had flown from Paris and arrived at the aviation field at Querqueville at 5:20. The gendarmes inquired somewhat icily where the log book and passports were that French air regulations require all planes to carry.

The explanation of "got to catch a ship" failed to satisfy them as far as Acosta and the Dutch pilots Mencken and Wickham were concerned and they were detained pending verification of their identities. The Queen of the Air also was remanded to the surveillance of the gendarmes.

A somewhat flurried Levine dug hastily through his baggage and finally uncovered his passport. An automobile carried him to the Leviathan in plenty of time to board the liner before she sailed at 10:30.

It is understood that the gendarmes, having won their point, will permit Acosta to fly the plane back to Le Bourget tomorrow morning.

ciated his opinion that morale of the force is as high as it has ever been. Results of The Post's survey were made public last week, and a few days prior to that Commissioner Dougherty had declared that he had every confidence in the conduct of the city's policemen.

Dougherty intimated that the increase in prosecution of policemen for sundry misdemeanors is an aftermath of the assaults made on the police department by Representative Thomas L. Blanton, although he carefully refrained from using Blanton's name.

Statement by Dougherty.

"We are now reaping the harvest," Dougherty said, "of the attacks that have been made on the police force within the last year. Such a result is inevitable. But I think that, instead of reduced morale and increase in the number of offenses committed by policemen, that what has happened is that discipline has stiffened up all along the line, and that the officials of the department have determined to improve the conduct of the men.

"And I think they are succeeding. More trial board cases need not necessarily mean more misconduct by policemen. It may mean that there is a greater effort to put a stop to such misconduct in future."

Maj. Hesse made an informal report to the commissioner during the day on the number of trial board cases, and the implications of the increase in offenses by policemen dealt with by that body. There were no recommendations in the report. As to the recommendations heretofore made by Maj. Hesse for reorganization of the trial board and stiffening of the penalties for offenses by policemen, Dougherty said that the Commissioners probably would take early action.

Hesse Card Soon Ready.

By direction of Maj. Hesse, Assistant Superintendent of Police Shelby yesterday designed a card on which to record the results of a scientific analysis of trial board cases for the last three fiscal years. The card was sent to the Government Printing Office.

A separate card will be made out for each trial board case. Each card will bear the name of the defendant policeman, the nature of the offense charged, the date of each alleged offense, the precinct to which the policeman was assigned, his previous occupation, the year of his service in which the offense was committed, the education of the policeman, his length of residence, if any, in the District prior to his appointment, and the date of his entry into the service.

Hesse Plans Again Discussed.

Discussion of Maj. Hesse's recommendations to Commissioner Dougherty for changing trial board routine was revived in detail yesterday. In December, after criticisms of the board had been made, chiefly to the effect that citizens could not get convictions of policeman against whom they complained, Maj. Hesse suggested to the Commissioners that the personnel of the trial board be changed to conform to that of the Fire Department.

The Commissioners discussed the recommendation but took no action Maj. Hesse also recommended that Capt. Martin Reilly and Ira Sheetz be relieved from further trial board membership and that the board consist of Inspector L. J. Stoll and Capt. C. P. M. Lord and C. L. Piemmons.

His Recommendations Ignored.

This recommendation also was ignored and Sheetz and Reilly were left on the board, together with Asisstant Corporation Counsel Walter L. Fowler.

In April Maj. Hesse recommended that dismissal from the police force be made mandatory instead of optional with the trial board in cases of drunkenness, either on or off duty, feigning illness, disobedience of orders and other insubordination, gambling or frequenting gaming houses, making untruthful reports to superior officers, failure to report promptly offenders against laws, or police rules, or conviction in court of criminal or quasi criminal offenses.

CALLES' MOVE GAINS SUPPORT OF AMERICA

Military Leaders Are Turning to Orderly Civil Government, Belief Here.

MORROW'S HELP SEEN

By ALBERT W. FOX.

American influence in the present affairs of Mexico, as exerted by Ambassador Dwight Morrow, is regarded here as partly responsible for the announcement of President Calles that he will relinquish his office for the good of the country and in order to set an example when his term expires on December 1 next.

The action of Calles, irrespective of the motive which inspired it, is viewed as particularly important for reasons better understood in Mexico City than in Washington.

In the first place, it restores confidence among the Mexican people that the era of military domination may be coming to an end, especially as the military leaders appear disposed to subordinate themselves to the processes of civil and orderly democratic government which the action of Calles tends to encourage if not to actually guarantee for the future.

Secondly, the tenor of the Calles renunciation speech implies future toleration and a new brand of self-sacrificing patriotism to which Mexicans have so far not been accustomed, and which establishes a precedent in Latin-American statesmanship of the twentieth century brand.

Could Have Retained Office.

Under the Mexican constitution, Calles can not legally serve beyond the end of his term, but experience of the past shows that when constitutional provisions stand in the way of a powerful statesman in Mexico, the easy and accepted method is to compel Congress to remove the restrictions.

No one doubts that Calles could have accomplished this without difficulty. The fact that he has chosen not to follow this course is in itself a genuine renunciation, according to the consensus here.

Ambassador Morrow's presence in Mexico City, and the benefits which Mexican statesmen rightly or wrongly hope to later secure from closer contacts with the house of Morgan & Co., are linked with the new program which the government of Mexico is following.

The United States Government during the past two decades or more has been exerting its efforts in favor of constitutional government in Latin-America.

Former Secretary of State Hughes went particularly far in striving to bind the Latin-American countries among themselves to abide by their own constitutional provisions.

Thus, if Calles had sought some pretext to remove the restriction against his remaining in office after December 1 there might well have been an embarrassing situation created which would have weakened the ties which are presumed to exist between Mr. Morrow and the Mexican government.

President to Be Elected.

The orderly carrying out of the Mexican constitutional provisions will now mean the election of a provisional president of Mexico before December 1—probably on November 30.

Eliminating those candidates who have been identified with military activities, Gen. Aaron Saenz, now Governor of Nuevo Leon and formerly minister for foreign relations in the Obregon and Calles cabinets, and Senor Gilberto Valenzuela, former minister of the interior and now Minister to London, are regarded as in the running for the office of provisional president.

One of the duties of the provisional president is to arrange for the election of a constitutional president and this election may take place within a year from December 1 next. It is admittedly too early to forecast the names of candidates for this office.

There are divergent views as to whether Calles or Ambassador Morrow have any program under which a particular candidate is slated to assume the reins of government in Mexico or whether they have a choice for the office of provisional president.

Nation's Finances Involved.

The program for the financial rehabilitation of Mexico can not be safely carried to its conclusion, it is conceded, if the wrong man takes up the reins which Calles will lay down and for this reason the United States will naturally be interested in knowing how the next Mexican president will react to constructive plans.

It is understood that a candidate not favorably regarded by the United States would find it difficult to make headway so long as the present entente between President Calles and Ambassador Morrow continues to be a factor.

On the other hand, it will be important not to overemphasize any guidance which the United States may discreetly exercise on behalf of any candidate or candidates because knowledge of this American backing might make matters more difficult for a selected candidate with his own people.

The elections in Mexico, however, are not comparable to elections as understood in the United States, as comparatively few votes are cast in any event and the Mexican people would have no chance whatever of defeating a candidate chosen by the ruling powers in Mexico City.

May Meet United States Views.

Prospects are, therefore, that the candidate for provisional president, as well as the candidate for constitutional president, may be chosen with a view to meeting the wishes of the Government of the United States and with a view to promoting prospects for future financial help to Mexico.

There are added indications of harmony in Mexico, as shown by reports that Adolfo de la Huerta has been invited by friends of Calles to return to Mexico and join in the conciliation program.

With the apparent subordination of the military to civil authority the present slogan is "Less rifles and more dollars."

How Do You Place Food in Your Ice Box

Food should not be placed haphazard in the ice box—if you are to get the utmost good from the ice. Milk, cream, butter, cooked custards, cereals and broths go in the coldest place—directly below the ice.

Eggs, berries, soft fruits, cooked dishes and left-overs should be placed in the next coldest place—the floor of the box in the side-icer or second shelf of the top-icer. The larger and tougher of the fruits and vegetables should be placed in the third coldest place—the top shelf of the side-icer or the floor of the top icer.

Keep the ice compartment of your refrigerator at least 2-3 filled with pure American Ice.

MT. RAINIER FINES AUTO SIGN PASSERS

Five Washingtonians Put Under Suspended Sentences After Conviction.

A. A. A. LAWYERS DEFEND

Five motorists who failed to obey a stop signal at Thirty-fourth street and Rhode Island avenue, Mount Rainier, Md., were fined $5 and costs each last night by Justice of the Peace Robert E. Joyce, who then suspended sentence.

The five motorists were defended by the American Automobile Association, representatives of which argued that the sign had been obscured by a crowd of villagers an dthat the arresting bailiffs had not been equipped with uniforms.

Judge Joyce declared that he could not see the connection between disobeying the law and the failure of the police to be clad in uniform. He declared that he was not anxious to inflict any hardship on the five defendants, but that in justice to the town he felt it incumbent upon him to impose the fine. The motorists were Benjamin F. Peed, Thomas W. Chewning, Sergt. J. J. Drulis, James B. Tisinger and Robert Terry, all of Washington. They were arrested by Town Bailiffs Henry Cleveland and Charles H. Bradley.

The automobile association lawyers argued that a policeman who directs traffic should wear a uniform, and after a futile attempt to persuade Judge Joyce to recommend such a step to Mayor Fred Negus and the town council, offered to furnish a uniform for the use of the policeman on duty at the crossing.

This offer will be made in writing to the mayor and town council and bids fair to be accepted. The judge pointed out that the bailiffs are all volunteer workers who do not receive enough salary to purchase uniforms and that the town could hardly afford to go to the expense of providing costly uniforms for the men.

Calles Follows Proposals Of Diaz, DeKay Asserts

Mexico's hope for the future lies, according to John deKay, American financier heavily interested in Mexican properties, through a development of the ideas expressed by President Calles until such a time as the Southern republic shall have set up a parliamentary form of government such as exists in France and England. This idea, which Mr. deKay believes President Calles has in mind, was nurtured by President Diaz.

"In the four years of President Diaz' exile in Paris we had many conversations as to the possible rise of a Mexican democracy, and that great and benevolent man, though an autocrat in his long rule, expressed to me almost the same sentiments as those embodied in the speech of President Calles to the Mexican Congress," said Mr. deKay.

"In the opinion of Diaz as expressed to me in Paris in 1911, and through the succeeding years until he died in 1915, the constitution of Mexico, embodying the same form of government as that of the United States, was not suited to the temperament, the traditions, or the political and cultural condition of the Mexican people, and that the system in France and England would be preferable, because it would permit the chamber of deputies, which corresponds to our House of Representatives, to vote an unpopular prime minister and cabinet out of power at any time the congress was in session, without affecting the presidency of the republic or risking the upheaval involved in the succession to that office.

"So keen was the interest of President Diaz in having this suggestion placed before the Mexican people that he confided to me in 1913 the mission of discussing it with President Huerta, who had been his chief-of-staff and his life-long friend, and whose integrity and great courage he so much admired.

"In my discussions of it with President Huerta in Mexico City in 1913 he spoke at length and with great evidence of sincerity when he told me that as soon as peace was established in Mexico he intended to do all in his power to inaugurate such a change in the form of the Mexican government.

"President Calles has the opportunity now to do what could not have been done either by Diaz or Huerta. If he follows the letter and the spirit of his speech to the Mexican Congress he is now the master of affairs in Mexico.

World Court Judge Named This Week

Selection to Be Made Before Hughes, Leading Candidate, Sails for Home.

Geneva, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Saturday, September 8, was fixed today as the date for election of a judge to the Permanent Court of International Justice to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of John Bassett Moore. The fixing of September 8 will bring the vote before Charles Evans Hughes, favorite candidate for the vacancy, sails for the United States. He has booked passage for September 11.

The Washington police last night had made no arrangements for bringing the man back to this city, but in view of the fact that he has expressed a willingness to return, it is believed that he will be brought back soon.

Mrs. Vallin refused to say whether she would press her charges in the event that her husband returns to his family. She swore out the warrant yesterday before United States Commissioner Turnage.

48 NATIONS LISTED FOR KELLOGG PACT

Only 16 Have Failed to Communicate Their Intention of Adhering.

HOW WORLD LINES UP

(Associated Press.)

Three-fourths of the important nations of the world who were asked to renounce war after the Kellogg-Briand treaty was signed, yesterday were listed among those who have declared their intention to do so.

Thus, within a week after the signing of the pact by the 15 original signatories, only 16 of the 64 countries remain to be heard from.

The governments of Egypt, Estonia, Ethiopia, Portugal, Roumania, Sweden and Venezuela officially communicated to the State Department yesterday their intention to adhere to the treaty's provisions and formal instruments of adherence are expected from them by the American Government for deposit here in accordance with the terms of the treaty.

The day's official announcements of adherence brought the total of nations thus joining the pact to 24, 2 of which, Peru and Liberia, have formally deposited their instruments of adherence here. Nine other nations have indicated unofficially in press dispatches their intention to adhere, but these have not officially communicated yet with the Washington Government.

Russia's adherence has been sent to France, which government invited the Soviet's adherence and the Paris foreign office will transmit that adherence to Washington for deposit.

The governments remaining tonight to be heard from are Afghanistan, Albania, Chile, China, Colombia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Honduras, Hungary, Iceland, Lithuania, Nicaragua, Paraguay, Persia, Salvador and Siam. Those heard from unofficially as favoring adherence to the treaty, but from which no official communications yet have come, are Argentina, Brazil, Bulgaria, Greece, Mexico, Norway, Spain and Turkey.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The newspaper Al Salssah says the Egyptian government has handed the American chrge d'affaires its reply to the invitation to adhere to the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing war. "The reply being so worded as to safeguard the full rights of Egypt."

The newspaper Al Ahram understands Egypt agrees to adhere to the pact, but makes it clear "this does not mean acceptance of reservations made by any power."

Kellogg Boards Liner For Return to America

Cherbourg, France, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—To the booming salute of eighteen guns and the strains of the "Star-Spangled Banner," played by the band of the U. S. S. Detroit, Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg and his party embarked tonight on the liner Leviathan for their return to the United States.

They were transferred from the Detroit, which had brought them from Ireland, in a gayly decorated tender at 7:30. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg went immediately to their suite, where they were served dinner. The great liner weighed anchor and steamed out of port at 10:30.

Love of Boy, 18, Girl, 15, Bests Parents and Law

Foiled for Six Months, Young Maryland Couple Win Parental and Legal Sanction to Wedding After Elopement to Rockville.

Love triumphed over parental opposition and the long-reaching arm of the law yesterday in Rockville, Md. when Carlton E. Mills, 18 years old, and Katherine V. Johnson, 15 years old, were given a license to marry. Their parents signed the marriage license consent blank, thus making smooth for them a path to wedded bliss that has been thorny for many months.

The story came to public attention about six months ago, when young Mills was arrested on a charge of forgery and brought before Judge Robert B. Peter, sr. It was brought out at the trial that the youth had been madly in love with the girl, and had gone beyond his means in purchasing presents for her. The judge decided that the boy had responded to the demands of a far-reaching passion, and placed him on probation in the custody of his parents at Quince Orchard, Md.

Judge Peter placed one restriction on him, however. He was ordered to refrain from driving his automobile, and his permit was suspended. But the boy persuaded his brother to drive him over to Denham, Md., occasionally, to visit the girl.

Some time in the course of his visits, the plan to circumvent parental opposition was formed. Last Friday young Mills piled his clothing into his car and later met Miss Johnson Monday morning the pair appeared at Fairfax Courthouse, Va., and made application for a license.

Because of their youthful appearance, the clerk of the court called the sheriff, E. P. Kirby, who decided to hold the young lovers for investigation. He soon learned their story and sent them back to Rockville, where the boy was lodged in the county jail, charged with violating his probation.

Then followed a lengthy conference between parents and offspring, aided by county officials. Finally it was decided that the best way out of the difficulty was to bow humbly to Eros.

Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley heaved a sigh of relief and hastened to make arrangements for the issuance of the marriage license. J. William Wiley, the license clerk, issued it and the parents signed the necessary consent blanks. Then the young couple, reunited once more, left the courthouse to find a minister.

D'OLIER MURDERED, EVIDENCE INDICATES

Circumstances of Rich Man's Death Seen to Link It to Graft Scandal.

WOMAN LURE SUSPECTED

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 4.—New and sensational deevlopments, most of them tending strongly to substantiate the theory of murder and linking it to the $16,000,000 Queens sewer graft scandal, piled up with kaleidioscopic rapidity today in the William L. D'Olier death mystery. Strong probability that a woman may have been employed as a "lure" in leading the victim to his death headed the list of amazing developments.

It was definitely established that the wealthy D'Olier, found shot to death beside a lonely Maspeth highway early yesterday morning, was last seen alive at 7 o'clock Saturday night, when he visited the offices of the Sanitation Corporation, a manufacturing company he headed, in the Graybar Building. This company is named in the sewer graft investigation.

Entering the building D'Oliver registered on the night custodian's chart as "Gilbert C. Waldrop," his patent attorney and business partner, with whom he had luncheon at 2 p. m. of the same day at the Plaza Hotel, and who had become associated with him in a proposed $15,000,000 highway construction deal in Kentucky.

Fashionable Woman Mentioned.

He was reported to have been accompanied on entering the building, and reports being checked by the investigators have it that one of the members of his party was a woman of fashionable and strikingly handsome appearance.

Vital importance of one point of this new angle in the death mystery was admitted tonight by District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe, of Queens, in charge of the investigation. He admitted having the building custodian's chart in his possession, and, further, that the signature wherein Waldrop's name was used appeared to be in D'Oliver's handwriting. But he declined point blank to permit reporters to view the chart or to reveal other names appearing on it. The district attorney declared he was "treating this case as a homicide until the police suicide theory is fully proved."

Search was renewed with feverish interest today for valuable and possibly incriminating documents dealing in detail with relations of the D'Olier Co. with politicians, contractors and others concerning the company's installation of machinery in the $1,600,000 Bergen Landing sewage disposal plant, under fire as a leading item in the grand jury's sewer graft inquiry, which are said to have disappeared from D'Olier's pockets.

Going into his office, further evidence showed, D'Olier changed from an expensively tailored busines sack suit into a cheap green suit of coarse texture.

Evidence of Plot Fear.

Why he did this, unless he anticipated going on an evening's rough and ready excursion of some sort, only served to add to the mystery. He placed a number of papers carefully identifying him in the pockets. It was this suit which covered his body when found by a Long Island roadside the following morning with the bullet in the head, and the papers were still in the pockets, together with $87 in cash and a gold watch. The suit he discarded was found hanging in a paper bag in his private office, and beside it there was suspended a brand new revolver in a new holster.

Thus, it was conjectured, D'Olier may have been in fear of his life, possibly because of some warning received by him during the last few days preceding his death.

Second only in importance to these new discoveries was fresh information that O'Olier had an apointment Saturday with Frank J. Harrold, chief of detectives of Atlantic City, who since last June has been quietly investigating the sudden death there of John M. Phillips, a leading figure in the sewer graft inquiry and indicted with former Queens Borough President Maurice E. Connolly and two others by the investigating grand jury. Harrold was in New York today, but District Attorney Newcombe would not discuss his visit and reporters could not locate him tonight.

ROBINSON DEFENDS GOV. SMITH'S CREED

Asserts That It Is as Soundly American as Those of Nominee's Foes.

REVIEWS STATE TRAINING

Cisco, Tex., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—A declaration that Gov. Alfred E. Smith's religious creed is as soundly American as that of any Baptist or Methodist and that the governor stands for an absolute separation of church and state was stressed in a description of the Democratic nominee given by Senator Robinson, Democratic vice presidential nominee, in his second campaign speech here tonight.

"Gov. Smith's religious creed, as applied to government, is as soundly American as any Methodist or Baptist ever professed," Robinson declared. "It comprehends freedom of conscience for all men; equality of all churches and sects before the law as a matter of right and not as a matter of mere favor; the absolute separation of church and state and strict enforcement of the constitutional provision that Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. Those ministers who are dividing their congregations by political attacks on him from their pulpits should be reminded that Gov. Smith's cabinet is composed of nine Protestants, two Catholics and one Jew, and that substantially the same proportion runs throughout his official appointments.

Contrasts Rivals' Training.

"Neither party has ever chosen as leader one better equipped by nature and by training to fill the office of President that the candidate of the Democratic party in this campaign. It is proper to compare the histories of Gov. Smith and Mr. Hoover in so far as these may throw light on the qualifications of the two men as rival candidates. It is not believed that Mr. Hoover's skill as an engineer, or his long residence in foreign lands, have made him familiar with or sympathetic with the institutions which underlie this government. The renown which he enjoys is attributable largely to his leadership in flood control and in the management of Russian, Belgian and flood reliefs.

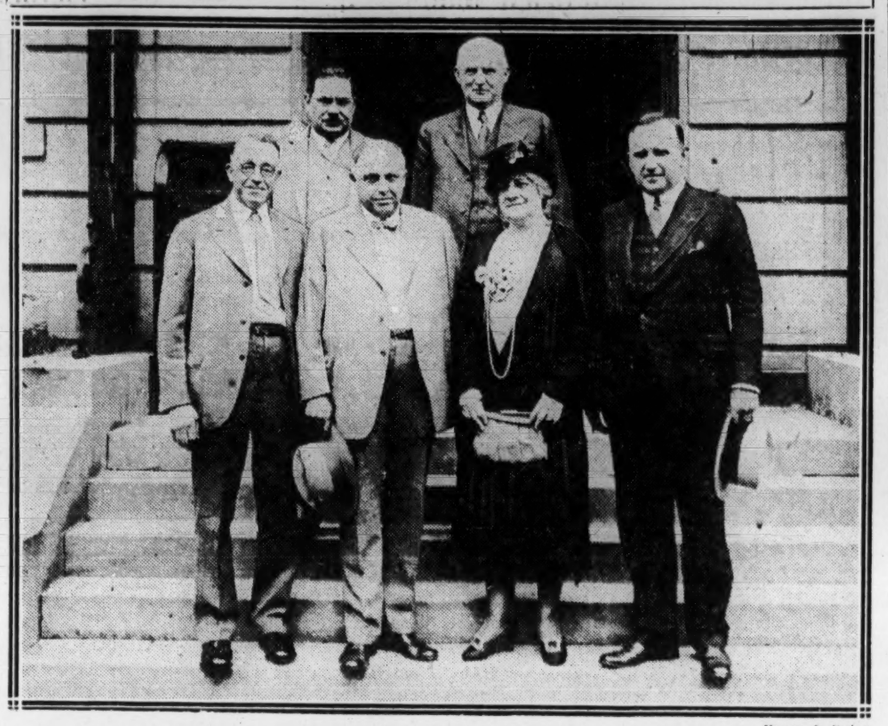

"As Secretary of Commerce in the administrations of Presidents Harding and Coolidge, Mr. Hoover has not demonstrated leadership, for as adviser of the President he has been indifferent to the chief problems by which these Presidents have been embarrassed. * * * Many of the leaders of the Republican party combined to 'stop Hoover,' that is, to prevent his nomination, because they claimed he is not well grounded in a knowledge of our Constitution and has no well defined convictions on political subjects. * * *

Governorship Like Presidency.

"It is true that Gov. Smith has always been engaged in State politics as distinguished from national politics. It should be recalled, however, that the general duties devolving upon the chief executive of a State like New York are analogous to those which must be performed by the President. Four terms as governor have given Gov. Smith a training far superior to that of any nominee presented by either party during recent years. His experience has been broader than that enjoyed by the immortal Woodrow Wilson when first called to the Presidency. It is much more comprehensive than that of either Mr. Coolidge or Mr. Harding."

Mr. Robinson praised Mr. Smith's "fearless leadership" as evidenced by his success by passing reform measures through hostile legislatures and asserted that he was the most independent and progressive governor of the generation.

Kansas Democrats' Liquor Stand Hit

Republican Nominee for Governor Says It Lacks Candor; Defends Prohibition.

Emporia, Kans., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Launching his campaign for the governorship of Kansas, Clyde M. Reed, the Republican nominee, tonight challenged the State's Democrats to clarify their stand on the liquor issue raised by Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

"The Democratic candidate for President has made the issue nationally, and the prairies accept the challenge of the sidewalks of New York," he told a gathering of party leaders here.

"That city and its heroes may be wet on the East Side and the West Side and all around the town, but the Nation still clings to political morality and believes in the enforcement of law, including those prohibiting the liquor traffic."

Referring to the plank in the Kansas Democratic platform adopted last week indorsing the Houston platform, "including the rigid enforcement of the eighteenth and all other amendments to the Constitution," and the national ticket, Reed said the Kansas Democrats "lack candor" in dealing with the subject.

"They indorse their presidential candidate and presumably his views—although they dodge expression on the latter point," he said.

Smith Would Protect National Reservations

(Associated Press.)

Gov. Smith, Democratic nominee for the Presidency, in a letter to George D. Pratt, president of the American Forestry Association, placed himself on record yesterday in favor of the protection and expansion of the national parks and national forests.

"I believe not only in the preservation and protection of the present national forests, parks and monuments," the governor wrote, "but in their extension and development."

HERRICK, IN U. S., EVADES POLITICS

PRAISES KELLOGG TREATY

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Myron T. Herrick, American Ambassador to France, returned today on the Ile de France, to be in the United States until late November. He declined to say whether he planned to be active in the presidential campaign. Informed that press dispatches said he was coming home to strengthen the Republican position in Ohio, Mr. Herrick smilingly said:

"That may have grown out of the remark that I would visit a number of my old haunts."

The ambassador expressed a desire to convey to the American public the idea that the success of the United States as a gigantic business organization was "important not alone to the United States but also to the rest of the world."

"America has become a creditor nation," he continued, "and our financial interests are intermingled with all other nations in a manner that never existed before. Everything depends upon our continuing and maintaining this relationship, as would any good, able and successful business concern. If we change from one direction to another, we do not only suffer, but the rest of the world suffers, too, and while a change might in time work out satisfactorily, when there is no need for a change none should be made. It is because the rest of the world looks to us and depends upon us that we should avoid changes.

"I can not help but believe that it is to the advantage of America to keep on under the program which Mr. Coolidge has outlined, and as these policies are to pass on to the next administration, without unsettling the present program, it is to the interest of not only all America, but the world, that they be maintained."

Mr. Herrick said he regarded the treaty for the outlawry of war, recently signed in Paris, as "one of the greatest of recent events." He expressed confidence that "in time it will be looked back upon as an epochal moment in the history of mankind."

Ambassador Herrick was accompanied by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Parmely Herrick, and his grandson, Parmely Herrick, jr. They will go to the Herrick farm near Cleveland.

South to Remain Solid, Asserts John W. Davis

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President in 1924, who now heads a national committee of lawyers formed to advance the candidacy of Gov. Smith, said today he did not believe "the South will break."

Speaking at Democratic national headquarters he said: "I don't see any reason to think the South will break. There will be some Democratic votes lost and some people will stay away from the polls; but that the South will be overturned, I don't believe for a minute." Mr. Davis said he had "no doubt" that a "whispering campaign" against Gov. Smith exists, and added he believed "it will creat a reaction that will be favorable."

Gerry Predicts Smith Victory in Northwest

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic national advisory committee, said today on his return from the Robinson notification ceremonies at Hot Springs, Ark., that the thing that most impressed him on the trip was "a feeling of unrest among the farmers."

Senator Gerry said he did not think there was "any question" as to Gov. Smith's carrying Wisconsin and Minnesota.

"They look awfully good to me," he said, "and that isn't just a partisan statement, either."

Predicts Stronger G. O. P. in Congress

Majority to Increase, Says Representative Wood, of Indiana.

Chicago, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Representative Will R. Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the national Republican congressional committee, came to Chicago today to establish national headquarters for the congressional campaign. He said the Republicans "will have a greater majority in the next Congress than we have in the present one."

Mrs. Paul Rewman, Republican national committeewoman for South Dakota, visited Western Republican headquarters en route to Washington for conferences with national party leaders there. She said the women of South Dakota "would play an important part in carrying the State for Hoover and Curtis."

Mrs. Rewman said the women think of Herbert Hoover "as the great humanitarian, the saviour of babies' lives."

Dr. Hill Sees Kentucky, Tennessee, Republican

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Dr. John Wesley Hill, chancellor of Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn., said tonight that both Tennessee and Kentucky "are safely in the Republican column."

Speaking at a Republican rally, Dr. Hill said the Republican party is on the threshold of its greatest national victory.

John Calvin Brown, of California, assistant to Col. John Q. Tilson Eastern director of the Republican speakers' bureau, said that "prohibition as an issue is nonexistent, because nothing can be an issue except a promise which can be fulfilled."

Few Election Bets Made, Wall Street Discovers

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 4.—This probably will go down in political history as the "betless election." So far as a canvass of Wall street discloses, less than $10,000 in actual bets have been made, most of them, it is said, on the basis of 2 to 1 on Mr. Hoover's chances. All of the bets thus made are between individuals and are private, since the exchanges will not permit member firms to make wages on the exchange floors or become stakeholders.

The high mark in election betting was reached in the Wilson-Hughes campaign, when it was estimated that no less than $10,000,000 changed hands, most of it through Wall street commissioners.

protection of the policies of the Republican party."

Senator Borah, of Idaho, conferred with Mr. Hoover yesterday and had luncheon with him, before faring forth on his speaking tour. The Idaho senator, it seems, is going to force the prohibition issue with Gov. Smith, or rather he is to do this everywhere except in his speeches in New York and in Detroit. Prohibition is to be his subject, though, in up-State New York.

An intensive radio drive is to mark the close of the Republican campaign. For the last 45 nights there are to be nation-wide link-ups for 30 minutes a night. The national chain will be used one night and the Columbia the next night. It is estimated that this will cost some $135,000. Mr. Hoover himself is not to speak on this program except, of courst, as it coincides with his four speaking dates, but the Republican speakers' bureau is to hammer away.

REPUBLICAN CLAIMS FAIL TO STIR SMITH

Says G. O. P. Is Entitled to All the Comfort That It Can Gather.

TACKLES STATE BUSINESS

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—In fine fettle after a rest over Labor Day, Gov Smith returned to his office at the capitol today for the first time since delivery, as the Democratic presidential nominee, of his acceptance speech nearly two weeks ago. He was primed for some hard work on accumulated State business, but still seemed in a holiday mood as far as news was concerned.

At his conference with newspaper men, the first since Friday, cigars were passed, as usual, and the governor volunteered the information that affairs of the State of New York would keep him on the jump for several days, that he had no political conferences in the offing, and that there would be something "definite" regarding his speech-making itinerary in a day or two.

After groping about a bit for a topic on which the nominee would talk, one of the reporters finally provoked a response by remarking:

"Governor, the Republicans are saying that many New Yorkers who voted for you for governor won't vote for you for President; that this year they won't bolt the Republican ticket."

"Republican claims don't mean anything to me," Smith replied. "This is the season of the year when they claim everything on earth. There is nothing new in that. There is as much in that claim as there has been in any they have ever made; none of them was ever right. They are entitled to all the comfort they can get. I'd be the last to disturb their peace of mind."

Silent on Knapp Case.

"Then you're not worried at all?" the reporter pursued.

"Do I look worried?" the governor inquired, as he took a puff at a half smoked cigar and grinned.

Previously the newspaper men, who on account of the Labor Day holiday, had been hard pressed for news over the week-end, had appealed to the governor, who usually tries to please, to give them something to write about.

"Suggest something," the governor advised, and one of the correspondents did, putting this proposition to him regarding Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, sentenced to 30 days in jail today for grand larceny of State census funds.

"It would make a story if we could say, 'Gov. Smith pardons Mrs. Knapp'."

Smith eyed him for a moment, but before he said anything another reporter broke in with: "If I were governor and a candidate for President, I'd let her off. What's 30 days in jail?"

Unable to Indentify Sloan.

"Way don't you interview him?" the governor suggested to the group of news writers who fringed the walls of his office. Previously he had indicated he had discussed the status of Mrs. Knapp's case with Edward Griffin, his legal counsel, but gave no indication that he contemplated action.

At one stage of the press conference the presidential nominee was asked if he had noticed that "General Motors is split over your candidacy."

"Alfred P. Sloan has indorsed Hoover," the reporter followed up.

"Who's Sloan?" inquired the governor.

"President of the company."

"Don't know him," the governor retorted, without referring to the support given him in the campaign by John J. Raskob and Pierre S. du Pont, former high officials in the General Motors Corporation.

Gov. Smith told the reporters that he expected to be in Albany this week, but had no plans for next week.

Hoover to "Scare" Smith In South, Says Moses

Boston, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, in charge of the Hoover campaign in the East, declared today that the Republican nominee was "fairly certain of carrying North Carolina and the border States and of giving the Democrats such a scare for the future that the term Solid South will pass into the realm of the obsolete."

Senator Moses stopped here en route to New York long enough to confer with Fred N. Peck, national committeeman for Rhode Island, and Louis K. Liggett, national committeeman for Massachusetts. While the senator expressed himself as reasonably well satisfied with condition in New England, he warned Republican leaders here that they could not afford to relax when faced by an opponent of the resourcefulness of Gov. Smith.

Hoover Will Sweep West, Says Capper

Farmers Oppose "Tammanyizing" Nation, Asserts Kansas Senator.

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Senator Arthur Capper, Republican, Kansas, was guest of honor today at a luncheon given at the national Republican Club by Charles H. Tuttle, United States district attorney. Mr. Tuttle is mentioned as candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Capper reiterated his belief that the Hoover-Curtis ticket would "sweep the agricultural West."

"In my opinion," he said, "Hoover and Curtis will carry every State west of the Mississippi. The farmers of the West are opposed to Tammanyizing of the United States."

Other guests at the luncheon were H. Edmund Machold, Republican State chairman, and William H. Hill, chairman of the State Hoover-Curtis committee.

RASKOB, BACK EAST, SEES SMITH GAINING

En Route, He Is Assured Governor Will Get Indiana, Illinois and Ohio.

FARMERS' CRISIS IS ACUTE

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, said today on his return from the Robinson notification at Hot Springs, Ark., that the Democratic outlook is even brighter now than it was last week when he sa in St. Louis that Gov. Alfred E. Smith would get 309 electoral votes.

En route East, he said, he was assured that Gov. Smith would carry Illinois and Indiana and also Ohio, if his acceptance speech appealed to farmers as much as State leaders believed it had.

"There were States with 185 electoral votes with which I was not familiar enough to make any prediction when I gave out that St. Louis statement," he said. "I said that we expected to get at least 100 of those. These three States, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio, were included in that 100."

In discussing an analysis of the States by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, vice chairman of the Republican Eastern advisory committee, Chairman Raskob said that Gov. Smith would receive at least 277 electoral votes.

"If you give the South to Smith," he said, "plus Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Kentucky, that makes 149 electoral votes.

How 277 Total Is Reached.

"Senator Moses does not claim Arizona, Wisconsin, Montana, Maryland, or Missouri. There are 46 more votes.

"Hardly anybody in the East at the minute thinks the Republican chances are as good as the Democratic chances in New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Rhode Island. There are 82 more electoral votes. The total is 277."

Mr. Raskob said he came back from his trip with the belief that generally throughout the country the feeling is that "prohibition does not prohibit."

"Industrial leaders I come in contact with," he said, "think that prohibition is a good thing for the workingmen, but don't believe in abstaining from drink themselves. Maybe that is all right, but I don't think it squares with our scheme of government, where all men are supposed to have equal opportunities.

His Theory of Prosperity.

"I believe that generally throughout the country the feeling is that prohibition does not prohibit—that it is just a scheme to prohibit those without money from having something that those with money have.

"A lot of people say that doing away with liquor has had a lot to do with our prosperity. I don't think there is any justification for that conclusion. I think our prosperity has come from high wages we have paid as the result of enormous consumption."

Mr. Raskob said he found a "real farm problem" in the West.

"There is real suffering there," he said. "There were seven men and seven women from each of the eight States reporting to our St. Louis office who came to St. Louis to meet us. I asked them particularly about the farm situation. They said that the number of farmers who had their farms mortgaged to the limit was appalling.

"One lawyer told me he had in his office 25 foreclosure cases that it was not worth while to bring up at all. They told us that the prices of wheat and oats did not compare with the cost of producing them."

Athlete Nominated For Governorship

Delaware Democrats Name "Buck" Wharton, Former Football Star.

Dover, Del., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Dr. Charles M. "Buck" Wharton, of Dover, University of Pennsylvania football star of 30 years ago and now assistant director of physical education at Penn, was nominated unanimously by the Democratic State convention today as the Democratic candidate for governor.

Thomas F. Bayard, of Wilmington, was renominated as a candidate for the United States Senate and John M. Richardson, of Georgetown, was named the party's candidate for representative in Congress.

Addressing the convention, former Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma, made a strong plea for the election of Gov. Smith to the Presidency. He said he favored prohibition, but "could see Gov. Smith's view."

"The Republican national administration," said Gore, "has either done everything it could to enforce prohibition, or it has not. If it has, then the law can not be enforced. If it has not it has forfeited all claim to support from the law-abiding people of the land."

Straton, at Atlanta, Again Attacks Smith

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, New York City, in an address here tonight attacked the candidacy of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York for the Presidency; defended ministers who discuss "moral issues from the pulpit," and repeated his offer to debate with Gov. Smith in the South.

Speaking to an assembly in the City Auditorium, announced as sponsored by the "Woman's Division, Anti-Al Smith Committee," Dr. Starton said:

"Al can't enter the portals of my church until he repents of his political sins and gives proof of his repentance unto the people. There are two places Al Smith can't go, politically speaking—Calvary Baptist Church, New York City, and the White House in Washington."

G. O. P. Storming Maine, Seeking Heavy Majority

Mindful of State's Repute as "Barometer," Wants Traditional Victory to Be Impressive—Estimates Vary From 20,000 to 75,000—Smith Dominant Issue.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Maine, by virtue of its September election, the first to speak of the sisterhood of States, now is listening to a chorus of high-powered counsel from State and national Republican leaders, so that its voice, when carried to the Nation next Monday, shall be distinctly and definitely Republican.

Only a senator, governor, four representatives and a few other officers are to be chosen, but the Republicans are fighting for more than a State victory. The contest boasts an importance that extends beyond the borders of the Pine Tree State, for tradition has given Maine the designation, "barometer" State. From it grew the disputed political maxim, "As Maine goes, so goes the Nation," and for what it may be worth psychologically the party is striving mightily to the end that Maine not only will go Republican, but will go overwhelmingly Republican.

Because the barometer can go both up and down, and is construed to gauge the high and low pressures of popular sentiment on the national ticket, the Republicans hesitate to write down the majority figures with which they will be delighted or disappointed. But in private discussions these figures range between 25,000 and 75,000, with an occasional neutral fixing 30,000, "with luck." Officially the Republicans set the low mark at the 36,800 majority registered in the governorship race of 1924.

The Democrats, fighting an uphill battle as always, and with a modicum of help from national headquarters, take little stock in the barometer theory and are working hard. Some outside money has come to them and a few speakers, including Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, but in the main they are getting along with local talent.

They find themselves in more than the usual discomfiture this year, with the defection of a number of Democratic women because of the prohibition issue. One of them, Mrs. William R. Pattangall, former national committee member, not only announced her support of Hoover, but is making speeches for the State and national Republican tickets. Democratic leaders are concerned lest some of her followers among the women also swing away, and Republicans are optimistically counting on a partial gain there.

Before the host of imported Republican orators, including senators, governors, congressmen and even the vice-presidential nominee, Senator Curtis, began this week's invasion of the precincts to give the campaign a national complexion, the contest revolved chiefly about local issues and personalities. The Republican record, however, has been used as a talking point by the party's gubernatorial nominee, William Tudor Gardiner, while his opponent, Edward C. Moran, long has been known as a supporter of Gov. Smith.

Smith has been the dominant theme of the senatorial campaign of Herbert E. Holmes, who is seeking the seat now held by Frederick Hale, Republican. Holmes has been championing the Democratic presidential candidate in all his travels about the State, in which he uses a phonograph to draw a crowd around his automobile. After a few turns have been played, he unrolls a photograph of the governor and announces that he is "selling Al Smith" and incidentally promoting his own candidacy.

In so far as it is thrust into the picture by the personal views of Gov. Smith, prohibition is an issue here, but not of the first rank; for Maine is of the driest, and was first to adopt prohibition. The religious question gained its greatest prominence recently, when Mrs. Helen C. Donahue, Democratic national committee woman charged that Senator Watson, Republican, Ind., had deliberately brought it to the fore in a campaign speech here. Whether the Catholicism of Gov. Smith is disturbing the Ku Klux Klan of Maine is not to be apparent on the surface. A few years ago the klan was very active in the State, but has given no indication lately of organized interest.

The candidates themselves are resting this week while the visiting champions take the field. The State Republican committee, with the Monday election almost out of the way, is perfecting its organization for November, with the new inspiration given by the national chairman, Dr. Hubert Work, who addressed a rally Saturday at Augusta.

BICYCLING was an accomplishment in the days when we sold to a certain Mr. Henry Raff, a "lion-head" diamond ring 49 years ago. Aside from the sentimental value one would naturally attach to such a diamond, its actual market value has increased to well over 600% during that period. This is not a rare instance. It is typical of hundreds of such entries in our old records. Diamonds will continue to enhance in value. The old law of increasing demand and diminishing supply sees to that.

MRS. KNAPP IN CELL, FIGHTS FOR APPEAL

Former New York Secretary of State Sentenced to 30 Days in Pay-Check Theft.

JUDGE SCORES PRISONER

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Sentenced to 30 days in the Albany County Jail for grand larceny, Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state for New York, today was taken direct from the courthouse to the jail, while her attorneys fought for a certificate of reasonable doubt which would automatically act as a stay of execution.

Sentence was imposed by Supreme Court Justice Stephen Calaghan, who, in declining to suspend sentence, overruled a recommendation for leniency by Attorney General Ottinger, as well as a plea for suspension of sentence by Patrick C. Dugan, chief of defense counsel.

The certificate of reasonable doubt, if obtained, would form the basis of an appeal, her attorneys said. They added that they were preparing the appeal at Mrs. Knapp's request. Mrs. Knapp displayed no visible sign of emotion on hearing her sentence, but turned to whisper to her counsel, and it was understood she was giving directions for an immediate appeal.

Stole $2,875 Pay Check.

Her sentence was the climax of two sensational trials early this year. The first time the jury disagreed, but the second trial resulted in conviction. The former State official was specifically charged with the theft of a State census salary check for $2,875.06, made to the order of Clara Blanche Knapp, her stepdaughter.

In imposing sentence, Judge Callahan read a prepared statement, in which he said:

"I have no desire to add to the humiliation of the defendant, yet I deem it my duty to State the reasons which lead me to impose a prison sentence. The records furnish indisputable proof that funds amounting to $27,604.18 were improperly paid by the State on false certifications by the defendant. Of that sum at least $17,408.03 was wrongfully received by the defendant and probably a total of $24,175.82 is traceable directly or indirectly to her. Although the grand jury returned but twelve indictments there was ample evidence to justify at least 30.

"No Question of Guilt."

"When the governor ordered an investigation of the irregularities with which the defendant was charged she did not, as is the duty of every public official, lend herself in assisting in a complete investigation of the charges against her, but remained out of the jurisdiction to prevent the commissioner from causing process to be served. She filed affidavits which were false. * * * She persistently endeavored to defeat the ends of justice, and, to carry out her purpose, she was guilty not only of perjury, but of subordination of perjury.

"It is apparent to all who have followed the proceedings that there was not the slightest question of her guilt. Even her friends, who have appealed for leniency in her behalf, have not ventured to suggest that the charges against her were not fully and fairly proved or that she is innocent."

Butcher Boy Faces Reputed Confession

Defense Prepares to Meet Evidence That He Admitted Beating Woman.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Sixteen defense witnesses in the murder trial of Leo (Pat) Kelley, "butcher boy" lover of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, slain society woman, were excused by the court at today's session.

The motion to dismiss the witnesses was made by Attorney S. S. Hahn, as the defense legal staff prepared to meet the announced program of the State to confront Kelley with his own purported admission that he beat Mrs. Mellus "terribly" on the afternoon of her death.

Among witnesses excused was A. C. Jamison, neighbor and friend of Frank Mellus, wealthy husband of the club woman, and the first person Mellus called to aid him when he found his wife's body. Hahn offered no reason for asking that the witnesses be dismissed.

COUNTY SLEUTHS TO ACT

Philadelphia, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—District Attorney John Monaghan today directed his force of twenty county detectives to "go out and bring them in." He gave the order after letting it be known that in a three-hour talk with police inspectors and captains, who had come to him offering cooperation in stamping out lawlessness, he had obtained "nothing of specific value."

The prosecutor said that by his order, "bring them in," he meant men engaged in the bootleg racket, men who have been running saloons, men who drive alcohol and beer trucks and men who are believed to know the inside workings of gangster slayings, illicit traffic in liquor and the alleged bribery of police officials.

Saloons Reported Tipped Off.

He intimated that his detectives would produce important persons, but declined to name any of those sought as possible witnesses before the grand jury.

During his interviews with police officials the prosecutor, it is said, was surprised by the statements of some that the "lid is on tight" in the city. Reports from the prosecutor's own detectives indicated otherwise and he directed that all offenders be brought before him.

Commenting on reports from police that saloons and speak-easies had been tipped off to close during the grand jury probe into crime conditions Mayor Mackey said:

County Round-Up Begins.

"If more violators have been run to cover following my address to the police yesterday, then I am satisfied to a large extent. If it is true the keepers of these places have been tipped off to close, then we have accomplished something."

In the meantime, Chief of County Detectives Patrick McKewen, working under the district attorney, rounded up a number of suspects who will be questioned as to the truth of rumors that police actually rode on liquor trucks to prevent interference with bootleggers.

Wife Asks Supreme Court For Husband's Poker Loss

(Associated Press.)

The United States Supreme Court was asked yesterday to decide whether clubs are liable for damages to wives for depriving them of the companionship of their husbands and a part of their husbands' income.

The case came from McGill, White Pine County, Nev., and was brought by Mrs. Gladys Anderson against the McGill Club, where, she asserted, her husband played poker.

Mrs. Anderson declared in her suit that her husband spent much of his time at the club and lost a large portion of his salary, causing her "worry, humiliation, sickness and grievous mental pain." She insisted in her complaint that the club as a public nuisance was liable to her for damages.

The State courts dismissed the suit, however, holding that there was no provision in law warranting action against a club on such grounds. Mrs. Anderson would have the high court reverse this decision.

The weapon used by the old man to end his life is apparently almost a quarter of a century old, and very few of its type are seen now, police said. There were two exploded shells and three cartridges in the gun when police found it. The unexploded cartridges bore marks which showed that an attempt had been made to fire them.

Hill Matricide Trial Off Until Next Month

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Harry Hill, accused of killing his mother, Mrs. Eliza Hill, and burying the body in the basement of her home a year ago, today was granted a continuance when he appeared to face trial for murder for the second time. The jury which tried him the first time disagreed.

Hill's attorneys said they had confided to State's Attorney Rousell C. Hanson the reason for asking the continuance and Mr. Hanson said he considered the reason sufficient without disclosing it.

The case was then continued until the October term of court without a date for trial being set.

7 DIE IN MAIL PLANE WRECK AT AIRPORT

Pilot and All Passengers, Two Children, Crushed When Ship Falls in Landing.

WAS BANKED TOO STEEPLY

Pocatello, Idaho, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Seven persons, five of them homing passengers, were killed today when an air mail plane crashed at the airport here while attempting to make a landing.

Mrs. Lawrence Schaper, of Salt Lake City, with her two children, Carl, 5, and Ramona, 18 months, were returning home from a visit with Mrs. Schaper's sister in Butte, Mont.

Floyd A. Timmerman, 36, Ogden, Utah, newspaper man, and Jesse R. Richards, 40, secretary of the Ogden Chamber of Commerce, had made a holiday flight to Great Falls, Mont., and their wives were awaiting their return at the Ogden airport when they were informed of the fatal crash.

Paul Wheatley, of Salt Lake City, pilot of the plane, and W. A. McLean, traveling representative of Liberty Magazine, were the others killed.

The plane, a Universal-Fokker monoplane, flying low for a landing, was some 75 feet above the field when the pilot headed it into the wind. It banked too steeply and the right wing tipped up. Crashing to the ground, nose down, it rolled over and over several times, killing pilot and passengers.

The machine, owned by the National Parks Airways, Inc., left Great Falls, Mont., northern terminus of its route, this morning for Salt Lake City.

The plane was designed to carry six passengers and a cargo of mail, in addition to the pilot. Air mail service over the Salt Lake-Great Falls route started only about a month ago.

When spectators reached the wrecked plane they found only two of the seven occupants alive. They were McLean and the Schaper boy, whose father is a mechanic for the National Parks Airways Co. Both McLean and the boy died before they could be taken to a hospital. The bodies of the other occupants were badly crushed.

Wheatley had been flying since 1918 and during the World War was an instructor in aviation.

Timmerman had been a news writer for the Ogden Standard Examiner for the last eight years and during that time had covered aviation activities for the paper.

Hillsboro, N. Dak., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—E. Y. Sarles, former Governor of North Dakota, stricken with septic poisoning last Saturday night, was in a critical condition today.

His relatives have been summoned.

Fine for Row Paid By Society Woman

Hon. Mrs. Keppel, of London, Involved in Altercation at Races.

London, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—A row with another woman over a seat in the stand at a greyhound race track today cost the Hon. Mrs. Arnold Keppel, a prominent society woman, $4.85 as a fine and court costs of $25. The penalty was assessed in the Wealdstone police court.

Mrs. Phyllis Smith, of Kilburn, brought the complaint. She said she stood up to see the race at Wemberley Stadium, and when she tried to sit down again she found Mrs. Keppel occupying her chair.

Mrs. Smith testified that Mrs. Keppel refused to move. Furthermore, she said that the society woman caught hold of her arm and bruised it. She said that the defendant also tore up her race card and threw it in Mrs. Smith's face and then stuck out her tongue and spat at her.

Mrs. Keppel denied most emphatically that she had put out her tongue. She also denied spitting. She explained that she clutched Mrs. Smith's arm to save herself from being pushed over the chair.

Miss Earhart Lands; Surprises Muskogee

Muskogee, Okla., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Miss Amelia Earhart, transatlantic flier, who took off from Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., this morning, landed unexpectedly at Hat Box Field here late today.

A reception committee was dispersed by a report that she had been forced down near Cuba, Mo. Miss Earhart is en route to Los Angeles.

Announcing

combination Rail-and-Air Service to St. Paul and Minneapolis

The inauguration of this service on September first marked the opening of a new era in American passenger travel.

The traveller to the Twin Cities will leave Washington, D. C., on the Manhattan Limited, one of the Pennsylvania's Washington to Chicago flyers, at 7:05 P.M.

After luncheon next day he steps off the train at the Englewood Station at Chicago into a waiting taxi. This whisks him out to Cicero Field where he steps aboard a fourteen passenger all-metal airplane.

Lazing back in a comfortable chair he looks out through the windows at the dwindling sky scrapers as the plane "takes off" at 3:00 P.M. on its flight to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

At a cruising speed of 115 miles an hour the distance melts away. In four hours the plane glides down to the Municipal Airport at St. Paul, or, ten minutes later to the Wold-Chamberlain Field at Minneapolis. Here connections can be made with the west-bound trains of all lines, thus saving the passenger from Washington to Seattle, or Portland, a full business day.

This new service is offered by the Pennsylvania Railroad in conjunction with the Northwest Airways, Inc., and Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc. Airplane tickets went on sale on September first at all principal Pennsylvania Ticket offices and agencies.

The Pennsylvania's participation in this new service is but a part of its large program in the development of a transcontinental combined rail and air service.

All the latest provisions for safety!

The planes are all-metal and tri-motored. Veteran air-mail pilots are in charge. There is a special United States Weather Bureau Station at the field. Every thirty miles along the beaconed route there is an emergency landing field.

SCHALL NOW CALLS HOOVER FARM HOPE

Visiting President, Says He Will Support G. O. P. Ticket; Predicts Victory.

COOLIDGES' RETURN SOON

Superior, Wis., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Herbert Hoover won another supporter in his campaign for the Presidency of the United States when Senator Thomas Schall, of Minnesota, announced today in President Coolidge's office he would support the Republican ticket and predicted its ultimate victory.

In the course of a call upon the Chief Executive the blind Minnesota senator said that despite his previous announcement that he would withhold indorsement of Mr. Hoover's candidacy because of his unconvincing stand on the agricultural problem, he now regarded him as the farmers' greatest hope for sympathetic treatment by the Government.

Mr. Schall said he still was disappointed that the equalization fee principle for the disposal of agricultural surpluses had not been adopted in the Republican platform. He added, also, that Mr. Hoover might have been more definite in his speech of acceptance regarding the agrarian question.

Cites Mr. Hoover's Record.

Despite this, however, he said, Mr. Hoover had such a record of accomplishment and honesty that he held forth the best possible guarantee that the farmers' troubles would be treated in an efficient and understanding manner.

In any case, he continued, the Democratic party offered nothing better, since not only did Gov. Smith have nothing even as concrete as Mr. Hoover had to propose for the farmers' relief, but in his view the mere reputation of the party was enough to proclaim its inability to carry out sound and practical government.

As far as Minnesota is concerned, Senator Schall said, the electoral contest in November will be very close. He predicted the State would go Republican, however.

Simultaneously with Senator Schall's announcement it was revealed that Eugene Meyer, chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board, in his stay at Cedar Island Lodge over the week-end had given President Coolidge reassuring reports regarding the condition of farm banks, and, by implication, regarding the agricultural situation in the country generally.

Reports Banks Recovering.

Agrarian banks the Nation over, Mr. Coolidge was told, have made commendable progress in both stability and assets. They were meeting demands for more agricultural financing which in turn were symptomatic of the recovery in the farm situation. Mr. Meyer reported many of the banks which were in bad shape when he took office now are among those which show most progress.

President Coolidge has as yet heard no word from his son John, who yesterday definitely left his father's home to seek work. He is unaware as yet that the youth has decided upon any of the many occupations which have been offered him, but he feels the boy is being handicapped by the publicity which is following him. Since John Coolidge is not a public official, the Chief Executive feels it would be best for the boy's future if his comings and goings were not reported.

President Coolidge has decided not to address the Illinois State convention of the American Legion.

Vacation a Boon to Coolidges.

President Coolidge's vacation in the Wisconsin woods will end early next week.

Wishing to visit his native Vermont before settling down in the White House for the winter the Chief Executive has arranged to be back in the Capital about the middle of next week, for a stay of not more than ten days before proceeding to New England.

The pale and worn looking Executive who came to Superior in June looking for rest and sunshine after many months of arduous desk work, has been replaced by a rested and robust man.

President Coolidge has been heard to say that he has gained ten years this summer. His associates at Cedar Island Lodge maintain his energy has recuperated even more.

The effect of the summer on Mrs. Coolidge has been even greater, according to her physicians. She came to the Brule a sick woman, for whose sake the journey from Washington had to be postponed two days. She returns as strong and energetic and happy as she has been since she became first lady of the land.

President Coolidge will return to Washington in time to see Herbert Hoover before the latter returns to California before election day. The Chief Executive expects to acquaint himself thoroughly with the political situation in the East before going to his second vacation in Vermont.

Requested to speak at the tri-State fair which opened here yesterday, President Coolidge said he would attend, but only "in the capacity of an exhibit."

Since boyhood days, he has been fond of fairs, and for this reason he said he would not spoil his fun tomorrow.

was ready to leave for Washington on one minute's notice.

"That's fine," said Miss Davis, as she read the letter. "She can keep the rest of us beautiful on the trip across the country."

From the tall-corn State of Iowa came a letter that was even more welcome to Miss Davis. It was from a woman who wanted her and her companions to stop off and put up at her farm when they reach that point on their trip

An embittered bachelor wrote in from Daytona Beach, Fla., and after predicting that the expedition would fail offered Miss Davis his hand in marriage.

"I myself," he wrote, "have been around the world twice and have not yet found an ideal mate, and I am not a grouch or a crab either. I am just an ordinary man who read too many books as a boy."

Trainmen's Leaders Trying to Halt Strike

Chicago, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The joint session of representatives of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors was adjourned tonight until 9:30 tomorrow morning when negotiations in the dispute over wage increases and working conditions will be continued.

It was understood that employes of 55 Western railroads had voted virtually unanimous to strike, but that union officials were attempting to reach an amicable settlement.

RELIGIOUS CAMPAIGN LAID BEFORE HOOVER

QUOTES PAPER'S CHARGE

(Associated Press).

H. C. Hansbrough, formerly a Republican senator from North Dakota, last night made public an open letter to Mr. Hoover in which the nominee was called upon to repudiate newspaper statements seeking to appeal to religious prejudice.

"It is a real shock to my Republicanism," said Hansbrough, who has declared for Gov. Smith, "to note that this week there has been published for wide circulation millions of copies of a newspaper supporting your candidacy on the grounds that a vote for Gov. Smith is a vote for the Pope.

"Its headlines refer to the Democratic party as the Roman Catholic clerical party, and emphasize that under the leadership of Gov. Smith the Democrats have opened a drive to capture America for the Pope.

"Just suppose, my dear sir, that you should be elected as a result of such support, what sort of an America would we have in the future if thus we are divided politically, perhaps for a century, over the religious controversies of the Dark Ages?

"Suppose, further, you are elected as a result of this religious hysteria stimulated by papers supporting your candidacy, what will be the effect on our Latin-American customers who in 1921 purchased $1,313,000,000 worth of our goods?

"Surely you must resent such support; for I know that it is distasteful to every patriotic citizen. Nevertheless, I regret to say, you are its silent beneficiary.

"I ask you as a patriotic American to no longer remain silent. If you accept this demoralizing support, well and good, but if you do not, I implore you to repudiate it."

Texas Men Face Divorce By Backing Smith, Claim

(Associated Press.)

There was dire news for Texas husbands at the Republican national headquarters yesterday. Mrs. J. C. Griswold, national committeewoman for Texas, reported that many Texas men had told her their wives would divorce them if they voted for Gov. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee.

"There's great hope for Texas to go over for Hoover," she told Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, Republican national vice chairman, "thanks to the fine Democratic women who value the welfare of their State and Nation above party."

"You don't know how peppy our women are," Mrs. Griswold declared. "Our men have worn the brass collars of the Democratic party for a long time, but the women, thank fortune, have worn low-necked dresses and they aren't afraid. At and rate, the men won't vote much for Smith. There's many a one who has told me his wife would divorce him if he did."

SMITH VETERANS' CLUBS ORGANIZING

One Formed and Two Others Planned Here, Gen. Allen Told on Visit to City.

TWO NAMED FOR WORK

Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, U. S. A., retired, came back to Washington yesterday a full-fledged politician. The former commander of the American Army of Occupation in Germany is now in command of the nation-wide Democratic drive to line up the veterans' vote for Gov. Alfred E. Smith, and it was in connection with this work that he came here yesterday.

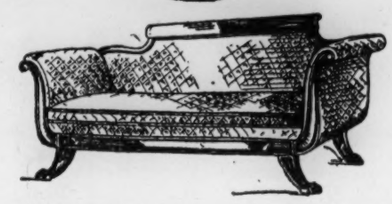

Gen. Allen was cheered by reports he received on the local situation from National Committeeman John F. Costello. The latter told him that one veterans' club already had been organized—the Victory Smith-Robinson Veterans Club—and that two others were to be organized this week, one to be known as the Woodrow Wilson Smith-Robinson Veterans Club and the other as the Hellenic Smith-Robinson Veterans Club.

In his talk with Gen. Allen at the Democratic headquarters, No. 16 Jackson place northwest, Committeeman Costello stressed the importance of the 60,000 absentee voters that are now in the District. A block of these votes going into any one State, he said, might decide the election in November.

In 1916, Costello recalled, Wilson captured New Hampshire by the narrow margin of 56 votes over Hughes.

The drive for the votes of the veterans in the District is in charge of Richard Seelye Jones and Melvin D. Hildreth, who were appointed by Gen. Allen on the recommendation of Committeeman Costello.

CALLES' OPPORTUNITY.

In his remarkable address to the Mexican congress, renouncing the presidency, President Calles said:

> To the whole Mexican family the opportunity has come to make a decided and final effort to pass from the category of a people and a government of a dictator to the higher, more useful and more dignified condition of a nation of institutions and laws.

No more noble aspiration was ever voiced by a Mexican. It is reinforced by a renunciation that leaves no doubt of its sincerity.

Now the question arises: How are the Mexican people to do away with the dictatorship system of government and become a nation of institutions and laws? Mr. Calles voices the ardent hope of every honest Mexican, but he does nothing more. He makes no suggestion whereby institutions may be set up which will be stronger than the man who happens to be in the presidency.

It is obvious that the Mexican system of government is not well adapted to the Mexican people. The constitution presupposes a self-controlled electorate that is not only keenly interested in maintaining Mexican institutions, but capable of maintaining them. The truth is that the electorate is not self-controlled, is not keenly interested in the national institutions, and is incapable of maintaining them. The only alternative to chaos is the assertion of absolute power by the president.

Despotic power, even in benevolent hands, is the sure breeder and precursor of violence. Ambitious men are jealous of the power wielded by the president of Mexico. He can organize a fine machine, but it falls to pieces when he leaves office or is assassinated. Instead of lodging excessive power in the president, Mexico should set up a system that will stand, without regard to a change of presidents. This was well perceived by Porfirio Diaz in his last days and by Victoriano Huerta in his time, as disclosed by John de Kay in an interview published elsewhere in this issue.

Former President Diaz reached the conclusion that the Mexican constitution should be amended so as to provide for a parliamentary system similar to that of France. He suggested that the executive power be lodged in a council of ministers composed of members of congress, and responsible to the congress. Thus, whenever the ministry failed to hold the confidence of congress, another "government" could be formed without danger of bloodshed or revolution. The presidency would not be such a prize as to tempt ambitious men to organize revolutions in order to seize it. An opportunity would be open to able and energetic men in parliament, who sooner or later as members of the cabinet could try their hand at government. The process would tend to bring about the survival of the fittest.

The system of government in Mexico must be changed before President Calles' aspiration can come true. His act in stepping aside will mean little if he is succeeded by another dictator. The Calles governmental machine will disappear with his retirement and another personal machine will take its place.

The Mexican constitution can be amended with comparative ease. A system of parliamentary government can be drawn up and submitted to the people before President Calles' term expires. If this change should be made while a strong and disinterested man is at the helm, in all probability the new system could be put in operation without great difficulty, and the danger that surrounds a change in the presidential office would be minimized.

President Calles has a wonderful opportunity to bring about the change that he so ardently desires. His determination to substitute a parliamentary government for a dictatorship would doubtless be sufficient to effect the change. No one could question his motives, and it would be practically impossible to combat the logic of his argument. If he should achieve this reform he would crown his act of renunciation by a work of splendid statesmanship.

JOHN COOLIDGE ON HIS OWN.

It is not likely that John Coolidge, before quitting the summer White House, made research into the future of other boys of White House families after they had passed out from the household circle. Like all other boys, he is "on his own" at the age when the call to a place in business life follows the close of the school period. A narrow lane leads to the White House, and few there be that walk therein. But the roads of self-respecting and useful careers and the awards of merit await young men of talent and determination. Like all other youths, his fortunes lie largely in his own hands.

A geologist lecturing to his class on a section map explained that the reason for the failure of one stream to make anything like the cut through strata that another had accomplished was because one cut its way through standstone, the other through granite. The granite test is that that counts. Whatever may be the initial facility of John's entrance into the world of business, he will find, as all other young fellows have found, that granite strata may be his lot, rather than less stern resistance.

The White House circle will be saddened by the passing out of the one remaining son, but John Coolidge has an asset in the anchorage of a young woman's friendship. When a young man starts out in life supported by the confidence of a true young woman, whose friendship and loyalty are unflagging, he has that which is his most inspiring equipment to make headway in the early stress of his career. President's sons, as a rule, have had a way of making good on their own.

IT IS GREAT TO BE GREAT.

Celebrities like Babe Ruth and Mr. Hoover know perfectly how to preserve the amenities. The King of Swat is not lacking in the arts of diplomacy even though he may not have time during the brusque work of brushing home runs into his record always to observe dancing deck proprieties upon the diamond. "It was wholly a matter of misunderstanding," says Babe, regarding his alleged refusal to be photographed with Mr. Hoover. It was not because of political matters at all, and he would be delighted to have himself pictured in such company upon a proper occasion. But when a photographer wanted to rush him to the Hoover box for the picture and it would have meant holding up the game his professional sense revolted.

"I labored under a misunderstanding," says the batting king. "I hope Mr. Hoover will be gracious enough at some future time to permit me to present myself to him." And the Republican candidate, who had been in ignorance of the episode as he sat in his box at the stadium, urbanely expresses his admiration of the diamond celebrity and the pleasure with which he looks forward to meeting him.

Thus the episode is ended and the mutual admiration of the two men for each other in their respective eminences has been maintained. As some one has said, it is great to be great, but it is greater to be gracious.

ANOTHER SUBWAY ACCIDENT.

Coming close on the heels of the Times Square subway disaster in New York, it is small wonder that the less serious mishap that befell a train bound from Times Square to Astoria, Long Island, Sunday, should have served to strike terror into the hearts of the passengers. The second accident consisted of nothing more than a broken third rail shoe, but the short circuit that ensued set afire the insulation, filling the tube with heavy smoke. Sixty-three persons were overcome or injured in the panic that followed.

New York, with its millions confined within a small area, faces problems in transportation unlike those faced by other American communities. Rare is the New Yorker who lives within walking distance of his work or recreation. With street congestion so great as to make use of street car or automobile with any degree of speed impossible, New York's multitudes are forced to use the subways. Generally speaking, they justify the boast that they are "the safest railways in the world." When trouble does arise, however, passengers confined deep within the earth invariably are thrown into a state of panic.

Several investigations are now under way seeking to fix responsibility for the Times Square crash. The short circuit on the Interborough train calls for yet another investigation. It is not to be expected that New York subways can be operated without ever an accident, but they must be held to account when things go wrong.

FAWCETT'S QUIXOTIC QUEST.

When the French engineer of Rio Janeiro, M. R. Courteville, met in the Brazilian wilderness a strange white man who professed his abandonment of civilized society, and his preference for that of the savage tribes, the probability that this might be Col. Fawcett, the explorer, led to the formation of the Dyott search party. That party is now on its way out of the wilderness, convinced that Fawcett and his fellows perished, Commander Dyott has been told as much. Only tribal hostility prevented him from visiting the place where proofs of Fawcett's demise could be seen. Now other testimony indicating the probable extermination of the Fawcett party is given by the "scout" for leading missionary societies of England and the United States. This scout is a Mr. Letgers, a widely experienced jungle traveler, who says that he has seen a mule that was abandoned by Fawcett. He identified Fawcett's trunk, and has seen many of the trinkets which the explorer gave away with a lavish hand. Mr. Letgers has no doubt as to the fate that followed Fawcett's penetration into the wilds with insufficient food and probably little medicine. Death was by fever or starvation, or the party came to its end at the hands of hostile tribesmen.

Yet the possibility that Fawcett may be alive lies bound up in the odd nature of his motive for his Brazilian enterprise. He was in search of a lost race. It appears now that he had received testimony to its existence, through occult agencies. His wife professes to have obtained from similar sources the information that her husband still lives. Mr. Letgers says that in the country of the Fawcett expedition he saw in a boat on the river a native woman carrying a puny white child in her arms, which she sought to prevent him from seeing.

Can it be that, preferring his quixotic quest, unreleased from it by the supposedly supernatural mentors who incited him to it, Col. Fawcett, a man of culture, has lost himself in the savagery of the wilderness? Such obsessions have had similar effect in other instances and might have availed here. Back in the vague legends of the Incas of Peru, as they have come down by word of mouth, there is the story of strange white men with whom the natives battled in times remote, and from whom the civilization at which the Spaniards marveled is said to have sprung. However these legends may arise, there is the making of a legend in the future out of the strange disappearance of Col. Fawcett.

NEW PRIMARY TEACHING.

The St. Louis public schools are inaugurating an experiment in child education this fall known as the problem technique of teaching. At one time primary pupils were expected to learn by memory the height of Pikes Peak. The new method, however, views Pikes Peak as only one factor in a mountainous scene characterized by an outstanding social phenomena, such as sparse population. This fact is set before the child and he is requested to explain it. In searching for the answer he indirectly gains knowledge of mountain height, and the nature of the terrain, the area and the climate, and next day he is given an opportunity to explain why cities do not flourish on mountain sides. Similar problems are proposed in history, literature and other subjects, the theory being that memory should play a small part and reason a great part in education.

The theory is sound. Only time will tell, however, whether better educated humans are produced by the new method. At one time primary pupils first learned the alphabet, then learned to place letters together in simple word combinations. Later there came into being a new method of teaching by which the child was taught to associate a word picture with a mental image. Undoubtedly this change, and others of similar nature, constituted improvements in the general field of education. There have been few indications, however, that those entering institutions of higher learning are better prepared today than they were under obsolete systems of primary education.

Possibly, of course, the fault lies with the pupil. He is given simpler methods of obtaining knowledge, and utilizes his increased capacity not to learn more but to learn the minimum amount with greater dispatch in order to obtain a lengthier play period. At any rate, the St. Louis experiment with the problem technique of teaching will command the attention of educators everywhere.

THE INDIAN CITIZEN.

Freed from tribal disabilities and given rating in the census, each a citizen in his own right, the red men of the West make up a class of original Americans to whom the ballot has the same appeal for their intelligent use as it does to the other voting classes. All native-born American Indians will this year for the first time have a fair chance to exercise their franchise in a general election. The number of these endowed voters is 340,000. Thirty-seven of these are in this city. The basis of citizenship provided some time ago was that of competence. This was the point at which the Indian was determined to be able to handle his own affairs. Two-thirds of the Indians of the country had achieved the right of voting by the year 1924. Then the law was passed which gave citizenship to all native-born Indians.

Only two Indians are recorded in Delaware, and but 32 in Maryland. Hence there is no danger that the outcome even in the latter State, which at times hangs by a thread, will be determined by these new red voters. Oklahoma, in which the greater number of the enfranchised Indians reside, may find them an important even though not a pivotal factor.

How active the party workers have been in that State and in Arizona and South Dakota in lining up the red men under their respective party banners does not appear, but it is to be assumed that they have not been overlooked.

It is an event in American history as well as in the progress of the Indians for the aboriginal denizens to be granted the right to take part in choosing the "great white father."

BIOGRAPHERS OF ATOMS.

Seeking the origin of the universe by trying to discover the cradle of the primal forces, the studies of physicists have led them to dismiss the stars as the progenitors of energy. Only two places have been, in theory, the producers of the atoms of the universe of matter. One of these was the stars, where pressure densities are extraordinarily high, and the other the ineffably cold interstellar spaces, where the densities are extraordinarily low. In both areas, it was supposed, matter existed under "unexplored conditions." Without reciting the process of deductive reasoning by which the stars were passed over as the laboratories in which the cosmic rays are engendered, the selection of the other alternative, that of the interstellar spaces, gives to space a purpose that it had not previously disclosed.

Here, the fragments of stars, the energies of molten masses that have been reduced to gaseous conditions, and brought again to the state of electrons, are employed in building back again, through pressures, densities and temperatures, the atoms which form the first constituents of matter. Here is the process of a continuing creation. The spaces which have been regarded as negative have the positive potency of converting energy into matter, of bringing an element of restraint to primal force, so that it may be reconstructed as substance.

The biography of the atom now reported to the National Academy of Sciences in outline, would require all the data of all the sciences to provide one full chapter in the history of the birth and growth to maturity of an atom. Of this entrancing life story, one of its chroniclers has said that if the history of a single atom could be written it would afford the most illuminating treatise that man has ever known.

Ford will govern a rubber plantation in Brazil larger than North Carolina. This is the first time he has applied quantity production methods to trouble.

PRESS COMMENT.

Now for the Fun.

Louisville Courier Journal: Now that all of the candidates have said "I do" to the notification committee, something less harmonious than wedding bells will be heard.

Plain and Mixed.

Providence Journal: The proposed merger of two soft-drink concerns with combined assets of $45,000,000 is just a slight reminder of the extent to which soft drinking has increased in this country.

He Doesn't Exist.

Detroit News: Mr. Kellogg's success in selling the nations peace is no little stunt in itself, but the real master salesman would be a European diplomat who could come over here and sell us another war.

Few Take It Seriously.

Louisville Times: Those persons who argue that prohibition does not prohibit should have the news broken to them that education doesn't educate, either, unless you take it seriously.

The Waltz Was Best.

Atlanta Constitution: Dancing masters demand slower music. We will admit that some of the dances have been a trifle fast.

Tennis Instructors.

Baltimore Sun: Karel Kozeluh has beaten Vincent Richards again, thus making it two straight in their series, and now perhaps Americans will admit that the Czechoslovakian professional is a remarkable tennis player. They may even remember his name. But it is certain that very few can recall any American tennis professionals of the true type—those, that is, who teach tennis for a living. And this is rather queer, for golf professionals are noted for their prowess. It almost looks as if tennis teachers were required to instruct by precept and not by example.

Fashion's Sufferers.

Toledo Blade: There she stood, in a temperature above 90 and a fox fur about her beautiful neck. Our heart at once went out to the polar bears in the zoo.

Free But Costly.

Ohio State Journal: Another thing that is likely to cost you a good deal is a free demonstration.

So There You Are.

Topeka Capital: "No sensible dry would disapprove my stand," says Gov. Smith on prohibition. At the same time, of course, Al wouldn't regard any dry as sensible.

The Feminine Voters.

Atchison Globe: The women of America will vote this November. When the women vote for the candidate we favor, we insist that women are as smart as men and are entitled to suffrage. When women vote against our candidates, we naturally feel that women inherently have no political sense, and should devote all of their time to home, sweet home, where all that is worth while begins.

Examine Thoroughly.

Los Angeles Times: It is best to look at the bright side of everything, but if it happens to be something you are expected to buy turn it over and take a squint at the other side.

Immortal Pastime.

Atlanta Journal: We have a prize fight occasionally and a national campaign every four years, but baseball goes on forever.

Borers From Within.

Philadelphia Ledger: One of the most impressive of the Labor Day messages by representatives of wage-earners' organizations was that of Hugh Frayne, an official of the American Federation of Labor. His special text was the threat of communism, which he denounced as "the most dangerous and destructive force with which the trade-union movement has to deal." He clearly portrayed the difference between the constructive work of the American Federation, which has promoted legislation for shorter working days and weeks and better living conditions, and the trouble-fomenting activities of the communistic "borers from within." As the general organizer for the American Federation, Mr. Frayne constantly encounters these professional mischief-makers and knows whereof he speaks. In combating their tactics, which are directed equally against the workingmen of America and their Government, the federation is performing a practically patriotic service deserving highest praise.

Here and There.

New Orleans Times-Picayune: A Russian Communist lost caste because he installed a bath tub, but over here a fellow need not necessarily lose standing even if he installs a still.

Available Timber.

Springfield (Ohio) Sun: A driver arrested in Springfield, Mo., for going 42 miles an hour told the traffic judge he was going faster than that. The very man for the Republicans to nominate in 1932.

Line of Demarcation.

Toledo Blade: Motorists traveling over Ohio's smooth highways need no signs to tell them when they have reached the boundaries of a city. When the bumps begin—that's the line.

Inventors, Attention!

Newark Advocate: The need of the times is a vehicle you can ride downtown and then fold up and carry into the office.

Troublous Task.

Atlanta Journal: During this campaign one-half of the United States is trying to learn how the other half drinks.

The Volstead Era.

Indianapolis News: Radical Changes in Kitchen Equipment—Headline. Have they invented a built-in still?

Lacking in Manners.

Toledo Blade: One of the most disreputable characteristics of hay fever is that it will not behave in company.

Political Donkeys.

Rochester Democrat and Chronicle: Clemenceau has a donkey, named Leonie, which is his favorite; he says she never talks politics. Some of our donkeys do.

Money Won't Get You to Heaven, But It Lifts You Out of the Other Place

By ROBERT QUILLEN

I ONCE knew a girl named Ellen, whose parents were poor. She lived in a small town, where all were neighbors, and while she was young the other girls of the town accepted her as an equal.

But girls usually become class conscious and money conscious by the time they are old enough to attract young men, and before Ellen was through high school the richer girls of the community had begun to snub her.

They didn't insult or neglect her openly, but in many catty little ways peculiar to their sex they held her at arm's length and made her miserable.

Ellen's parents made sacrifices and sent her to college, and here the rich girls of her home town, fearful of being shamed by her poor clothes, frankly cut her dead. She was forlorn and friendless until she made acquaintances as poor as herself.

Once through college, the girls began to get married—the rich ones first and Ellen last. But Ellen, to the surprise and consternation of her childhood playmates, did better than any of the others. She married a man who was both famous and rich.

And then the girls who had snubbed her for years began to treat her as a long-lost sister, and she—being the kind of girl a rich and famous man would desire—smiled an amused smile and forgot the past.

I know a man named Bill whose wife has been an invalid for years. Her need of doctors and medicine keeps Bill poor, and he owes many small bills. Often he must swallow his pride and ask for credit; he must plead with doctors who attend his wife unwillingly; he must stifle his wrath when he gets sharp letters on the first of the month.

These are two cases of dozens I know. And because I know them, I feel my temperature rise when I read silly rot about the blessings of poverty, and the sordidness of money-getting, and the superior happiness of the poor.

Poverty is a curse—the greatest of all curses. And while human beings remain as they are, the only sure way to be happy and free and respected and independent is to have money and plenty of it.

Work, study, grow, serve—but always to the end that you may get money. Money is the key to all doors.

Don't let silly sentimentalists fool you. You must adjust yourself to the world as it is—and the world takes off its hat to a dollar.

COL. HARVEY'S WORK.

When Ambassador Harvey arrived in England, says the Boston News Bureau, he was met by Stanley Baldwin, who had negotiated the American-English war debt settlement at Washington, and was told that the case was hopeless in England.

Baldwin declared that the cabinet was entirely opposed to the settlement he had arranged, and he did not see any way to get the British indorsement. Harvey said: "Please do one thing for me; have the matter laid over for a week."

This was done, and Harvey set at work. He said to representative people and to the British prime minister: "How do you expect to maintain the peace of the world if after the war you begin by dividing the English-speaking people? Do you want America to turn her back on Europe and go it alone? What is the hope for the future except in a closer union of the English-speaking people, that their united forces may be more potential in the peace and progress of the world?"

One who knows George Harvey can well imagine that he was free with his language, his wit and his imagery. He was a new voice from America. He spoke fearlessly and was regarded as the voice of Washington. He was not only listened to but he was convincing.

When the cabinet members arrived at Downing street at the appointed hour the prime minister stood by the door of the council chamber and, greeting each individually, said: "I assume the responsibility and shall accept the American debt settlement."

Harvey was not known as a statesman or a diplomat. He was a free lance journalist with a sharp tongue and a biting pen. His appointment to the Court of St. James was generally regarded as a matter of political expediency and of doubtful diplomatic value.

But the historian will record that the first effort of Ambassador Harvey in England was a diplomatic triumph of the highest value. He wrung success from defeat and did more in the interest of international peace than has been accomplished by any individual since the war or during this century.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The First Campaign.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The first political campaign for the election of President was really the third election. In 1789 and 1792 George Washington was unanimously elected and reelected. In 1796 there occurred the first presidential contest. It was a quiet campaign, compared with that of 1800, when Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr each received 73 electoral votes. In 1796 there were 13 candidates, and 2 votes were cast for President Washington. John Adams, of Massachusetts, was chosen President, receiving 71 votes. Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia, received 68 votes. Thomas Pinckney, of South Carolina, received 59 votes; Aaron Burr, of New York, 30; Samuel Adams, of Massachusetts, 15; Oliver Ellsworth, of Connecticut, 11; George Clinton, of New York, 7; John Jay, of New York, 5; James Iredell, of North Carolina, 3; S. Johnston, of North Carolina, 2; George Washington, of Virginia, 3; John Henry, of Maryland, 2, and Charles C. Pinckney, of South Carolina, 1. Besides Adams and Jefferson, 5 Democratic-Republicans and 4 Federalists were candidates in 1796.

CHARLES NEVERS HOLMES.
Reading Mass., Sept. 2.

Gov. Smith and Enforcement.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In The Post of Sunday Mr. J. M. Sheets contributes a very interesting letter, but one which, I fear, contains a number of fallacies. Mr. Sheets quotes Gov. Smith's pledge, in his speech of acceptance, that, if elected and inaugurated, he would live up to the oath of office to the last degree. Mr. Sheets says that "it was not necessary for Herbert Hoover to make such a pledge." Yet Mr. Hoover did make such a pledge, though not in the eloquent language used by Gov. Smith, for he said in his speech of acceptance. "Whoever is elected President takes an oath * * * that he will, to the best of his ability preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. I should be untrue to these great traditions, untrue to my oath of office, were I to declare otherwise."

Next, Mr. Sheets finds fault with Gov. Smith because he advocated and approved the repeal of the New York State "enforcement law." No doubt the governor and the legislature considered the State law as unnecessary and vicious legislation, and therefore they repealed it. One of the effects of a State "enforcement law" is to bring about the nullification of the fifth amendment. It was largely for this reason that New York repealed the force-law, and Maryland refused to enact one.

There is nothing in the oath of either President or governor that compels him to advocate or approve an evil law. Let us not forget that President Wilson, a prohibitionist, vetoed the "Wheeler-Volstead act." He did not violate his oath of office in so doing. Nor did Gov. Smith violate his oath of office by advocating and approving the repeal of the Mullin-Gage act. HUGH B. ROSSELL.

HOW TO LIVE LONG.

No doubt of the authenticity of his story are cast on Mr. Li Chingyun, whose 250th birthday was recently reported in the North China Herald, says the New York Times. The reporter apparently did not think it necessary to ask for anything so superfluous as a birth certificate, for the venerable gentleman offered plenty of evidence of his great age.

He celebrated the occasion by gathering about him the 183 surviving members of his family. He has outlived many of his descendants. When asked for counsel in the matter of emulating his long life, he said: "Keep a quiet heart. Sit like a tortoise. Walk sprightly like a pigeon. Sleep like a dog."

Add Football.

Minneapolis Journal: Two terrific excitements are underlined for September—baseball and politics.

BAPTISTS MAY FACE BIG TREASURY LOSS

Audit of Missing Official's Accounts Is Reported Still Incomplete.

HIS BONDSMEN NOTIFIED

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The possibility of a large shortage in the accounts of Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, was reported here today by the board and executive committee of the convention which met to consider his mysterious disappearance more than two weeks ago.

This disclosure, made public in a joint statement issued by the two church bodies, was based on a preliminary report of an audit submitted to them by an accounting firm which began work on Carnes' books shortly after he disappeared on August 15; it was emphasized that it will be impossible to determine the amount of the possible shortage until the audit is finished.

Carnes was referred to in the statement as the "late" treasurer.

The extent of the "apparent shortage," the statement said, was dependent largely upon his use of his authority to borrow money in the name of the board, which probably will not be known until all outstanding notes against the board have been accounted for.

Meanwhile, it was asserted that steps are being taken to protect the interests of the board and the denomination and that the missing man's family is cooperating to see that his personal property, said to be considerable, will be available for restitution if a shortage is established. Announcement also was made that the bonding company which wrote Carnes' surety of $50,000, had been notified.

The statement called on all those having claims against the board to present them promptly as an aid to the investigation.

Both groups, in executive session tonight, promised further public announcements "when developments justify." Neither made any expression on published reports that the missing treasurer resembled a C. S. Carnes, who served two prison sentences for using the mails to defraud several years prior to Carnes' assumption of his post on the board.

The last heard of Carnes was on the afternoon of August 15 when he notified his chauffeur by telephone that he was leaving immediately for Raleigh, N. C. on a business trip.

An acting treasurer has been appointed to take over the mission board's financial affairs.

Moody and Trevino May Meet Morrow on Ranch

Mexico City, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Gen. Ferez Trevino, governor of Coahuila, and mentioned as a possibility as provisional president, and Gov. Dan Moody of Texas may be companion guests of Ambassador Morrow at the ranch in northern Coahuila, owned by an American, Hal Mangum.

The ambassador will leave the capital on Friday for an absence of ten days, of which seven will be spent at the ranch. It is not known here whether the other invited guests have accepted.

Alabama to Sue U. S. For $200,000 Taxes

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—W. E. James, of Cullman, special assistant attorney general of Alabama, said here today he would within the next ten days file at Washington the State's suit against the Federal Government to recover approximately $200,000 alleged to be due in taxes on surplus hydroelectric power generated at Muscle Shoals.

Mr. James, who is a member of the State senate from Cullman County, said the tax is claimed on surplus energy produced at Muscle Shoals and sold by the Government to private companies for distribution over the State. The tax amounts to two-fifths of a mill per kilowatt hour.

Mrs. Bache Is Robbed In Hotel at Biarritz

Biarritz, France, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Mrs. Florence Bache, divorced wife of Jules S. Bache, New York banker, was robbed Saturday night while asleep in her hotel room.

Police today were searching for a maid to question her. They believe chloroform fumes enabled the thief or thieves to commit the robbery. Fifty-four hundred dollars in cash, two fur coats valued at $8,000 each and jewelry valued at a considerable amount were taken.

COMMUNITY CHEST LISTS 55 AGENCIES

Letter Sent 33,000 Prospective Contributors Asking Advice on Any Phase.

EXPLAINS PLAN'S MERITS

The indorsement committee on welfare organizations of the Community Chest for Washington has mailed to 33,000 prospective contributing members a four-page circular letter carrying the names of 55 social agencies of the District which have been duly indorsed and have received official invitations to join the new movement, it was announced last night. In the letter the committee asks contributors to state if any of the agencies listed and invited should not be included in the chest, or if other organizations not mentioned should be included.

Advice on any phase of the community problem and of the chest organization also is requested by Clarence A. Aspinwall, chairman of the organization committee, whose name appears at the bottom of the letter.

On the inside pages is printed the statement prepared by the committee giving the reasons why the community chest will benefit Washington and be a boon to the giving public. It lays especial emphasis on immunity from repeated solicitations, greater satisfaction in giving, more efficiency and economy in the use of funds and democratic control of the chest organization.

The letter further urges a sincere response to the appeal made in behalf of charity. It stresses the point that the facts enumerated are based upon the successful experience of the chest plan in more than 300 other American cities, ranging in size from Philadelphia down, and including such cities as Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Louisville, Minneapolis, St. Paul, New Orleans, Buffalo and Milwaukee.

Don't Take Chances

HASTE is often the cause of a serious accident which might have been averted if someone had not been in too much of a hurry to take proper precautions. Pedestrians and motorists are both guilty at times. It is far wiser to loose a few minutes than to run the danger of loosing your life or limb.

The risk you take in trying to cross a street against traffic, running through traffic to catch a street car, in stepping suddenly from a loading platform or from behind a car parked in the middle of the block, is too great compared with the insignificant amount of time you save.

Motorists also place themselves and others in peril by such hazardous practices as attempting to beat the traffic signal and trying to pass cars traveling in the same direction when the road ahead to the left is not sufficiently clear to permit them to pass safely. Many crossing accidents are also due to someone's haste to get across without waiting to make sure whether a train or car was approaching.

Life is too short at best to run the risk of making it shorter by taking unnecessary chances simply to save a little time. It is not a sign of weakness to play safe always. No one has ever regretted being careful.

GREEN LEADS WELSH IN MICHIGAN VOTING

Chief Interest in Primary Is Created by Struggle for Governorship.

EIGHT CONGRESS FIGHTS

Detroit, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Gov. Fred W. Green, Republican, seeking renomination in today's primary, went into an early lead over George W. Welsh, former lieutenant governor, and maintained his margin on incomplete returns.

Returns from 771 precincts out of 3,184 in the State in the Republican contest for the gubernatorial nomination in today's primary gave: Gov. Fred W. Green, 91,049; George W. Welsh, 36,437. The same precincts gave William A. Comstock, Democrat, unopposed for governor, 722.

For lieutenant governor, 721 precincts gave: Luren D. Dickinson (Rep), 46,983; Fred L. Woodworth (Rep.), 29,291; G. Elmer McArthur (Rep.), 15,761; Frank J. Sawyer (Dem.), 1,598; Theodore H. Elferdink (Dem.), 1,574.

With United States Senator Arthur H Vandenberg, Republican, and Mayor John W. Bailey, of Battle Creek, Democrat, unopposed for the senatorial nominations, the gubernatorial contest between the governor and Mr. Welsh held chief interest in the primary. In none of the counties reporting did Welsh have a lead. The returns, however, included only part of Kent (Grand Rapids), Welsh's home county, and none of Wayne County (Detroit).

Congress Fights in Doubt.

Returns from the congressional districts still were too fragmentary to give a definite indication as to the results in those districts where contests developed.

In most instances Democratic candidates for every office were unopposed. Candidates had been entered by the Democrats for virtually all offices from United States senator down to members of the legislature.

Eight members of Congress, all Republicans, were renominated without opposition. They were Earl C. Michener, Second district; Joseph L. Hooper, Third district; Carl E. Mapes, Fifth district; Louis C. Cramton, Seventh district; Bird J. Vincent, Eighth district; Roy O. Woodruff, Tenth district; Frank P. Bohn, Eleventh district, and W. Frank James, Twelfth district.

Opposed for Congress.

All will be opposed in November by Democratic candidates. William L. Fitzgerald was nominated without opposition to oppose Hooper; Frank C. Jarvis, of Grand Rapids, will oppose Mapes; Varnum J. Bowers, of Mount Clements, will oppose Cramton; Burnett J. Abbott, of Saginaw, had no opposition for the Democratic nomination to oppose Vincent; Judson E. Richardson, of Evart, was nominated to oppose Woodruff; Carl Henry, of Alpena, to oppose Bohn, and Frederic Kappler, of Lake Linden, and L. A. Barry, of Baraga, fought it out for the Democratic nomination to oppose Michener.

Perhaps the most interesting congressional contest was in the Ninth district where the veteran Representative James G. McLaughlin had opposition from R. Glenn Dunn, of Muskegon, and Claude M. Curtiss, of Ludington. Without Democratic opposition the nomination will be equivalent to election in this district.

Contests also developed in the First, Fourth, Sixth and Thirteenth districts.

LA FOLLETTE LEADING IN WISCONSIN VOTE

the gubernatorial race, was expected to leave the results in doubt for many hours after the polls closed.

Without opposition, the Democrats nominated their candidates for the two major offices—former Representative M. K. Reilly for United States senator and Mayor A. G. Schmedeman, of Madison, for governor.

Republicans decided contests for every office with few exceptions.

Senator Robert M. La Follette, son of the late senior senator from Wisconsin, whom he succeeded both in Congress and as leader of the Wisconsin Progressives, was opposed by Mayor George W. Mead, of Wisconsin Rapids, a Conservative Republican.

Senator La Follette and Representative Beck headed a complete Progressive slate, opposed by one with which Kohler was aligned.

Seeking a second term, Gov. Zimmerman, a follower of the late Senator La Follette who broke with Progressive leaders two years ago, was alone in the race, having no State ticket.

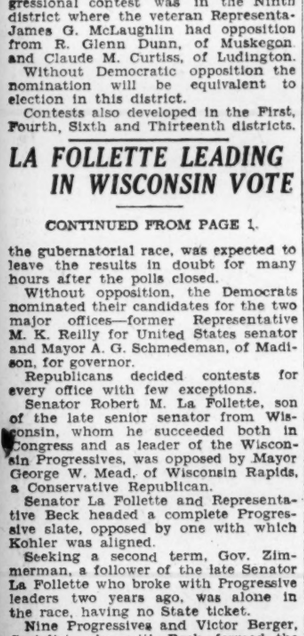

Nine Progressives and Victor Berger, Socialist, who, with Beck, formed the State's representation in the House of Representatives at the last session, sought nomination for reelection today.

Paul Block Assists Widow of Policeman

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 4.—Two checks, one of $250 from Paul Block, newspaper owner, and one of $50 from Representative William W. Cohen, were received today by Police Commissioner Warren for Mrs. Anna Dursee, widow of Patrolman Joseph F. Dursee, who was killed in a pistol fight with three robbers at Forty-first street and Third avenue on August 25.

"These two gentlemen make it their custom to give aid to the widows of patrolmen killed in the performance of duty," Mr. Waren said, "and they are to be highly commended. It helps the morale of the department."

JUDGE S. J. PEELLE DIES AT HIS HOME

Indiana, and Valparaiso University, where he received his degree of LL. D.

He served as a corporal in the Eighth and as a lieutenant in the Fifty-seventh Indiana Volunteers during the Civil War, after which he was admitted to the bar in 1866 at Winchester, Ind., where he practiced law for two years.

From 1869 until the time of his appointment to the Court of Claims in 1892, Judge Peelle practiced law in Indianapolis, during which time he also served as a member of the Indiana house of representatives from 1877 to 1879, and from 1881 to 1883 as a member of the Forty-seventh United States Congress. He was an alternate delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention in 1888, and delegate-at-large in 1892. From 1891 until his appointment to the bench, he was a member of the board of control of the Indiana Reform School for Boys.

Judge Peelle was married three times, first in 1866 to Miss Lou R. Perkins, of South Bend, Ind., who died seven years later. In 1878 he married Arabella Canfield, daughter of the late Judge Milton C. Canfield, by whom he had one son, Stanton C. Peelle, an attorney of this city. Mrs. Peelle died in 1915, and three years later the judge married Mrs. Bertha Barnitz Byrne, widow of Col. Bernard A. Byrne, and the daughter of the late Col. Albert Barnitz, U. S. A.

Since his retirement, Judge Peelle had been active in educational, civic, religious and benevolent affairs, as is Mrs. Peelle. From 1914 to 1918 Judge Peelle served as president of West Nottingham (Synodical) Academy, Cecil County, Md., and during the same period was president of the school board of Montgomery County and president of the governing commission of Chevy Chase, Md.

He was an advisory member of the board of managers of the Young Men's Christian Association, Washington; a member of the Cosmos Club; Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the District of Columbia, of which he was commander in 1916 and 1917; was vice moderator of the Washington Presbytery in 1916, and of the Synod of Baltimore, 1920-21.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed, but they will probably be held from the Church of the Covenant, of which Judge Peelle was a member. He is survived by his widow, his son and several grandchildren.

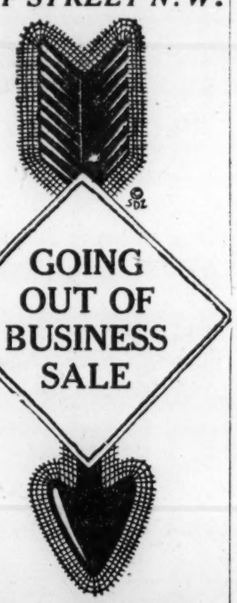

Man, Feigning Death, Foils Theater Thieves

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—An old vaudeville actor, now a night watchman in a Brooklyn theater, feigned death today and saved the theater's week-end receipts from four gunmen. Peter McCleane, 70 years old, was making his rounds when the men leaped upon him as he passed through the orchestra pit.

Into McCleane's mind flashed a long forgotten role. Years ago a part had called for his feigning death. He dropped to the floor in so realistic a manner that one of the robbers said: "I think you croaked him."

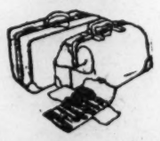

The four fled while McCleane ran to a window and shouted for help. The safe holding between $10,000 and $20,000 was untouched.

James M. Tracy, 91, Musician, Is Dead

Franz Liszt Pupil Active in Musical Circles Throughout Life.

Denver, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Dr. James Madison Tracy, 91 years old, one of the country's outstanding musical geniuses, died at his home here yesterday.

Dr. Tracy led an eventful life which took him from the bench of a church organ in Concord, N. H., to a position of eminence in the musical world. He was believed to be the last living pupil of Franz Liszt, under whom he studied in Weimar when that city was the mecca of European musicians. Dr. Tracy gave more than 700 lectures throughout the United States and appeared in many concerts. He was active in Denver musical circles almost up to the time of his death.

Born in New Hampshire, Dr. Tracy began his musical career at the age of 12. In 1858 he went to Hamburg, Germany, to study under Prof. Louis Plaidy and Prof. Ignace Moscheles at the Mendelssohn Conservatory. In 1861 he was admitted to the select group of pupils taught by Liszt, who was so pleased with his pupil that he arranged concert appearances for him at Prague, Heidelberg and Dresden.

Hugh Reilly, New York Political Leader, Dead

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Hugh J. Reilly, 50, who resigned recently as secretary of the Democratic State committee, died of heart failure at his summer home in North Chatham today.

Reilly was first stricken by a heart attack while returning from the Democratic national convention at Houston.

In 1863 he ran away from home to join the Union Army. Being too young for active service he was made a post driver, and in November of the same year he was taken prisoner and was confined in Libby Prison until the end of the war. Mr. Sayre was a native of Kingwood, Va., now West Virginia. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary Batton, and one daughter, Miss Hallie Marshall Sayre.

Seven Suggested For Tigert's Post

Coolidge to Name Successor to Commissioner of Education.

(Associated Press.)

Seven educators have been suggested as possible successors to Dr. J. J. Tigert, who resigned recently as Federal Commissioner of Education to accept the presidency of the University of Florida.

It was learned at the Interior Department yesterday, however, that Secretary West and President Coolidge at their recent conference at Superior, Wis., did not decide upon the selection of the new commissioner.

Secretary West now is on a tour of reclamation projects in Northwestern States, and it was indicated at the Interior Department that he would take up the commissionership vacancy upon his return to Washington about September 15. President Coolidge will make the appointment.

Those mentioned for the position include William McAndrews, former superintendent of the Chicago public schools; William J. Cooper, superintendent of public instruction in California; Payson Smith, commissioner of education in Massachusetts; A. B. Meredith, commissioner of education in Connecticut; Francis G. Blair, superintendent of Illinois public schools; Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, president of the University of Missouri, and Sam Baker, Governor of Missouri and former superintendent of the Missouri schools.

Pope Defers Holding Of Public Audiences

3 Balloons in Contest Land in New England

Boston, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Three balloons competing in a race from Altoona, Pa., landed in New England today. Two of them alighted in New Hampshire, while the other came down near Lowell. The balloon piloted by Edward J. Hill, of Detroit, apparently had covered the greatest distance of any of the three, although it was the first to land. It landed at Gilford, near Laconia, N. H., after remaining in the air for eleven hours.

The second balloon to land was that piloted by T. M. Le Jalee, of Detroit. It alighted on the Billerica-Bedford line near Lowell. With the pilot was J. D. Clapp, also of Detroit.

The third balloon, piloted by Capt. H. E. Honeywell, remained in the air until 11:40 a. m., when it was in danger of being carried out to sea, but the pilot brought it safely to earth at Hampton, N. H. With Capt. Honeywell was Mrs. Walter Chambers, of Pittsburgh.

After AMOCO-GAS had been used by Studebakers and Erskines in all previous record-breaking runs, The Studebaker Corporation of America naturally chose "The Original Special Motor Fuel" for this spectacular achievement.

30,000 miles at better than 68 miles per hour on Amoco-Gas, of course!

ONE and one-fifth times the distance around the world--covered in 19 days and 18 nights! That's the record set by Studebaker Presidents in recent tests conducted on the Atlantic City Speedway by the Studebaker Corporation of America. Four cars made this record-breaking run--two roadsters and two sedans. And the fastest thousand miles of each roadster was the thirtieth and last--one of them reeling off the final thousand at 71.67 miles per hour.

The carburetors, manifolds and engine heads of these roadsters were sealed by A.A.A. officials at the start of the run and the seals were still unbroken at the finish! A far greater mileage in three weeks than most motorists roll up in a couple of years--but AMOCO-GAS delivered such faultless, smooth-flowing, trouble-free power that over 33,000,000 explosions in each cylinder were accomplished without any need of breaking the six seals.

Chalk up a new world's record for AMOCO-GAS--first choice of the record-makers and record-breakers! And it should be your first choice, too!

When Johnny had to wear his cap in the house

LAST winter on several occasions Johnny wore his cap in the house—even in the dining room and upstairs, and nobody scolded or raised a fuss.

It happened this way.

Johnny's father decided he could heat the house a lot better without Anthracite. So big checks were drawn and a lot of new apparatus appeared in the cellar.

But then, on a real cold day in December, the house didn't heat. And something went wrong again in February, and during the first big storm in March.

Johnny didn't mind the cold. He thought it was great fun to wear his cap in the house, but no one else did.

Already there is a bin full of Anthracite in this cellar for next winter.

MONTGOMERY GIVES CONTRACTS ON COAL

Commissioners Also Order Electric Lights Placed in County Home.

MYSTERY IN RAIL DEATH

The Board of County Commissioners of Montgomery County yesterday at Rockville opened bids to supply the jail and courthouse at Rockville with coal for the winter. The contract to supply the courthouse with Big Vein Georgia Creek screened coal at $6.35 per tons of 2,240 pounds was awarded to the Bethesda Building Supply Co. The Ward Bros., at Rockville, won the contract to supply the jail with anthracite coal at $13.17 per ton.

In response to the popular demand of the citizens of the county, the commissioners directed Lacy Shaw, commissioner in charge of the Montgomery County Home, which is about a mile beyond Rockville, to take the necessary steps to have electric lights installed in the home.

A petition with a large number of names attached was received by the Commissioners asking that they open and accept as a county highway the road from Lincoln Park through England's second addition to Lincoln Park across the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks and Frederick avenue to the Frederick pike near Westmore. The commissioners decided to appoint three examiners to ascertain the public necessity for taking over the highway.

The mangled body of Ernest Neal, colored, 22 years old, of Lincoln Park, Md., was found beside the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks near Westmore, Md., early yesterday morning. He apparently had been struck by a train. Montgomery County Policeman P. W. Watkins, who investigated the death, found a .32 caliber revolver beside the man's legs which had been severed and were about 80 paces from the remainder of the body.

The county police force had been called on the night before to subdue Neal when he attacked his wife and struck her on the head with a hammer and a brick. Neal could not be found at that time. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Warner Pumphrey at Rockville, where an attempt was made to find if the man had been shot, but this was impossible to ascertain.

Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley is investigating. Several residents of the vicinity declared they heard shots about 4 o'clock yesterday morning and one bullet had been fired from the revolver.

States's Attorney Robert B. Peter, jr., who has been passing his vacation in Asheville, N. C., has returned to Rockville.

Lafayette R. Bowman, of Montgomery County, has filed suit for absolute divorce from Mamie B. Bowman, Kensington, Md., in the Circuit Court at Rockville. He alleges desertion in October, 1924. The couple have no children. Kenneth Lyddane, of Rockville, represents the husband.

The first meeting of the Montgomery County Civic Federation since the summer vacation will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock in the auditorium at the Woodside School, Seventh street pike and B street, Woodside, one-half mile north of Silver Spring. The federation will be the guests of the Linden Civic League.

William R. Pumphrey, jr., of Rockville, has been chosen president of the Maryland State Funeral Directors' Association, which met at Ocean City, Md., last week.

The Cabin John Park Citizens Association will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Cabin John School. Paul Hamen, vice president, will preside at the meeting, which will be followed by refreshments.

The Sandy Spring Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual carnival and tournament today and tomorrow at the Sherwood Schoolhouse. A baseball game between the Sandy Spring firemen and the fire department from Kensington, Md., and both a professional and amateur tournament will be features of the affair.

A double-header game of baseball tomorrow will be followed by a fireman's parade and a hook-up contest, both of which are expected to be participated in by most of the fire departments of the county. Fire Chief Francis Thomas, J. Ferguson Barnsley and Spencer J. H. Brown are in charge of arrangements.

King Boris Betrothed To Italian Princess

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The engagement of King Boris of Bulgaria to Princess Giovanna, of Italy, was reported today.

Betrothal of the third daughter of the King of Italy to King Boris of Bulgaria has been rumored at semi-annual intervals since July, 1926. The princess, who is now 21 years old, has been the subject also of similar reports in connection with other royal houses and several high Italian families. One of these rumors had her engaged to Prince Leopold, of Belgium, when she was only 17 years old. Most of the reports, however, have linked her name with that of King Boris and last November it was said that their engagement would be announced by June of 1928.

Cash and Gems Stolen From Office of Senator

Detective C. J. Weber was yesterday assigned to investigate the theft of a handbag containing cash and jewelry from the office of Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, in the Senate Office Building. The property was stolen August 31.

Davis Back From Hawaii Discovery Celebration

Secretary of War Davis returned to this city yesterday after attendance at the sesquicentennial celebration of the discovery of the Hawaiian Islands at Honolulu, being the official United States representative at the ceremony.

Secretary Davis visited President Coolidge at the summer White House at Brule, Wis., on his way here, and probably will make a campaign tour in the interest of the Republican party in the early fall. He was accompanied by Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, an Army California-Hawaii flier.

Lost Airplane Radiator Picked Up Off Cape Cod

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The fishing schooner Angie B. Watson arrived here today with the radiator of what might be a missing transatlantic airplane. The crew picked up the radiator 40 miles southeast of Highland Light, Cape Cod.

One of the vessel's lines caught in the radiator and part of the engine. The latter fell off when the crew attempted to bring it aboard.

It was thought here that the radiator might be that of the missing plane Dawn in which Mrs. Frances Grayson started on a flight to Europe last December. At the time there were numerous reports that the plane had been heard over Cape Cod.

Ecuador Insurgents Routed and Chief Killed

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Sept. 4 (A.P.). Three revolutionists, including their chief, Juan Enrique Velasco, were killed in a battle with government troops, military authorities announced today. The insurgents fled to the mountains.

The fighting occurred after the revolutionists, said to number 160 men, appeared in the provinces of Bolivar and Los Rios, seizing horses, ammunition and various haciendas.

John Coolidge Mum On Quest for Work

Secret Service Man Guards Youth From Divulging Plans to Reporters.

Chicago, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—First-hand information as to whether the guardianship of a secret service operative is an asset or a liability in the business of getting a job soon may be given the world by John Coolidge, son of the President.

The young man of the White House tonight wended his way eastward after bidding his family farewell in the summer executive mansion, Brule, Wis.

Just when or where he is to seek a position was not made known, in fact, John, as taciturn as his father, was made all but dumb by the secret service man after h had made two negative replies t reporters.

The first remark was "no" to the query as to whether he had a definite job in mind. The second was, "I have nothing to say," in response to whether he meant to get down to work right away or linger while after welcoming home from Europe Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of the Governor of Connecticut.

Fierro Cripples Plane To Save Crowd's Lives

San Jose, Costa Rica, Sept. 4 (A.P.). Col. Roberto Fierro, Mexican aviator, today deliberately sacrificed his beloved plane, the Baja California, to prevent injury to enthusiastic welcomers.

As he swept down from the skies after a flight from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, hundreds of persons on the field rushed toward the whirling propeller of the plane. Fierro swung the plane in a quick turn to avoid cutting them down, but as he did the left wheel was broken and the plane, which has carried him to six different lands, was crippled.

Mexico Holds American For Killing by Friend

Del Rio, Tex., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—John Crosby, jr., of Del Rio and Villa Acuna, Mexico, is in a Mexican jail charged with a slaying he did not commit, because of a Mexican law which permits a modern Damon to take the place of his friend at the bar of justice.

Crosby's friend, Tom Whitehead, a Del Rio rancher, was arrested Saturday after a fight in Villa Acuna, in which John C. Kaster, of San Antonio, was so seriously injured that he died. Whitehead was released when Crosby pledged his own liberty that his friend would appear for trial. Whitehead did not appear yesterday and Crosby was arrested and will be taken to Piedras Negras for trial on the charge filed against his friend. Efforts to obtain permission to return Kastner's body to the States was unsuccessful.

Coast Guardsman Dies After Pistol Accident

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Sept. 4 (A.P.). Ora Garrett Jacks, 21, Coast Guardsman, was accidentally shot and killed in the bunkhouse at base No. 6 here tonight when an automatic pistol in the hands of two fellow guardsmen discharged during a friendly scuffle. Jacks, whose home is in Chattanooga, Tenn., died on the way to a hospital.

In a statement issued by Commander J. L. Jack, in charge of the base, following a board of inquest and investigation, he said that Frank Lehman and Herbert Larsen, members of the crew at the base, were scuffling with the weapon, which was believed to have been unloaded, and a lone cartridge in the chamber exploded, striking Jacks in the right chest. Prior to the scuffle, Jacks apparently had removed the cartridges from the pistol, after which he handed it to Larsen, according to Commander Jack.

Langley Planes Halted In Alabama by Weather

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Eleven Army airplanes on a flight from Langley Field, Va., to the Pacific Coast for maneuvers were held here today because of unfavorable weather.

The planes took off for Montgomery, Ala., the next scheduled stop, but returned after about an hour to await better weather conditions.

After the delay here, officers of the flight said they did not believe the planes would reach Los Angeles by Friday, the day they are due there.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Mathematicians and legal experts went into a huddle today to determine, if possible, to just what extent the shapely legs of Helen Ackerman, Chicago "Follies" girl, have been damaged. A chow dog took a chew at one of them.

Miss Ackerman, who owns the legs and should know something about them, values them at $500,000, but in her suit against Slayton L. Smythe, prominent investment broker, whose dog attacked one of the legs, she puts the damage at $900. The problem is just how much one of the legs must be defaced to merit $900.

Gordon C. Bowie Drowns When Motorboat Sinks

Montreal, Quebec, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Gordon C. Bowie, manager of the Brooklyn office of R. G. Dun & Co., was drowned today when a motorboat in which he was cruising on Lake Manitour, 4 miles from St. Agathe, Quebec, struck a sunken log and sank.

Three other occupants of the boat were rescued. They were Mrs. Bowie and Dr. and Mrs. Winston C. Bushell. Mr. Bowie was a former president of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Union. He was 48 years old.

Hassell Criticized By Danish Paper

Lacked Courtesy in Not Speeding Message on Safety, It Says.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 4 (A.P.). The Nationaltidende, a conservative newspaper, today reflects the feeling in some quarters that the American aviators, Hassell and Cramer, showed a lack of consideration in not notifying the Danish government earlier of their safety.

It was only today that official word was received, when a radio message from the airmen expressed their thanks for the effort of the Greenland and Danish governments to find them. This tardy information is regarded by some persons as a rather poor return for the energy and trouble of the government search.

(Associated Press.)

The Coast Guard has offered Hassell and Cramer passage on the cutter Marion from Ivigtut to the United States.

In reply to a message from the Marion, asking permission to pick up the fliers, the Coast Guard instructed the Marion to offer passage and to proceed to Ivigtut for the crew of the Greater Rockford if the offer is accepted.

Mexican Congress May Again Ignore Catholics

Mexico City, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—El Universal Grafico in a news story today said "a survey of congress shows an unfavorable atmosphere and much opposition to the Catholic memorial for a change in the religious laws."

The newspaper adds that deputies and senators say that it was most inopportune of the Catholics to present such a memorial when congress is overwhelming composed of Obregon men mourning the assassination of their leader. It regards it as probable that congress will ignore the memorial as it did two years ago.

AN INVITATION

THE new Packard Standard Eight is here. We cordially invite you to call and see this long-rumored car. It introduces ten additional and beautiful new models into the Packard line.

You will find the new car somewhat smaller and lighter in weight than the famous Packard Custom Eight—but powerful, fast and luxurious.

It includes every refinement and improvement made possible out of a long experience in building cars with straight-eight motors, together with a number of important inventions among which is the new and exclusive Packard Shock Absorbing System.

This system is a combination of Packard and European inventions and positively makes the Packard car not only the easiest riding car in the world but also the safest to drive—for the dangers of front wheel shimmy and steering whip have been absolutely eliminated.

We want you to drive one of the new cars and put the Packard Shock Absorbing System to any test your ownership would ever call for. We know that you will buy no other car once you experience the comfort and safety features it offers.

Packard owners and those who hope to become Packard owners will be delighted to see that the distinguished beauty of Packard lines has been preserved.

Fundamental beauty can be but refined, and this Packard has done. No tribute has been paid to passing vogue for Packard cars far outlive any vogue that lasts but a year or two.

Depreciation is largely a matter of appearance, and in this respect Packard has once more protected the interests of those who have bought as well as those who are to buy.

When may we see you? Any interest you show in our new cars will be most courteously considered. We do want you to know of their new features and in particular of the shock absorbing system which, together with the most luxurious upholstery ever used in Packard cars, makes each in truth—The Restful Car.

The Packard Standard Eight is offered in two wheelbase lengths—126 and 133 inches. The prices range from $2435 for the luxurious five-passenger Sedan to $2835 for the Sedan-Limousine (prices at the factory).

We will apply the value of your used car against the first and monthly payments on a new one, if you prefer to buy out of income as so many do. And like many, you may find that the value of your used car will equal or exceed the amount of the first payment, leaving your largest cash outlay the amount of any one monthly payment.

Handy Hints To Help the Homemaker

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER.

MENU FOR TODAY.

Liver and Bacon — Buttered Potatoes
Corn on the Cob
Bread — Butter
Tomato Salad — French Dressing
Baked Apples — Cream
Coffee

LIVER AND BACON FOR FOUR.
(Liver contains many vitamines.)

1-3 cup flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
6 slices bacon.

Wash the liver in cold water. Drain well and sprinkle with the salt and pepper and roll in the flour. Pat the flour in place so it will not come off during the cooking. Place the bacon in a frying pan and broil 6 inches below a glowing fire. (The bacon may be cooked over a low fire if desired.) When the bacon is half done (not crisp), toss to one side of the pan and add the liver. Cook until well browned on both sides. It will require about ten minutes. Let the bacon continue to cook and it will be crisp when the liver is done. Place on a serving platter. Garnish with parsley.

CORN ON COB.

To cook corn on the cob, remove the husks and silk and let stand in the icebox until ready to cook. Have a kettle two-thirds full of boiling water and add the corn. Boil vigorously for ten minutes. Just before removing the corn, add one teaspoonful of salt. This will flavor the corn, but not turn it yellow nor toughen it. As soon as the corn is done, remove it with a spoon or colander and serve at once with seasoning and butter. If corn is allowed to cook slowly or too long, or stand in the water after it has been cooked, it will become watery and tasteless.

TOMATO SALAD, SERVING FOUR
(This gives balance to the meal)

4 medium-sized peeled tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup diced green cucumbers
⅛ cup pickle relish
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion

Remove the blossom ends from the tomatoes, sprinkle with one-half the salt and chill, inverted on a platter. By inverting the tomatoes they will drain and not be watery when served. Mix the rest of the ingredients and chill in a covered bowl. Stuff the tomatoes with the chilled mixture and serve in cups of crisp lettuce leaves. Top with French dressing.

BAKED APPLES, SOUTHERN STYLE.
(These will tempt a jaded appetite)

4 large apples
½ cup dark brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
4 marshmallows
2 teaspoons butter
1 cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla

Wash the apples, remove the blossom ends and seeds, but do not core through the apples. Mix the cinnamon and sugar and stuff the apples. Press a marshmallow into each cavity. Place in a small pan and add the water and vanilla. Dot the apples with the butter. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. Baste frequently and add more water if needed. Some apples take up more water than others. Serve in small dishes and surround with some of the sirup in which the apples were baked. Plain or whipped cream may accompany this dessert.

ELEANOR GUNN
On Fashions

NEW YORK.—With the prevailing tendency toward softness of outline, it seems quite logical that the mode for evening would in several particulars be identical with that for day wear. Many of the same ideas occur in formal afternoon and formal evening types, this being especially true in drapery treatments and in materials.

The dipping hemline, once the exception, is now definitely the rule. Waistline and hip treatments repeat themselves in day and dinner gowns, while for evening the reappearance of beaded effects and the indorsement of stiffer and often metalized fabrics supply the most sensational reading matter.

Paillette and certain other beaded types have several worthy sponsors, while bugle embroideries are the pride and joy of Lanvin, Beer and Patou. After a reasonable absence from night life, one feels in a mood to welcome the returning beaded dress, asking only of it that it be different enough not to be mistaken for a resurrected model.

One may, of course, exercise one's individual preference in the depth of the decolletage, but there is a hearty indorsement of formally cut gowns, the back especially being bared to the rod of style criticism. Irregularities in outline continue to please. During the day the V's have it, sometimes supplemented by scarfs or collars. For evening, one is less concerned with anything so definite, and is inclined toward softer outlines or more irregular ones, the back being frequently unrelated to the front in contour.

The camisole decolletage is handled in an interesting manner in a dinner gown of black transparent velvet. One shoulder strap continues to fall in a long, narrow panel at one side, while the other appears to be part of the side drapery. The tunic silhouette, the irregularity of hemline and the crescent pins of brilliants are all significant.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Volendam, Holland.

TO come here from Amsterdam, I first boarded a small steamer—about 80 feet long, I should judge. Soon after we left the dock, we approached a low bridge. The bridge was so low, in fact, that one would think the smokestack would bump it.

Children of Volendam feeding a kid.

What do you suppose the sailors did? Just before we reached the bridge, they took hold of the smokestack and bent it over! It was fixed on hinges, for that very purpose. While it was leaning over, the firebox was left open, but that didn't seem to make much difference. A few moments later, the stack was put up straight again. I laughed to myself, and thought of what fun it would be to tell about it to my Corner family.

After a ride of ten minutes or so, I transferred to a train. It was one of the slowest I was ever on. I had to ride for more than an hour to go 15 miles!

At last I stepped off at Volendam, and made my way to the small hotel at which I am staying. The owner is known as Fritz, and he is a jolly, good-natured fellow. Once he was in the business of making sails for the fisherfolk, but I think he likes his present line better.

In front of my hotel is a canal, with a bridge crossing it. As I look out of the window, I can see before my very eyes these people we have heard so much about—who wear wooden shoes and strange costumes. They walk along as if they didn't know that the wondering eyes of a visitor were upon them.

The men wear dark, baggy trousers. It would seem that there's enough cloth in one pair of their trousers to make an ordinary suit.

The children clog along with their wooden shoes. The little girls wear long skirts, reaching almost to their ankles. The boys are fitted with baggy pantaloons.

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON

THE BRIDE'S DAY.

DEAR Miss Singleton: Please don't laugh when you read my plans and dreams for a wedding. I do hope they will be quite proper.

I am going to be married in November. My parents have a small house and I have lots of friends. Could I rent a hall, have an orchestra and serve refreshments? Could the judge come to the hall and perform the wedding ceremony? I would like to be married at 8 o'clock and dress in a white evening dress. How could I word the invitations? BRIDE-TO-BE

Of course I shan't laugh. As for your plans and dreams, your wedding day is your day and you may have it exactly as you wish.

I have never heard of anything such as you have outlined, and to me it seems a little public and jubilant for so intimate an occasion. Why don't you have your wedding ceremony performed by a clergyman—or a judge, if you insist—at your parents' home in the presence of your family and the bridegroom's. Then, if you wished to entertain your many friends, you might have a reception at a public place with dancing and refreshments. You might wear an evening dress of any becoming color. White for a bride is only significant when a veil is worn.

The invitations to the reception would be issued by your parents. They would be engraved as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Smith request the pleasure of
Mr. Henry Paul Jones' company on Saturday, the thirtieth of November, at eight-thirty o'clock
at one West First street.

BEAUTY AND YOU

By VIOLA PARIS

REPLIES TO READERS.

DEAR Viola Paris—Is the use of perfume good taste or bad? I hope you will give me an early answer, to settle an argument. DOT.

Answer—This is a question that can not possibly be answered categorically. There are qualifications at every turn. First, there is the choice of perfume. There is such a thing as perfume to match your type. Just the right perfume incautiously used is bad taste. The wrong perfume carefully used is unfortunate. Just the right perfume employed in just the right way, in the right amount and at the right time, is the final exquisite feminine touch and will, regardless of all the arguments in the world for or against, and whether the men like it or not, be dear to the heart of every daughter of Eve. This much you can rely on. Nobody every puts a dab of perfume on the handkerchief any more. The atomizer is best. It may be sprayed lightly on the body or underwear. Never touch with perfume the clothes that will not be changed at the end of the day. You do not want to remind your friends of dead flowers.

Mrs. T. L.—The flabbiness of your abdomen is due to sagging muscles which have lost tone either through lack of exercise or wrong diet. Get some outdoor exercise every day, cut down on fattening foods and practice the following, night and morning:

1. Sit on the floor, with legs spread widely. Swing the body forward from the hips, sliding the hands along the floor in front of you. Repeat ten times.

2. Lie on your back with your arms at your sides. Place a large book or some other heavy object on the abdomen and try to lift it as high as you can by pushing upward with the abdominal muscles. Twenty times is about right for this exercise.

3. Stand erect, with arms straight down at the sides, the palms of your hands touching the thighs. Without bending the knees, bend first to the right then to the left, sliding the hand down the leg as far as you can. Assume the erect position between the alternating movements. Do this ten times with each side.

Mildred J.—The exercises given above are excellent for correcting hips that are too heavy. I would take no sugar whatever with coffee, and I advise your eliminating coffee altogether from your diet.

Stogies Gone At Political Headquarters

Cigar Smoke Distasteful to Women, Cigarettes Are Now Available to Visitors, Even at the Desks Where Femininity Rules.

By G. D. SEYMOUR.

NEW YORK (A.P.).—Twenty-four years ago, when May Sutton was winning the national women's tennis championship for the first time, she was also changing some notions about what the welldressed feminine tennis player should wear.

She discarded the wide feathered hat and the sweeping dress, often plain black, worn by other players of her sex, and donned attire of lighter hue, appeared hatless, and abbreviated her skirts so that they would not trip her in the course of a retreat to the baseline.

The May Sutton of 1904 is now Mrs. Bundy, mother of four youngsters, but she is still a ranking tennis player and her apparel is still distinctive. At the recent women's championships at Forest Hills she played on consecutive days in a white satin dress and in green, yellow and gray silk attire with cloche hat to match, whereas all her competitors adhered to the conventional white linen, twill or gabardine. And she departed further from custom by wearing jewelry — a loose mother-of-pearl choker.

POLITICAL NOTE.

Campaign cigars are missing this year from the New York headquarters of the presidential campaign. Visitors to national party offices are offered cigarettes instead, in any of half a dozen popular brands.

Women party executives, displeased by the incense of political stogies, maneuvered the compromise on cigarettes. Most of the feminine politicians have packages of cigarettes on their desks for callers, and one woman leader who does not smoke carries a handsome gold case filled with fags for the convenience of visitors.

AUTOMATIC FIRE.

There are too many stories already about cigarette lighters that won't work, but this one is true. At a stage premiere recently the hero had to light a cigarette so that he might burn a hole in the drawing room drapes. Until he did so, the play couldn't proceed. He labored in vain to get a flame from his lighter, and finally, halting the action for a moment, crossed the stage to obtain and strike a match.

A moment later a comrade came onto the stage, and he, too, drew out a lighter and applied it to his cigarette. The play would have gone on as briskly if his lighter hadn't functioned, but it ignited at the first twist. Nobody was more nonplused than he when the audience broke into louder applause than it vouchsafed to any subsequent development of the play.

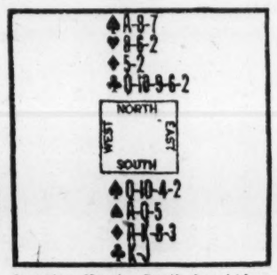

Cigarette lighters, incidentally, are becoming the bane of theater managers. Once they could keep the house dark at brief intermissions between the scenes to produce or retain dramatic effect and to keep the audience in the spirit of the play. But lately, whenever the lights are down for a few seconds, cigarette lighters begin to lift their tiny flames throughout the house, throwing grotesque shadows against the ceilings as the spectators peer at their programs to see what comes next.

The practice violates the spirit if not the letter of the fire ordinances, and it irritates stage managers who have a motive in keeping the audience in pitch darkness; but it seems to be another of those things that nothing can be done about.

THE ANSWERS.

4. North should pass; he has a hand which may be most helpful for a No Trump. To deny No Trump assistance by bidding two Clubs would be foolish.

5. South should play the Queen of Spades. Of course it would be advantageous for South to play small, retaining the Queen and Ten as that would give him two more Sapde tricks if West could be forced to lead another Spade; but that would take the Ace of Spades from Dummy on this trick and leave Dummy without an entry for his Clubs, and such entry is essential.

6. South should lead the Jack of Clubs and, unless West paly the Ace, North should play the Queen, so as to get in the lead and establish Clubs while he still has the Spade Ace as an entry.

Definite Sum For Spending Money Urged

Fixed Amount Will Teach Child Value of Nickels and Dimes — 20 Cents a Week Enough for Youths Under 6.

By MRS. AGNES LYNE.

"GIVE me a nickel. Please give me a nickel!" These are words familiar to the ears of thousands of mothers. In the nickel given and spent for no particular reason lies the germ of serious trouble later on.

The mother who, now and then, gives her child spending money in varying amounts, impresses on him the idea that almost any sum of money is to be had for the asking, and that the amount obtained depends on the momentary affection or caprice of another.

Far better to make the child understand that like the older members of the family, he, too, has a definite income for his personal expenditure, given to him in proportion to his needs. Thus he accepts without question the fact that his older brother has more spending money than he. At the same time he is never tempted to use the affection people have for him as a means to get money.

The child under 6 should never have more than 15 or 20 cents a week, although, for older children, the allowance should be set at an amount proper to the scale of family expenditure. Once the amount has been fixed it should never be increased nor advances made on it for the wish of the moment.

Let the youngster learn to deny himself of ice cream today so that he will be able to buy that box of crayons he wants tomorrow. Let him find out that if he spends all his money at once his pockets will go empty until next pay day. Let him buy what he wants so long as it will not injure his health. Only by experiencing the disappointment that comes of spending money foolishly will he learn to spend wisely.

It is a common method of discipline to deduct money from a child's allowance as a punishment for misconduct. It would be better to find some other penalty. For if the child who neglects to put his toys away is fined 10 cents he will soon learn to bargain with his duties and obligations on a cash basis. One day he may decide that it is worth 10 cents to him to be relieved of an irksome task.

The fixed allowance teaches the child the value of money through its use. It leads him to expect money only through proper channels. It can be used to make plain to him that right and wrong have no price.

Dancing at Marathons Is Not Hurtful

No Organic Injuries to Health Found in Any Competitor in Recent 11-Day Contest—Seen More as Sleep Test.

To the limit of space, questions pertinent to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

MARATHON DANCES AND HEALTH.

DANCING eleven days in a Marathon contest causes no organic injury, according to Dr. Max Thorek. After a recent Marathon dancing contest Dr. Thorek made thorough examinations of the four winners, two men and two women. All were found organically sound. The hearts were not enlarged and showed no evidence of strain. The urine examination did not indicate any disorder of the kidneys. The blood pressures, both systolic and diastolic, were below what is commonly regarded as normal.

One woman winner, 21 years of age, had a blood pressure that registered lower than 100 at every test except one. The only winner who had a systolic pressure over 120 was a man 27 years of age, and his average was 122. The blood sugar percentage was low. One of the winners was a man 27 years of age who had had his thyroid removed eight years before. Just prior to this Marathon he had walked 2,500 miles, dropping out of that match because of a strained ligament in his ankle.

A condition of this dancing contest was that the dancer must be on the floor and in motion for 45 minutes out of each hour, day and night, from the start until the contest closed. The other fifteen minutes of the hour could be divided, at the dancer's wish, between sleeping, toilet purposes, bathing, massaging, dressing, and resting. The total time in 24 hours thus to be divided was six hours. The dancing was very slow. In fact, the feet scarcely moved. The job was to keep awake, to maintain the upright posture, and to keep moving somewhat.

Nothing in this could be expected to strain the heart particularly. There was no danger of any one being winded. The organ to be watched, if we can judge by running and walking endurance contests, is the kidney. None of these four showed any kidney abnormality worth speaking of. One had a trace of albumin and one other had a few hyaline casts.

In so far as we can judge from the evidence, Marathon dancing does approximate Marathon running in the strain thrown on the kidneys. A person can live for a long time, perhaps months, on six hours' sleep daily. Napoleon is said to have taken much less than that whenever he was in the midst of a hard military campaign. It is probable that these four people managed to average three hours' sleep in each of the eleven days. Two of them fell asleep while dancing and one had "two hours of delirium, but preserved clearness of mind."

The test was in reality a test of ability to run a number of days on a very small allowance of sleep.

SUBSTITUTES FOR BREAD.

Mrs. C. M. writes:

1. I am overweight and I believe it is due to a great deal of bread that I eat with every meal. I always feel empty when bread does not accompany my meal. What can I substitute for bread? I have no trouble in omitting other starches.

2. Is there anything one can do to curb a large appetite? There is a constant hunger for more food all the time.

REPLY.

1. Assuming that you are right you might try eating diabetic breads. Those made from soy beans contain almost no usable carbohydrates. The same is true of casein breads. You can fill your stomach with cabbage, turnips and other filling but low calorie foods.

2. You can fool your stomach by filling it with the bulky low caloric foods referred to.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES McDONALD

Sixteen and Soul.

DEAR Miss McDonald: After reading some of the wonderful advice you have given to your correspondents through your daily newspaper column, I have decided to turn to you for the same in my case.

I am a girl of 16, and although my age will make you think I am just a child, I want you to think differently. I am much older in my ways, in my appearance and in thought.

To get right to the point, Miss McDonald, I am discontented with everything. Nothing seems to please me. I cry at night and I refuse many dates with fellows because they don't please me.

Everything bothers me. I despise crowds, and when I have many people around me I could just scream. I try to be as sociable as I can. I feel as though I want to be a million miles away from every one.

When I accept dates with fellows, I can't wait until I get home so I can be alone. My life seems to be so dull.

I will look forward to your answer, and I thank you very much. LOUISE.

Louise, dear, I have always been so glad that when I was 16 and filled with disgust for every-day life, my darling mother, instead of sending for the doctor, presented me with a set of Walter Scott's Waverly novels and a dear little set of Shakespeare. From then on I lived for two years in a world very little below the clouds. I was Mary, Queen of Scotland; I was Rowena, I was every great and lovely lady that ever breathed a deep, sad sigh. It was heavenly. And do you know, sometimes still, when my soul grows weary with courtrooms and with people, I take my little leather-covered book with all its lovely memories, and sink myself within its lustrous pages until I sigh again as Juliette or weep as Egypt's dying queen.

Louise, 16 is a lovely age; but it is difficult. It is an age when nothing seems quite real, an age when there comes to us the ability to suffer without physical cause. We sense some force beyond us that we can not name. We see the world about us for the first time with adult eyes. We are chagrined. And what we need is to forget ourselves for just a little while. And what is a more fascinating way have lived before us, weep with them and pray with them, die as they die and triumph as they triumph.

Try it, Louise. Watch from a battlement as your brave knight draws near. Trail silken trains and offer white fingers to be kissed, and soon you will have passed the milestone and will look once more upon the world; and this time you will not weep, but you will smile, for locked within you will be something of the wisdom of all women who have even been—for you be a woman. Try it.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor.

A Letter to a Daughter.

DEAREST Mary: Your father is an old dear but he's lost when it comes to writing a letter to his daughter at college. The old dear is so busy keeping us alive that his ideas about women fit the eighteenth century. So we have talked things over and I am delegated to write this combination paternal letter. It represents Dad's thoughts as well as my own.

We don't want you to go to school and come home with frazzled nerves. All the algebra and higher mathematics in the universe are not worth a Model T (Dad's phrase) beside good nerves. You'll need them when you have a husband and some children. We want you to be healthy—healthy all over—healthy minded, healthy spirited and healthy in body. Play tennis, basketball, baseball—anything—walk, swim, run, row, paddle, ride. But be healthy and game. That's the word game—I want you game. No girl who is game in the best sense of the word ever went wrong in morals or study or life.

We want you to learn balance. Get the right balance between book and social activities; the balance between being liked by everybody and yet keeping your own self-respect; the balance between thinking liberally and acting conservatively; the balance between duty to the moment and duty to the eternal; the balance between yourself as an individual and as a member of human society.

We expect you to know boys at school. You will dance with them, go to parties, picnics and rides. You will have your little love affairs as I did. You will dream your dreams. God bless them. If you are healthy-minded you'll have the time of your life. The friendships you will establish, the knowledge you will gain of the fineness of many boys when in the companionship of girls, and the outlets you will have for your bubbling spirits will make a lasting impression on you. School is one of your big experiences, perhaps the biggest. See to it that you can face everybody with a clear eye.

I have almost forgotten about books, Mary Jane. You see, these other things are so very important. If your mind runs to mathematics you may become a teacher, or even an architect or engineer. If to science, I hope that it will lead you toward an experimental career. I can not seem to express myself about this book business. Of course, I want you to be "smart," as Dad says, but I don't want you to be so smart that women and boys will be afraid of you. Have you a brain? Yes, of course; but don't scare people off.

You are going to earn your own way in life. Don't forget that. If you wish you can go on to college and into post-graduate work. You are one of these new women who can be in business, than to live the loves of those who research, profession, store or shop and "still be a woman" (whatever that may mean). You will have to go "on your own" after leaving school. Be prepared for a vocation in which you have faith and training. Master it so that you can call your life your own and look upon this world unafraid.

We hope you marry and have children. This is the best way to get all there is from life. A husband is worse than an original problem in geometry, because there, at least, you have a hypothesis and a Q. E. D. Some men are like one equation with three unknowns and you haven't data enough to solve. That's one reason why I want you to know boys before you gamble in the marriage game.

Babies are problems. The little dears! Your course in biology should give you an appreciation of life and its functions. Your knowledge of influences of heredity will sober you and give reason to pause before taking the first boy who offers his hand in marriage. Your familiarity with values of environment will point the way that you can overcome the forces of inheritance. Your readiness in keeping an open mind will help you to interpret new ideas in baby care, and your common sense, I hope, will keep you from letting crazy notions of child upbringing disturb your balance.

Cooking—just plain everyday cooking—I have taught you. How you could cook when you were a little girl! Now you are too high and mighty to wash dishes, mend and cook. Well! Perhaps the domestice science work in school will have a maximum "science" and a minimum "domestic" in it to appeal to you. I certainly hope so, because if science can conquer the air, glide over the water and sink into the depths of the earth it surely can get into the homes and make life easier for women with children and husbands. If your "domestic science" will make you domestic enough for your husband and scientific enough to improve your mind I'll be satisfied.

P. S.—I forgot about current events, history, literature and all those things which will keep you up to date. Your mother has kept pretty close to the tub and sink and doesn't know much. Your father belongs to lunch clubs, lodges and societies. He meets people all the time. Without lifting his finger he keeps abreast of the times. All I have is the back yard fence and with all due respect to Mrs. Jones she's a cackling hen. If I had my life to live over again I'd go in for books, real people music—anything which would give me a chance to be somebody.

P. S. 2—Say, Mary Jane, I have it! You are going to be what I have not been, and that's why you are going to school—to surpass your mother in the great game of living. Bless you, Mary Jane. YOUR LOVING MOTHER.

Olive and Palm Oils

The basis of a true complexion soap to use with make-up

Daily cleansing Nature's absolute rule if the charm of natural loveliness is to be yours.

HERE is the beauty method millions practice every night before bed to gain the charm of natural loveliness.

It starts with complete, and proper removal of the make-up—the grime and grease exuded from the pores—at least once daily.

Massage your face with the abundant lather of olive and palm oils as found in Palmolive Soap. It is a soap made for beauty, nothing else. And no other soap combines, in scientific blend, these beautifying oils.

Spend several minutes at your basin doing this. Use your two hands—that's Nature's way. The creamy, soothing lather thoroughly penetrates each tiny pore—gently releases their accumulation of soil and powder and rouge.

Then rinse your face carefully, first with warm water, then cold. And pat the skin with a soft towel until it's dry. A dab of cold cream to ward off dryness is the last touch. That is all, but it's Nature's way to that schoolgirl complexion.

Just be sure you get Palmolive—that's important. 10c cake, anywhere. Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company, Chicago, Illinois.

Many Stocks Recover Early Losses—Call Rate Soars to 8 Per Cent.

FORTY NEW TOPS SCORED

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 4.—Traders on the New York Stock Exchange came back after the holiday in an uncertain frame of mind as to credit conditions and with a leaning toward the selling side. Uneasiness was heightened by predictions in some quarters that a real squeeze would develop in the call money market.

Call money did advance from the renewal rate of 7½ per cent to 8 per cent around noon. Before this development, however, stocks had receded all along the line. But when it became apparent that the call rate would go no higher today, at least, traders began to buy and the tide was turned, many stocks recovering their early losses and others advancing well beyond Saturday's last quotations.

Even in the early backward movement several stocks were pushed up regardless of the doubtful credit situation. Altogether about 40 issues touched new highs for the year or longer, and three or four new lows. The turnover was in excess of 3,750,000 shares.

The long awaited stringency in the money market incident to the $500,000,000 shifting of funds, withdrawals of corporation cash from the call market when under the limit of $100,000 fixed by the clearing house rule, which took effect today, and other settlements incident to the first full business day of September were responsible for the higher call rate, but the tightness of the market was not as great as many expected and banks called only about $30,000,000.

As against the firmness of time money, which held at 6½ per cent for all maturities, an optimistic note was struck in the acceptance market and 150 and 180 day bills dropped ⅛ per cent, to 5 per cent bid, 4⅞ per cent asked. This was the second reduction on the yield of these bills in a period of less than a week, and reflects, not a reduction in the Federal Reserve Bank buying rate but activity on the part of dealers.

The season of larger operations has got under way and an effort is being made to place the American market on a parity with London in order that too much business will not be attracted to that center. Making allowance for stamp tax, &c., the American market is now close to parity with the London bill market.

Most of the heavy pressure in the early trading today was against the very conspicuous leaders, General Motors, United States Steel, Radio, International Nickel, Hupp and Chrysler, but these all turned sharply upward in the late trading. General Motors finished with a net advance of 2 points, Hupp with 3⅞, at a new peake price, and the others ended in the minus line despite their late rallies.

Gains and losses on the day were about evenly divided, both extending to over 7 points. Among the outstanding net gainers were American Linseed, at a new high, up 11 points; Electric Storage Battery, also at a new top, up 7¼; American Car & Foundry, 4⅜; American & Foreign Power, 4⅞; Coca Cola, 5⅜; Columbia Gas, 4⅞; Fox Film A, 4⅞; Gold Dust, 4⅛; General Railway Signal, 6⅞; Kroger, 3⅜; Magma Copper, 4⅝; North American, 3⅝; Purity Bakery, 4¾; Warner Bros. Pictures, 19, and Warner A, 21½, both at new peake prices for all time.

There was hardly a break in the advance of Hupp, Warner Brothers, Gold Dust, Packard, Linseed and Columbia Gas. Toward the close, as the whole list grew stronger and more active, some of these issues that had started so quietly were hogging the spotlight, with Warner conspicuous.

More important, though, than the rallies of these secondary industrials was the wholesale buying of rails, which reached its height in the last hour. Baltimore & Ohio, Atchison, Reading and New York Central were in especially high favor. Demand for the Warner stocks was so urgent as to give it all the earmarks of an effort on the part of a badly beaten short interest to extricate itself. Other amusement stocks naturally were stimulated by the demonstration in this issue, including Fox Film and Paramount Famous.

Prominent among the independent motors which stepped up to new record levels on huge dealings was Graham-Paige. Basis for the strength here was to be found in the company's production figures for August, showing an increase of more than 24 per cent over the rate of output in July. Heavy buying of Continental Can developed with the appearance of unconfirmable reports that directors of the company are contemplating a capital readjustment.

Although it later reached ¾ point from its new top, Kennecott Copper sold above 100 for the first time. Its advance to that price in the last few years has been slow but certain.

Moderate strength was shown again in most European exchanges, despite the money market advance, which sometimes is an adverse factor. Sterling gained an insignificant fraction, as did lire, while French francs were unchanged and Swiss and Belgian rates slightly lower. German marks improved a point, Danish kroner yielded as much and Norwegian ¾ point, but Swedish kroner held firm. Yen were a trifle easier after Saturday's spurt. Other Far Eastern rates were little changed. In the South American division, Argentine pesos fell to a new low for the year at 42 3-16 cents for paper pesos cables. Canadian dollars were steady.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Opening advances in the cotton market today, promoted by unfavorable weather reports and relatively firm Liverpool cables, were followed by reactions under liquidation combined with local and Southern selling. December contracts declined from 18.83 to 18.65 and closed at that figure with the general market closing barely steady net unchanged to 7 points higher.

The opening was steady at an advance of 13 to 22 points. Active months sold 22 to 25 points net higher in early trading on covering and trade or commission house buying, inspired by reports of rains in the Eastern and Central belts over the holidays and the relatively firm showing of Liverpool. Demand was supplied by realizing while there also seemed to be extensive Southern hedging in early trdaing, the market soon turned easier. Trading tapered off on the reaction and prices steadied up a few points after publication of the detailed weather reports showing heavy rainfall since the close last Friday. The bulges, however, met considerable cotton, and there was a renewal of Southern selling in late trading which sent prices off to 18.81 for October and 18.58 for March, or back to nearly Friday's closing quotations. Closing prices were at the lowest of the day on most positions.

Two or three more private end-month crop reports were published. One made the condition of the crop 59.3 and indicated yield 14,641,000 bales. Another placed the condition of the crop at 58.8 and the indicated yield at 14,484,000 bales, while another report placed the indicated yield at only 13,995,000 bales. These figures appeared to be without appreciable influence on the market, which local brokers said was pretty much dominated by uncertainty of showing of the approaching Government report.

Private cables said there had been American and continental buying in Liverpool combined with trade calling and covering on reports of rain in the South, and failure of the bullish features mentioned early to create a more general demand was supposed to account for realizing on liquidation in later trading.

Exports today 7,925 bales, making 33,021 so far this season. Port receipts, 32,071. United States port stocks, 518,923.

BONDS REMAIN FIRM IN REDUCED TRADING

FOREIGNS FAIRLY ACTIVE

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Trading was slightly less active but prices were firm on the bond market today, with rails and convertibles prominent among issues making small gains. Calling of around $25,000,000 in loans by banks was regarded as an aftermath of the Labor Day demand for funds and apparently had little effect on the market. Time money held steady despite the rise of call money to 8 per cent.

Strength of Barnsdall 6s, which touched a new year's high at 107½, and of Public Service of New Jersey 4½s, which closed about a point higher after losing part of the early gain, was a feature of the industrial group. Coppers were under pressure, Anaconda and Andes 7s both selling off around a point. Humble Oil 5½s, International Cement 5s, General Motors Acceptance 6s, Goodyear Tire 5s, Otis Steel 6s A and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s closed fractionally higher.

With the exception of a few secondary issues the railroad group sought higher levels. Pennsylvania 4s, Erie convertible 4s B, New York Central 3½s and a few others closed a point or more higher, demand for railroad liens apparently being based on the renewed strength of railroad stocks and publication of improved earnings reports.

The foreign list was fairly active, but price movements were irregular. Republic of Chile 6s of 1961 sagged.

United States Government obligations were lightly traded, but showed improvement in prices.

Public offering wil be made tomorrow of $5,000,000 Utilities Service Co. of Ohio first lien 6 per cent gold bonds, proceeds to be used in acquiring securities of a group of Ohio power, telephone and ice companies which are to be consolidated. Detroit banking houses will offer $3,000,000 Graham-Paige Motors Corporation 6 per cent sinking fund debentures, proceeds to be used as an addition to working capital.

The Light of Polaris

THE last star in the handle of the little dipper is Polaris, the North Star that has guided the mariners of many ages on their true courses. Gaze tonight at Polaris and you will see it as it was forty years ago. For although light travels at the tremendous speed of 186,000 miles per second, it has taken until now for the light of forty years ago to reach your eye.

The light of forty years ago—fifty-nine years ago—is reflected in the record of Swartzell, Rheem and Hensey Company. During this long span of years this company has been offering for investment First Mortgages secured on Washington property and during that time no investor has ever lost a dollar of principal or interest.

You, perhaps, have never invested in a First Mortgage note. If that is the case, let us explain to you how simple, how safe and how free from care or worry such investment is. You may start with as little as $100.

Alabama Power Company

First and Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds

5% Series due 1968

Dated September 1, 1928. Due September 1, 1968

Interest payable March 1 and September 1 in New York City without deduction for Federal Income Tax not exceeding 2% per annum. Pennsylvania Four Mills Tax refundable on appropriate request. Callable at 104 through September 1, 1933; thereafter at gradually reducing premium. Coupon and fully registered Bonds. Guaranty Trust Company of New York, Trustee.

The first and refunding mortgage gold bonds, 4½% series due 1967, are on the advance list dated March 30, 1928, of public utility bonds considered legal for savings bank investment under the provisions of the 1928 amendments of the banking law of the State of New York, and the company will promptly make application to the superintendent of banks for the listing of these bonds.

The Issue of these Bonds is subject to approval by the Alabama Public Service Commission

Information regarding the Company, these Bonds and the security therefor is given in a letter signed by Mr. Thomas W. Martin, President of the Company, copies of which will be furnished on request. This information is summarized in part as follows:

Alabama Power Company (organized November 10, 1927, under the laws of Alabama as a consolidation of the former company of the same name with Gulf Electric Company and Houston [Alabama] Power Company) is one of the principal subsidiaries of Southeastern Power & Light Company and one of the largest hydro-electric companies in this country. The present installed generating capacity of the plants owned by the Company aggregates 498,130 hp. of which over 73% is hydro-electric. In addition, the Company has available, through lease or contract, 177,850 hp. of hydro capacity and 118,760 hp. of standby steam capacity.

The First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, are secured by a first mortgage on important transmission and distribution properties in southern Alabama and participate in the security of the first mortgage of the former Alabama Power Company on practically all of the remainder of the physical properties owned by the Company, through pledge of $37,000,000 First Mortgage Lien and Refunding Bonds, for the security of which (and of the bonds of that issue with the public) there are in turn pledged $53,552,000 of such first mortgage bonds and $1,276,000 divisional bonds. In addition the First and Refunding Mortgage Bonds are secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a general lien on all the remainder of the physical properties owned by the Company, subject to underlying mortgages under which $34,708,700 bonds are outstanding in the hands of the public.

For the twelve months' periods ended July 31, 1928 and 1927 the combined earnings of the companies consolidated to form Alabama Power Company were as follows:

Gross earnings, including other income*	$17,127,034	$16,273,050
Operating expenses, maintenance and taxes	7,239,922	8,103,407
Net earnings	$9,887,112	$8,169,643
Annual interest on funded debt with public (including this issue)	4,285,235
Balance for other interest, renewals and replacements, dividends, etc.	$5,601,877

Net Earnings 2.3 Times the Above Interest Charges

* Does not include interest during construction capitalized amounting during the twelve months ended July 31, 1928, to $1,043,432 and during the preceding period to $745,181.

The depreciated reproduction value of the properties of the Company is very largely in excess of the $89,708,700 mortgage bonds to be outstanding with the public upon completion of this financing, the substantial equity being represented by 286,107 shares of Preferred Stock, $12,170,000 One Hundred Year Gold Debenture Certificates and 2,356,753 shares of Common Stock. The Gold Debenture Certificates have a contingent interest in the balance available after the payment of preferred stock dividends.

We Recommend These Bonds for Investment

Price 99½ and Interest, Yielding Over 5%

Bonds are offered for delivery when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of counsel; it is expected that temporary Bonds will be available for delivery on or about September 26, 1928.

Farrell Fails To Qualify For Title

National Open Winner Can Not Play for U. S. Pro Crown.

Card 2 Strokes High; Leo Diegel Tops 10 N. Y. Qualifiers.

FLUSHING, N. Y., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Johnny Farrell, national open golf champion, failed to qualify for the Professional Golfers Association championship in the Metropolitan District qualifying round here today.

Farrell, evidently far off his game, scored two rounds of 76 for a total of 152, two strokes beyond the last qualifying score. Another who failed to qualify was Joe Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., who was runner-up to Walter Hagen for the pro title last year.

Leo Diegel, Canadian open champion, led the field of 78 with 137 for the 36-hol test to determine who the Metropolitan district's ten representatives in the P. G. A. championship would be.

Second place today went to Jimmy Golden with 144. Gene Sarazen, of Fresh Meadow, was a stroke back of Golden, as was Bill Mehlhorn, of Fenimore.

Diegel shot subpar golf to lead the field. His morning round of 69 was one under par and he bettered this with a 68 in the afternoon. His cards:

92.8 Miles Per Hour New Speedboat Mark

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Piloting Miss America VII in six heats of one nautical mile each, George Wood, brother of Gar Wood, designer of the boat, set a new world record of 92.838 statute miles an hour here today.

Three heats were run with the current and three against it, with the slowest mile covered at an average of 91.926 statute miles per hour and the fastest in 93.722.

The average erased all records for speedboats and even eliminated the mark of 74.4 nautical miles per hour, established by Etab L. Farnum's hydroglider, a boat driven by an aerial propeller. It also bettered by more than 12 miles an hour George Wood's unofficial mark of 80.567 made with Miss America II in 1921.

Former Ring Champion Hangs Self in France

Paris, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Fred Bretonell, ex-champion featherweight boxer of France, committed suicide this afternoon. Britonell, who was only 23 years old, hanged himself and was believed to have taken his own life because of family troubles. He was very popular in France, where he was known as the ring man who could "box like Carpentier and fight like Ledoux."

While still in his teens, Bretonell won the featherweight championship of France and held it until October 7, 1924, when he was defeated for the title by Lucien Vinez.

GOLF professionals from Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia will compete tomorrow on the Indian Spring course in a qualifying round for eligibility to contest in the annual championship of the Professional Golfers Association to be played on the Five Farms course, near Baltimore, during the first week in October.

A. F. Bergman, secretary-treasurer of the Middle Atlantic Professional Golfers Association, announced yesterday that the entry list already contained the names of Tommy Armour, former national open chmapion, professional at the Congressional Country Club, and Ralph Beach, formerly of Chevy Chase and Burning Tree and now connected with the Suburban Club, of Baltimore, both of whom qualified last year.

In addition to the professionals from Washington and Baltimore, the entry list includes James Donachee, Fountain Head Club, Hagerstown, Md.; William Schreiber, Catoctin Club, Frederick, Md., and Frank Goss, Cumberland, Md. It is expected that the field will include between 30 and 40 professionals, but only 2 can qualify.

Secretary Bergman stated that there would be no preliminary pairings. Partners will be drawn by lot at the first tee tomorrow morning.

Nearly all of the golf professionals from the Middle Atlantic district have been playing practice rounds on the Indian Spring course during the past week or ten days. Yesterday Tommy Armour negotiated the course in 72 strokes, one over par. With Tony Penna, one of the assistant professionals at the Congressional Country Club, as his partner, he defeated Ralph Beach and Fred McLeod, the Columbia Club professional. The latter has not been playing his normal game since his return from the national open and is not hopeful of being able to qualify tomorrow.

Knute Hansen Banned By New York Fight Body

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The current controversy over who owns the services of Knute Hansen resulted in the big Danish heavyweight boxer being suspended today by the New York State Athletic Commission for failure to appear to answer the various claims which have been made to his services.

At the same time, however, Humbert J. Fugazy was given permission to stage a charity show October 12, in which he hopes to feature a fifteen-round bout between Roberto Roberti, Italian contender, and Hansen. Fugazy filed a contract in which Roberti agreed to fight Hansen for nothing for charity's sake.

Hansen's difficulties with the commission at present rest only on his failure to appear, and it is expected the suspension will be lifted when he answers the commission's summons.

Hansen, who has been picked by Tex Rickard as the man most likely to win the heavyweight crown, has canceled his contract with Walter Freedman, New York sportsman, who is registered with the commission as his manager, having done so in accordance with a clause in that document giving him the right to abrogate it at any time.

Army Omits Navy Game From 1929 Grid Schedule

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—There will be no Army-Navy football game for at least two more years. This much can be said definitely and the probability is, barring unexpected developments, that the service rivals who split over eligibility issues last year will remain apart for a good deal longer.

The Army has completed its 1929 schedule without the Navy being included. It will be announced in full within a day or two and likely will cover as widely representative a scope as this season's slate which embraces contests with Southern Methodist, Nebraska, Notre Dame, Stanford, Yale and Harvard, among a few others.

Likewise it is understood all the major games on the West Point list for 1930 have been agreed upon, again to the exclusion of the Naval Academy.

Talk of a compromise between the service rivals, current within the past week, appears, therefore, to have no foundation. This is not because there has been any widening of the breach, but merely because the points of view of the two institutions are too radically different at present to permit any compromise.

Elements in and out of both academies unquestionably would like to get them together again on the gridiron, as well as on other athletic fields. These elements may help to smooth matters over or they may hinder, according to the point of view, but few of those well informed on the situation at either academy views a reconciliation as very likely or even possible for some time to come.

It may be of interest to disclose now the fundamental reason why West Point scheduled this season as tough a list of games, and as representative a slate as any team in the country with the possible exception of Notre Dame. It is because of the charge made last fall, that bigger colleges throughout the country would in effect boycott the Cadets because their football ranks did not bar players of college experience.

Ripley May Not Return As Coach of G. U. Five

Special to The Washington Post.

Wildwood, N. J., Sept. 4.—Elmer Ripley may not return as coach of the Georgetown University Basketball Team, it was learned here today. Ripley conferred here with Athletic Director Lou Little, who is in charge of the Georgetown football camp, regarding plans for the coming season which received a setback when the Arcadia was remodeled into bowling alleys, depriving Georgetown of a suitable site for its games.

Little seeks to engineer Ripley's return and the latter would like to coach at Georgetown, but with the schedule likely to be affected by the lack of spacious gymnasium his return at the same terms is not certain. It was announced today that Georgetown will compete in the Yale tournament at New Haven in which Holy Cross, New York University, Syracuse, Vermont and Fordham also are entered.

Robins Win 8th in Row; Beat Braves in Pair

Boston, Mass., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Brooklyn took a double header from the Braves today, winning the first game, 3 to 2, in ten innings, and the second by a 9-to-3 score. The Robins have now a record of winning eight straight games here, losing only the first game they played.

Phils Split With Giants As Williams Hits Homer

Philadelphia, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Cy Williams' home run with one on and two out in the ninth inning gave the Phillies an 8 to 7 victory over the Giants in the second game of a double-header today after New York had taken the opener, 9 to 4.

Jack Scott, put in the box in the last inning to hold the Giants' one-run lead, gained while Fitzsimmons was pitching, threw a ball Williams liked after Klein had singled and Williams promptly sent the ball over the right-field fence. Leach, for the Phillies, and Welsh, for the Giants, also hit homers in this game.

New York apparently had the game sewed up in the early innings but the Phils put on a closing rush, scoring two runs in the sixth, and two more in the eighth to get within striking distance of the Giants.

In the opener Bill Terry hit his third homer in two days while Chuck Klein got one for the Phillies.

Dr. Peltzer Suspended By German Sports Body

Berlin, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Dr. Otto Peltzer, holder of the world's record for the 800-meter run, has been suspended by the German Athletic Federation. The ban will not be lifted until he explains why he failed to appear here last Sunday for the Franco-German meet. He was entered in both the 800 and 1,500 meter events.

Managers of the meet had no word from him except a brief last-minute telegram, announcing that he would not compete. His suspension means that he can not participate in the international meet in Paris next Saturday and Sunday.

G. U. GRIDMEN TO SPEED UP WORK

Anselmo Here From Wildwood Camp for Treatments.

By ARTHUR A. HEYWOOD,
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

WILDWOOD, N. J., Sept. 4.—The members of the Georgetown University football squad, which is spending two weeks of preliminary conditioning at the Wildwood Country Club, went to bed here tonight fully cognizant of what the morrow may bring, for Head Coach Lou Little stated that the players may don regular football regalia tomorrow for the first time. Heretofore, the players have been working out in light pants and shirts and football shoes. This does not mean that the squad will scrimmage, for strenuous work will not be attempted until possibly next week, but it does mean that operations will be speeded up.

Quite a party of spectators witnessed the squad go through a stiff morning and afternoon workout today, among which was Elmer Ripley, former professional basketball player with the Palace Club of Washington, and Harry "Babe" Connaughton, all-American guard and tackle at Georgetown in 1926. Ripley, who coached the Hilltop basketball team last year for the first time, drove in at breakfast time from Staten Island, accompanied by three friends. Connaughton arrived from Philadelphia during the morning drill.

Aspiring linemen seemed to be bearing the brunt of it all as Head Coach Degrossa had them down charging, blocking and wrestling, while the remainder of the coaches were concentrating their efforts on a squad picked to run through plays. Coach Lou Little selected the same line as yesterday, with the exception that Morriss worked at center in place of Wynkoop.

Scalzi, Hannigan and Gardener alternated at calling the signals and the latter looked the most impressive. Dwyer, Bozek, Barbaras, Schmidt and Leary alternated at the other back positions as the new formations were tried.

In the hope of making Americo Anselmo available for service this season, Coach Little ordered the player to Washington today to report to the Georgetown team's physician in the hope that he can bring a shoulder, dislocated last year, back to normalcy. Albert Kilbouris, who has been suffering with a dislocated collarbone, is being treated by an Atlantic City bone specialist.

Ripley and his party and Connaughton will remain over for a day or two. Connaughton is down to 225 pounds and plans to play football this fall with either the New York Giants or the Chicago Bears. He does not want to return to the Yellow Jackets.

Helen Wills Defeated by Mercur

Tennis Queen Bows to 15th Ranking Male Star, 6-4, 6-4.

Wins in Added Third Set, 6-4; Foe Was Out to Win.

By F. G. VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept 4 (A.P.). Helen Wills, supreme in tennis over all the women in the world, met her match today in a mere man—Fritz Mercur—but gained a moral victory when she won an added third set in which Mercur mostly confined himself to baseline duelling.

The match went far to decide the question of whether the phenomenal woman player from Berkeley, at her peak, can defeat one of the country's top ranking men. "He was too good," was Helen's smiling comment.

Mercur won the match by scores of 6—3, 6—4, exactly the same figures by which Helen scored over him in an exhibition match here August 18. Then, playing another set at the woman champion's request she won it at 6—4.

"He really was playing hard in the first two sets didn't you think?" said Helen as she walked to the clubhouse scarcely breathing hard after the closely contested three sets.

"In the third set I don't think he tried quite so much."

This was exactly the version of Mercur, the young Lehigh University graduate and insurance salesman, who ranks fifteenth among the men players of the United States. He was out to win the match, he said, quite frankly. "In the third set I wanted to see if I could beat her without volleying," said Fritz.

That third set was packed with drama and great baseline tennis. Out of it Helen emerged triumphant, peer even of Mercur, conqueror recently of Bill Tilden and George Lott, at backhand and forehand driving from long range. Occasionally so strong was Miss Wills' ground game, Mercur found himself forgetting his resolve and sallying into the forecourt to take those scorchers on the wing. Miss Wills' game reached its apex in this set and she had Mercur running back and forth along the baseline as desperately as she has the women stars she has met and mowed down.

One hundred persons braved a threat of rain to see a match which it was widely understood was to be in dead earnest. Miss Wills' previous victory over Mercur had been taken somewhat lightly and Miss Wills wanted this chance to try her shots against his without fear of feminine favor. Mercur obliged.

Flashing her best tennis after losing the match, Miss Wills came from behind in the third set which was played "for fun" at her request.

The point scores:

Girls' Champion Enters Men's Swim Race Today

Toronto, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Olive Gatterdam, 16-year-old Seattle girl who finished second in the 10-mile women's Wrigley marathon race last Wednesday, will be one of the swimmers in the 15-mile men's race tomorrow.

Miss Gatterdam said that she was very anxious to compete in the event and that she wanted her mother, who arrived in Toronto today, to "see her trying."

"I'll be able to swim so much better if I know she is waiting for me at the finish," Miss Gatterdam said.

Four other American girls, who finished in the first five Wednesday, are eligible to compete in the men's division, but as yet have made no definite decision, they are Ethel Hertle, of New York, the winner; Ruth Tower, of Denver; Janes Thoms, of Terre Haute, Ind., and Anna Benoit, of Westfield, Mass. They finished in that order behind Miss Gatterdam.

Thorpe Greatest, Rockne Says; Jones Hands Palm to Oliphant

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Who was the greatest ball-carrier of all time? It isn't often that two such competent authorities as Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame, and Biff Jones, of the Army, may debate this same question at the same luncheon table. Yet it was accomplished today, at a function given by Christy Walsh to these two coaches, as well as to T. A. D. Jones, of Yale.

Rockne's choice is Jim Thorpe, the old Sac and Fox Indian. Jones' selection is Elmer Oliphant, the Purdue product who romped the West Point plains.

Jones, in handing the palm to Oliphant, yields a bit by admitting he did not see Thorpe in action. Rockne, who watched both, and played against Thorpe, remarks:

"Oliphant was a wonder but I pick Thorpe, not only as the greatest ball-carrier of all time but as the greatest all-around football player."

"Rock," it should be added, has had a few superlative performers under his own wing at Notre Dame, from the late George Gipp down to Christy Flanagan.

Of Oliphant, with whom he played at West Point, Jones says:

"He could do anything and do it brilliantly. He was a great open field runner, could pass with the best of them, punt or place-kick. He carried the ball fully half the time in all our games and all the time when it was a question of needing ground badly in his career at West Point I recall time out being called only once for Oliphant."

Mackenzie Withdraws From Gold Mashie Play

Newport, R. I., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—George Von Elm increased his lead to 15 strokes over the rest of the field in the gold mashie golf tournament here today when he turned in a 67 and a 71, bringing his total for the first 54 holes up to 203. The final 18 holes will be played tomorrow.

Watts Gunn, of Atlanta, Ga., had a good afternoon round and he jumped into second place with a total of 218, ousting Max Marston, who finished the day tied for third place with Jess Sweetser with 219.

Roland Mackenzie made a 34 on his first trip about T. Suffren Taller's private nine-hole course this morning but blew up on the second round and withdrew from the tournament.

Other scores for the 54 holes were Dick Jones, Harrison Johnston and Eddie Driggs, 221; Maurice McCarthy, D. Clark Cornkran and Francis Ouimet, 223; Eustace Storey and Tommy Taller, jr., 224; Jack Gilbert, 225; John Anderson, 230.

JONES SAVED FOR YANKS TODAY

Nats to Open 5-Game Series With Champs in New York.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE Nationals left for New York last night where they open a five-game set with the world's champions this afternoon with a double-header. "Sad Sam" Jones, who beat the Yankees here last Thursday, was saved over to try to repeat the dose in one of these games, while Bobby Burke, who has been showing plenty of stuff in practice recently, will toil in the other engagement. Miller Huggins' small staff has been worked so much of late that there is no reliable forecast of which moundmen he will call on.

In view of their two victories in the three games played here last week and of the fact that both Waite Hoyt and George Pipgras, the New York pitching aces, were pounded off the peak, the Harrismen are confident of taking at least three of the five with a possibility of doing even better than this.

Connie Mack certainly is paying high for coaching this season, Eddie Collins and Tris Speaker doing most of it and little else. Mack's fungo hitting to outfielders before games also is an expensive item, for "Bullet Joe" Bush does most of this. The former Nat pitcher has started but one game for the A's this season and has done no relief work to speak of.

Pitcher John Stephens, captain of this year's University of Virginia Nine, who craves a job with the Nationals, is not of the big league caliber in Manager Harris' opinion and was so advised yesterday.

Manager Harris stated yesterday that he does not expect to give "Bullet" Jim Weaver a chance as a starter until after the Man Monument has been tried and made good again in a relief role. "I want to get a line on the big fellow this season if possible," the Nat leader stated, "but not at the expense of possibly losing any games as long as we are in the race for fourth place. He is likely to be used as relief, however, and if he again looks good, I may pick a spot for him in case I get in a jam and haven't any regular starters available."

President Clark Griffith last night announced the purchase of Pitcher McCullough from the Toledo Club. The rookie is slated to join the Harrismen out West when the American Association season ends. Although the property of the Mudhens, McCullough has been performing with Minneapolis as the result of a temporary exchange for a second baseman. His record is fourteen victories and twelve defeats.

According to Scout Joe Engel, on whose recommendation the flinger was purchased, McCullough is built along the lines of Irving Hadley, has a good fast ball, a fair curve, and is the best pitching prospect he has seen this season.

Athletics Cut Lead to 2 Games

Gaston Pounded Hard After Brown Hurls Two Innings.

Poor Fielding Spots Macks to Lead; Walberg in Form.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

BY defeating the Nationals yesterday, 9 to 2, the Athletics recouped half of their Labor Day losses and now are within two games of the world champion Yankees, who drew a blank date on the schedule. It was a listless affair throughout, with players of both teams and home fans showing signs of reaction following Monday's hectic holiday bill.

Afield, the Harrismen put up a shoddy exhibition, with the Nat leader himself having a particularly off day, while at bat "Rube" Walberg had them swinging like as many wood-choppers especially with men on the bases. He kept the ten Washington hits well scattered and was particularly fortunate in being able to register strike-outs when they did the Mackian cause the most good.

The Harrismen were actually in the game for only a few moments. Lloyd Brown started on the hill for the Nationals, and a couple of plays not quite poor enough to be charged as errors let the Mackmen score two runs off of him on four credited hits. Milton Gaston started the third round and the Nats put the game in his hands by knotting the count in the fifth.

At this stage the 3,000 or so fans settled down to see a real ball game, but the sketch was not written this way, for the visitors became two up again just as soon as they could get in from the field, and from then on it was only a question of finishing out the string.

Bing Miller evidently has been reading in the papers that football teams are now preparing for the season and he threw Bob Reeves for a loss in the sixth, which gave the Mackmen two runs and a lead which they never relinquished.

With the bases full as a result of Simmons' single, Foxx's double and Miller's walk and one out, Boley rolled to Harris, who started a promising double play. Reeves took the peg at second and, just as he was about to throw to first, Miller crashed into him, making Bob's throw bad and temporarily laying him low.

The Nationals protested long and loud over Miller's football tactics, but the umpires apparently were not interested and the two runs which scored as a result counted. After Trainer Mike Martin had rendered first aid Reeves was able to continue in the game, but as things turned out it was over by that time.

Brown had retired the Mackmen in order in the first when they staged their initial rally in the following frame, which Simmons opened with a single. Foxx followed suit and one run scored on Miller's infield out on which the Nats missed a chance to make a double play. Miller then stole second and Dykes scored him with a single. Boley also hit in this frame, but Brown fanned Walberg and Bishop popped to Ruel.

The Nationals got one of these back in the fourth on Goslin's scratch double, a walk and Bluege's single and knotted the string in the next canto on singles by Ruel and West, with Gaston's sacrifice separating the two blows.

After Miller's football charge in the sixth, the Mackmen proceeded gradually to increase their lead. Harris' error and Haas' triple gave them one more in the seventh, while a triple by Bishop, singles by Haas and Cochrane and a triple by Simmons—all in rapid succession—were good for four more in the final frame.

Following their tying effort in round 5 the Nats had to be satisfied with coming close to run coining. They had a fine chance in the sixth, when Judge walked and Bluege singled, but Reeves' attempted sacrifice proved to be a force play at third, while Bluege was a double-play victim at second when he thought Simmons would miss Harris' liner.

With one down in the eighth Judge walked and Reeves later singled, but both were left, while the Nats packed the bases with one out in the ninth on a pass and one-shots by West and Rice, only to have Goslin fan for a second time during the game and Judge line to Foxx.

Either by bases on balls or by hits, the Harrismen had men on the bases in every inning but the second, only to have Walberg put on the brakes and pitch himself out of trouble except in the two scoring frames, which were good for but one run each. West, Rice and Bluege were credited with two safeties apiece, while Simmons, with a triple and two singles, led the alien attack. Rice's catch of Cochrane's liner in the fifth after a long run was the fielding feature.

The Brookland A. C. Football Team will hold its first meeting of the season Friday night at the home of John Holden, 1247 Girard street northeast, at 7:30 o'clock. Prospects are bright for the season.

DR. FREELAND WINS NURSERY AT BELMONT IN GALLOP

Three D Entry Runs One-Two in Feature at Arlington.

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—W. J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland, which worked so sensationally at Saratoga for the $50,000 Hopeful but finished out of the money in that race, made good in convincing style when he galloped home lengths in advance of his field in winning the Nursery Handicap here today.

Dr. Freeland ran just like he worked. He jumped away to the lead, ran straight and true down the middle of the track and made a show of his field, winning in a common gallop by five lengths. High Score gathered the place by a nose over Soul of Honor, an added starter. The race was worth $5,725, and the 6 furlongs over the Widener course was run in 1:14 3-5.

The Glen Riddle Farm's Shipmaster, which was carded as a starter in this race, is reported to have broken down so badly that he probably will never race again. He is by Man o' War—Scribble.

Arlington Park, Ill., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The Three D Stock Farm entry, Double Heart and Yam Toy, finished first and second, respectively, in the fourth, a 5½-furlong sprint for 2-year-olds, the feature event on this afternoon's card. Shasta Pebble took third money.

The winner, ridden by Willie Garner, broke in front, set the pace throughout and won easily by three lengths. Yam Toy raced in second position and Shasta Pebble in third all the way. Double Heart's time on the good track was 1:08 4-5. The entry, 1 to 4, favorite in the betting, paid $2.42 straight in the mutuels. The race was worth $2,150 net to the winner.

The first of three hurdle races to be offered at Arlington Park will be run tomorrow as the fourth contest. Another will be run on Saturday and the third on Thursday, September 13. Each will be at a mile and one-half over nine hurdles and horses 3 years and up will participate. Eight are entered in tomorrow's event.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

LAUGH off this one. Members of the turf and Field Club are responsible for the hurdle race at Arlington Park this aft. Now break out crying. Riders have not been announced but "Curley" Brown, Frank Bruen, Maj. McLaughlin, Palmer House Ryan, Jim Simpson, John Thompson and "White Nose" Conkling are eligible to accept mounts. Untried horses with little schooling will take the obstacles and it is to be hoped that no serious injury results. The rest of the card is so ordinary, however, that any spectacle to draw patronage is attempted.

HIRAM appears to be the standout performer. He has been dropped in a soft spot and should mizzle home. Favorites have such a habit of going down in defeat at this merry-go-round, however, that hustler's refuse to attempt picking winners.

SHASTA LAD is the hot tamale wafted on the wings of the wind from Fairmount Park, where an honest-to-goodness meeting is being conducted. It would seem as though SHASTA LAD should go on the head end and stay there all the way. THE SHOW OFF has been turning in sensational morning trials and a race to workouts will suffice to turn the trick.

Old CAREFREE is back in good form again and should walk the dog over in Canada. He starts in the third spasm at Long Branch. CORINTH, a bad actor, is the most serious contender, especially should he happen to break in motion. More anon.

BILLY BARTON REENTERED IN CLASSIC

Baltimore Horse Will Sail Saturday for Grand National.

BILLY BARTON, owned by Howard Bruce, Baltimore sportsman, again will cross the Atlantic to compete in the Grand National at Aintree, where he thrilled race followers last year by finishing second in the classic of the English turf.

The famous timber topper will sail Saturday on the steamer Minnewaska, for England, attended by Trainer Roy Schilling. Once on the other side he will go into training under the care of Sir Aubrey Hastings, who conditioned him for last year's race. Mr. Bruce has announced that T. B. Cullinan, the Irish jockey who rode Billy Barton in the Grand National last year, would again have the mount when the thoroughbreds go to the post for the 4-mile race.

Billy Barton finished second last year after leading the field almost to the finish when he stumbled after taking the final jump, enabling Miss Tipperary Tim to win the race. Despite his fall, Billy Barton was remounted and finished in second place.

The Aintree course is considered the severest test in the world and only one American-bred horse has been able to capture the event in the last 88 years.

Youngblood to Head Capital Soccer Body

George Youngblood was elected president of the Capital City Soccer League for the second one-year term at the first meeting of the season of that organization last night.

John Gunn, manager of the British United Eleven, was named vice president, and Hugh Lamondt, of the Canadian Legation, was selected to act as secretary-treasurer. Martin Grieve, David Adamson and J Hughes were named as delegates at large.

It was announced at the meeting that the deadline for entering the National Cup tie play, sponsored by the United States Football Association, is September 12. Clan MacLennan and possibly British United will enter from Washington.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Washington and Southeastern District Soccer Association and the District Soccer Referees' Association will meet in the playground office.

DR. FREELAND WINS NURSERY AT BELMONT IN GALLOP

Three D Entry Runs One-Two in Feature at Arlington.

BELMONT PARK, N. Y., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—W. J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland, which worked so sensationally at Saratoga for the $50,000 Hopeful but finished out of the money in that race, made good in convincing style when he galloped home lengths in advance of his field in winning the Nursery Handicap here today.

Dr. Freeland ran just like he worked. He jumped away to the lead, ran straight and true down the middle of the track and made a show of his field, winning in a common gallop by five lengths. High Score gathered the place by a nose over Soul of Honor, an added starter. The race was worth $5,725, and the 6 furlongs over the Widener course was run in 1:14 3-5.

The Glen Riddle Farm's Shipmaster, which was carded as a starter in this race, is reported to have broken down so badly that he probably will never race again. He is by Man o' War—Scribble.

Arlington Park, Ill., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The Three D Stock Farm entry, Double Heart and Yam Toy, finished first and second, respectively, in the fourth, a 5½-furlong sprint for 2-year-olds, the feature event on this afternoon's card. Shasta Pebble took third money.

The winner, ridden by Willie Garner, broke in front, set the pace throughout and won easily by three lengths. Yam Toy raced in second position and Shasta Pebble in third all the way. Double Heart's time on the good track was 1:08 4-5. The entry, 1 to 4, favorite in the betting, paid $2.71 straight in the mutuels. The race was worth $2,150 net to the winner.

The first of three hurdle races to be offered at Arlington Park will be run tomorrow as the fourth contest. Another will be run on Saturday and the third on Thursday, September 13. Each will be at a mile and one-half over nine hurdles and horses 3 years and up will participate. Eight are entered in tomorrow's event.

By BERT E. COLLYER

LAUGH off this one. Members of the turf and Field Club are responsible for the hurdle race at Arlington Park this aft. Now break out crying. Riders have not been announced but "Curley" Brown, Frank Bruen, Maj. McLaughlin, Palmer House Ryan, Jim Simpson, John Thompson and "White Nose" Conkling are eligible to accept mounts. Untried horses with little schooling will take the obstacles and it is to be hoped that no serious injury results. The rest of the card is so ordinary, however, that any spectacle to draw patronage is attempted.

HIRAM appears to be the standout performer. He has been dropped in a soft spot and should mizzle home. Favorites have such a habit of going down in defeat at this merry-go-round, however, that hustler's refuse to attempt picking winners.

SHASTA LAD is the hot tamale wafted on the wings of the wind from Fairmount Park, where an honest-to-goodness meeting is being conducted. It would seem as though SHASTA LAD should go on the head end and stay there all the way. THE SHOW OFF has been turning in sensational morning trials and a race to workouts will suffice to turn the trick.

Old CAREFREE is back in good form again and should walk the dog over in Canada. He starts in the third spasm at Long Branch. CORINTH, a bad actor, is the most serious contender, especially should he happen to break in motion. More anon.

BILLY BARTON REENTERED IN CLASSIC

Baltimore Horse Will Sail Saturday for Grand National.

BILLY BARTON, owned by Howard Bruce, Baltimore sportsman, again will cross the Atlantic to compete in the Grand National at Aintree, where he thrilled race followers last year by finishing second in the classic of the English turf.

The famous timber topper will sail Saturday on the steamer Minnewaska, for England, attended by Trainer Roy Schilling. Once on the other side he will go into training under the care of Sir Aubrey Hastings, who conditioned him for last year's race. Mr. Bruce has announced that T. B. Cullinan, the Irish jockey who rode Billy Barton in the Grand National last year, would again have the mount when the thoroughbreds go to the post for the 4-mile race.

Billy Barton finished second last year after leading the field almost to the finish when he stumbled after taking the final jump, enabling Miss Tipperary Tim to win the race. Despite his fall, Billy Barton was remounted and finished in second place.

The Aintree course is considered the severest test in the world and only one American-bred horse has been able to capture the event in the last 88 years.

Youngblood to Head Capital Soccer Body

George Youngblood was elected president of the Capital City Soccer League for the second one-year term at the first meeting of the season of that organization last night.

John Gunn, manager of the British United Eleven, was named vice president, and Hugh Lamondt, of the Canadian Legation, was selected to act as secretary-treasurer. Martin Grieve, David Adamson and J Hughes were named as delegates at large.

It was announced at the meeting that the deadline for entering the National Cup tie play, sponsored by the United States Football Association, is September 12. Clan MacLennan and possibly British United will enter from Washington.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Washington and Southeastern District Soccer Association and the District Soccer Referees' Association will meet in the playground office.

Pitcher Robertson Bought by Millers

Minneapolis, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Charley Robertson, whose chief contribution to the record books was a no-hit, no-run game he pitched against Detroit while he was a member of the Chicago White Sox, has been obtained by the Minneapolis American Association Club, from Dallas, of the Texas League.

Robertson, who pitched for Minneapolis seven years ago, is to report tomorrow.

CAPITAL CITY UNLIMITEDS START TITLE SET SUNDAY

Auths Battle Georgetown Tossers

Royals, Brookland B. C. Decide Insect Title Tomorrow.

Auths, Brown-Wood, Aztecs Play Off Tie for Senior Honor.

THE first of a three-game set for the unlimited championship of the city will get under way Sunday when the Georgetown A. C., Section A winner, engages the Auths, Section B finalist, on the Washington Barracks diamond at 3 o'clock. This encounter will feature the program in the Capital City League for the day, which will include games between the first and second half winners of the senior group. The insect championship will be decided tomorrow when the Royals and the Brookland Boys' Club come together on the South Ellipse Diamond at 3 o'clock.

Three teams, namely the Auths, Brown & Wood and Aztecs, are all in the running for the senior crown with the first two named tied for the first half series. Under the present arrangement, the Auths and Brown & Wood will play out their tie on Saturday with a single game on a diamond yet to be named. The winner of this tilt will engage the Aztecs in the first of a three-game set Sunday on the West Ellipse at 3 o'clock.

With the baseball season on its last lap, action in the two groups Sunday will lend a colorful ending for the teams in the stretch. This also goes for the insect nines who play tomorrow.

Of chief interest will be the series between the Georgetown A. C. and Auths. Here will be a battle between a team of well-known repute from Northwest, and holder of several unlimited titles in the past, and a team from Southwest, which will be trying to bring back to that section the sandlot prestige the Linworths gave it several years ago.

One thing about this series, it will bring together youth against experience, in that the Auths, as their personnel now stands, will be playing in an unlimited series for the first time, while the Georgetown combination will be going through just another of its late-season games. The Auth team has played together since midget ball, and its success in winning the section B title is in itself an achievement for the collection of ball tossers who have stuck together these many years.

The Georgetown A. C., on the other hand, has always been known to have a strong team, one of championship caliber, and its win in section A this year was one of the events expected. The Georgetowners will be up against a tough customer, however, and will have to play ball to the limit to win, for the Auths will be on their toes, as youth is always known to be, which will offer an interesting series for followers of both teams.

St. Alban's Nine Wins Church League Title

The fight for the Georgetown Church League banner was ended yesterday when the St. Alban's Nine beat West Washington, 5 to 2. The teams had finished the regular season schedule deadlocked for first place.

GENERAL ELECTRIC PLAN

TOMORROW

The Sportswoman

A NEWCOMER will be entered in the Recreation Basket Ball League this fall when that organization launches its season. The new team will be from Southeast Washington and, from all indications, it should be one to be feared. Every girl signed up so far has been affiliated with school teams while attending either junior or senior high schools, and in the majority of cases it has been the latter. There is splendid material in the line-up, so with the right coaching the team bids fair to have a strong combination.

The squad so far is composed of Misses Teresa Breen, Isabel Siegfried, Alice Brown, Virginia Ball, Helen Breen, Catherine Breen, Marion Oliver, Mary Kelso and Helen Brown. A coach has not been secured yet, but the team hopes to begin practicing soon after the middle of this month. A meeting is called for September 15.

The Southeast Center Gymnasium has been applied for to train in. This will not be ready for playing purposes, though, until October, as the secretary for that district is out of town.

CONGRESS HEIGHTS WINS.

The girls from Anacostia and Congress Heights met in a second encounter in dodge ball, the former winning, 7 to 6. The match was interesting and close, the score being tied in the last inning. he Congress Heights girls took the lead and kept it the greater part of the game, but toward the end their throws were wild, while the Anacostia team developed some good teamwork and hitting ability.

The first game of the series was won by Congress Heights, and it is expected a third one will be played this week.

"OUR GANG" AT BEACH.

"Our Gang Club," composed of high school misses and only those who have proved their ability along athletic lines, took up their abode at Colonial Beach for two weeks. The group returned home yesterday and had much to relate of their adventures, sports and outdoor activities.

The members rented a cottage and had with them two adult leaders to help plan and organize the day's program. Two days were given over to crabbing, during which time twelve dozen crabs were caught. Track events were practiced each day and swimming and diving indulged in. Trips were made to other parts of the beach by canoe, hikes were taken and baseball and various games played. The members of the party were Rena Bryan, Nellie Lyddane, Helen Telford, Sadie Kiatta, Jenny Torreyson, Margaret Lyddane, Dorothy Fling, Mrs. M. Lyddane and Mrs. S. Kiatta.

VIRGINIA CROSSFIELD WINS.

Fourteen girls entered the quoit tournament at the Maury playground which was won by Virginia Crossfield. The winner will be eligible to compete in the sectional play-off that will start about the middle of the month.

First round—Virginia Creel defeated Mary Crossfield, 21—9, 16—21, 21—20; Virginia Merchant defeated Edith Hope, 21—0, 12—21, 21—0; Elizabeth Whitney defeated Ruth Reidy, 21—8, 21—11; Annie Babbis defeated Eva Satterfield, 21—11, 20—21, 21—11; Virginia Crossfield defeated Sophie Pollock 21—5, 21—6; Lucille Reidy defeated Helen Hurl, 21—11, 21—12; Dorothea Cochrane defeated Barbara Murray, 21—8, 21—13.

Second round—Virginia Creel defeated Elizabeth Whitney, 21—16, 21—13; Dorothea Cochrane defeated Virginia Merchant, 21—8, 21—9; Virginia Crossfield defeated Lucille Reidy, 21—3, 21—5.

Finals—Virginia Crossfield defeated Virginia Creel, 21—12, 21—18.

Player Saves $10 Fine By Hitting Home Run

Wilmington, N. C., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—In every baseball player's life comes a time when his ability to deliver in the pinch may mean a win or a loss for the team, but Frank Roscoe, of the local Eastern Carolina League Club, faced a situation yesterday that meant considerably more as far as he personally was concerned.

Roscoe was arrested last week for exceeding the speed limit in his automobile.

"Ten dollars and costs," City Recorder George Harriss droned. "Fine to be remitted on condition that said Frank Roscoe knocks a home run this afternoon."

Rain caused postponement of the game until yesterday, but meanwhile the recorder let it be known that his sentence stood. Roscoe's chance came in the fourth inning. He connected solidly and the ball went over the fence. As he trotted around the bases he held up ten fingers to the Court, which was present to see the sentence executed. "Some pinch hitting," said His Honor.

NEW VIRGINIA LEAGUE IS PLANNED

Major Clubs Ready to Aid Circuit in 1929, Official Says.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 4 (A.P.).—If plans now afoot materialize, the Virginia League, as originally organized, including Roanoke and Lynchburg, and with financial backing that means success, will be doing business again next year, it was learned here today.

Judge William G. Branham, president of the defunct bi-State circuit; H. P. Dawson, present owner of the Raleigh Club of the Piedmont League and former owner of the Richmond franchise, and George Barnes, owner of the Richmond club in recent years, are the prime movers in the reorganization of the old circuit.

"We hope to organize the league on a firm financial basis, with big league clubs interested in the franchises," Mr. Dawson said. He explained that while the league would prefer home ownership of franchises exclusively, that in the event of men of standing in Roanoke and Lynchburg could not be interested in taking hold of the proposition, that major league clubs were ready to aid financially.

Mr. Dawson said the prime movers in the reorganization move contemplated no "fly-by-night" league, but one that would last for years, solid, and playing high-class baseball.

The new circuit contemplated will include Norfolk, Richmond, Roanoke, Lynchburg, Newport News and either Hopewell or Petersburg.

G.P.O. and Laundry Nine Clash in Series Today

The week-day league series will get under way again today after several days idleness with the Government Printing Office Nine meeting Bergmann's Laundry on the Terminal Y diamond at 4:15 o'clock.

G. P. O. has a chance to strengthen its lead by winning while a victory for the Bergmann's Nine will put that team ahead. Bob Lyons will probably oppose Jones on the mound.

The schedule for the remainder of the week brings together the Loeffler and Express Nines tomorrow and the latter and Bergmann's Laundry on Friday.

St. John's Gridmen To Begin Season Today

Football at St. John's will begin in earnest today with the issuing of uniforms and the call to practice on the Tidal Basin. "Zube" Sullivan will again coach the team and already prospects for the coming season loom bright.

The team will be fortunate in that nine men from last year will be back, including Capt. Lucas, end; Roach, end; A. O'Hanlon and Yeatman, tackles; King and Kolb, guards; Hudson, full back; Duval, half back, and Tigh, quarter back.

Of the new candidates, Augusterfer, Bogan, McCarthy and Atchinson are linemen, and Wilt, Ricketts and Lilly are backs. The "Little Cadets" will carry an exceedingly heavy schedule this season comprising all of the high school teams, Gonzaga, Georgetown Frosh and C. U. Frosh.

50 Marine Gridmen Hold First Drill at Maryland

Marine football players, 50 strong, reported for first practice yesterday at College Park where a month's session got under way at the University of Maryland campus. The squad is to be augmented by 20 more arrivals today.

Lieut. Berger, former Maryland star tackle, was in charge of the practice in the absence of Coach Tom Keady, who is to arrive today. With the dismantling of Butler Stadium, at Quantico, the headquarters of the team has been shifted to the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Enough material is available for two first-string teams, coaches said yesterday.

Fisherman's Luck

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON

JUDGING from observation and reports, the double holiday at the week-end was devoted to fishing by all that have any inclination toward the rod and reel. With the weather not hot enough to give the urge for swimming, those who trekked to nearby waters Sunday and Monday carried fishing tackle instead of bathing suits, generally speaking.

Every inlet, stream and waterway had more than its season's average of anglers, who sat with ideal overhead conditions and enjoyed themselves without the usual heat discomfiture that is so often associated with angling.

There were few returning parties who failed to report some success and there were also few that reported catching any of the finny tribe of unusual size. Small fish by the hundreds could have been landed by many who were sportsmen enough to toss them back or discontinue fishing.

At Colonial Beach it is reported that small fish, particularly perch, could be had by the thousands. This condition has prevailed whenever any fish could be caught. Small fish have predominated while large ones have been only occasional prizes.

Walter Haight, of The Post sport staff, Mrs. Haight, and Harvey Haight formed a Colonial Beach angling party over the week-end and brought back tales of the plentiful small perch, but absence of sizable fish. Walter did a bit of investigating among the oldest inhabitants of the Beach who advanced another theory anent the thickening plot, "Where are the fish?"

These venerable gentlemen of Colonial Beach stated to Mr. Haight that the heavy rains and adverse winds have swept so much fresh water on the Colonial Beach side that salt water fish have stayed far out in the bay, nearer conditions natural to them. As proof of this statement, they relate the number of fresh water fish that have been caught in the waters near the resort.

A terrible mortality among the crab family was reported and news from Chesapeake Beach, Colonial Beach, Epping Forest and other salt areas was to the effect that they are still plentiful.

Much has been said and written about the wanton waste of the fish supply hereabouts, but lately one of the most glaring examples of useless fish depletion was brought to our attention. The offenders were the purse-netters, commercial fishermen who use this form of capturing the inhabitants of the water.

The purse-netter, who let it be known anent the waste, was so intent on showing the losses often incurred by his fellow tradesmen that he was unaware of the admission that he was making. It seems that last week the purse-netters made a day's haul of 40 tons of trout, which would have netted them a handsome profit, but the poor unfortunate fishermen did not get all to the market, it is stated. One-half, about 20 tons, spoiled because the boats did not have sufficient ice to preserve them.

The spoiled fish were strewn on the shore for fertilizing purposes, so the story goes, and when the unfortunate purse-netter was asked why the trout that could not be properly preserved were not thrown back into the water, he replied that it would have been useless, as once the fish are in the net they die when let loose.

It is understood that recently a few resident of Solomon's Island have been operating a purse net in the Patuxent River. Something more than 6,000 pounds of striped bass, some weighing as much as 11 pounds, were landed at one time off Point Patience and on another day this same group took 1,500 pounds of fish in its net.

For the sake of home-town pride, we would almost be willing that fish be caught in our own front yard, the Potomac, in nets. Then we could say with satisfaction that there are some in this vicinity, which we cannot say at present without fear of contradiction. Maybe when the season is about over conditions will go back to normal and a few worthwhile farewell catches can be made.

Capt. Noah Hazard, Chesapeake Beach boatman, is expecting much activity for anglers in his vicinity this coming Saturday and Sunday. Capt. Hazard says that trout, bluefish, spots and hardheads are running better than at any time this season.

G. W. Grid Candidates Report for Drill Today

Initial football practice, preliminary to the opening of the regular season, begins today at George Washington University, when the 1928 squad will report to Harry Wilson Crum, athletic director and head coach of the Buff and Blue Football Team.

Crum will not have an abundance of material to draw from, as there are only four or five of last year's varsity available for this year's eleven. Of these, Allshouse, last year's captain; Lopeman and Carey have already reported and are ready to don the pigskins. The balance of the squad will be completed within the next three days.

It has not been definitely decided whether G. W. will use the Georgetown University freshman field for its initial workouts or will drill on the field near the Tidal Basin. The team is ordered to assemble at 10 o'clock this morning at the university and from there go to the field designated for practice.

NATION WILL DANCE IN NEW RADIO HOUR

ACCORDION ACE TONIGHT

The first regular coast-to-coast radio hour will be inaugurated Saturday night, September 15, by the National Broadcasting Co. Forty-six stations, from New York to San Francisco, will carry across the country the music of one of the largest dance orchestras ever put on the air.

"Inauguration of regular coast-to-coast broadcasting marks another great step in radio," said M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Co. "While we have made special hook-ups for events of national interest, like the notification of the presidential candidates, a weekly musical program over this great network has never before been attempted. Maine and California can now dance to the same music."

Station WRC will be included in the network of stations.

The Revelers, just returned from musical conquests abroad, will again be present at 8:30 o'clock. From their newly-expanded repertoire they take first "Blue Shadows," followed later in the period with "Someday, Somewhere."

Olive Palmer and Paul Oliver will also be present and will contribute the regular quota of solo and duet numbers.

The National Light Opera Co. will broadcast a version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Sorcerer" through associated stations at 9:30 o'clock. The cast will include Rosalie Wolfe, Jackson King, George O'Brien, John Oakley, Frank Cuthbert, Harvey Hindermyer, Myrtle Leonard, Paula Hemingshaus and Irma De Baun.

A joint program by Ruby Elkins Bacon, contralto, and Chaplain M. M. Witherspoon, reader, will be broadcast from Station WMAL at 9 o'clock. Following this, the Bernheimer Trio, assisted by Inez Lessner, soprano, will be heard.

The dinner concert from WRHF will be on the air at 6 o'clock.

FIFTH RESERVE BANK CREDIT SHOWS DROP

Deposits During Month Reported Increasing Over $2,000,000.

LOCAL EXCHANGE ACTIVE

Reserve bank credit outstanding in the fifth district declined slightly between July 15 and August 15, according to the monthly review of business conditions just issued by the Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond.

The decline in credit was noted in face of the opening of South Carolina and some North Carolina tobacco markets, and the marketing of other early agricultural products, which generally increase the demand for accommodation at the reserve bank.

According to the review, the banks in the agricultural sections actually increased their borrowing during the month, but a decline in rediscounts for the large city banks resulted in a net increase in rediscounts held by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond from $56,678,000 on July 15 to $53,442,000 on August 15. Total earning assets of the Richmond bank declined by about the same amount, falling from $67,301,000 to $64,511,000 between the two dates under review. The circulation of Federal Reserve notes remained practically the same, totaling $53,626,000 on July 15 and $53,440,000 on August 15.

Member banks increased their reserve deposits during the month from $64,871,000 to $67,690,000. The several changes enumerated raised the cash reserves of the reserve institution from $60,055,000 on July 15 to $64,743,000 on August 15, and increased the ratio of cash reserves to note and deposit liabilities combined from 50.49 per cent to 52.39 per cent.

Rediscounts held by the Federal Reserve Bank on August 15, 1927, totaled only $20,923,000, in comparison with $53,442,000 held by the bank on August 15, this year. Total earning assets of the bank a year ago amounted to $51,487,000 compared to $64,511,000 on August 15, 1928. The greater spread between rediscounts and total earning assets last year was due to much larger holdings of Government securities in 1927, which amounted to approximately $21,000,000, as compared with $3,000,000 owned this year. Federal reserve notes in actual circulation declined from $59,379,000 on August 15, 1927 to $53,440,000 on the corresponding date this year, and member bank reserve deposits dropped from $70,119,000 to $67,690,000 during the same period.

The cash reserves of the Richmond bank totaled $68,713,000 a year ago, but declined to $64,743,000 on August 15, last, and during the same period the ratio of cash reserves to note and deposit liabilities from 67.02 per cent to 52.39 per cent.

New Offices Open.

Formal opening of the new offices of Crane, Parris & Co. at 821 Fifteenth street northwest, will be held today, and it is expected scores of clients and friends of the firm will inspect the new quarters. Early yesterday large baskets of flowers were being received by officers of the firm, and the business of transferring valuable records and securities, as well as office paraphernalia was carried on last night.

Since acquiring the four-story building some months ago from the McPherson Square Corporation, extensive remodeling alterations to the interior have been completed by the investment firm. These have been designed to expeditiously despatch the needs of the investment clientele of the house. The executive force will use the entire first floor, and the mezzanine will be devoted to the sales organization, a news-ticker service, and stock tickers carrying quotations of the issues on the New York Stock Exchange, as well as a ticker carrying quotations on the New York Curb.

The old quarters of the firm at 823 Fifteenth street northwest will be taken over by the Republican State committee, which have located on the second floor of the structure.

Transactions on Exchange.

With many bankers and brokers back from vacation, trading on the Washington Stock Exchange was resumed yesterday, and showed unusual activity with issues holding firm. Chestnut Farms Dairy preferred sold at 103⅞, with 104½ asked at the close. Potomac Electric 6 per cent sold at 111⅛, a fractional loss from the last sale. The 5½ per cent preferred of the electric company sold at 106¾. Washington Railway & Electric common turned over on a 10-share lot at 433, and 20 shares of Capital Traction changed hands at 105, an increase of a quarter of a point. Only two bank stocks came out on the board, District National bringing 242 for 1 share, and 5 shares of Second National selling at 270. In the miscellaneous list, 80 shares of Peoples Drug Stores preferred sold at 112, and 30 shares of Sanitary Grocery Co. preferred brought 384.

In the bond division, Capital Traction 5s sold at 101¼, a slight increase, and Washington Railway & Electric general 6s turned over in two $1,000 transactions at 103⅝ and 103¾. These were bid at 103 on Friday. Washington Gas 6s, series B, sold at 107, and the series A at 103-104.

Smith Dividend Declared.

The F. H. Smith Co. has declared the regular semiannual dividend of $3.75 a share on the 7½ per cent cumulative preferred stock and $3.50 a share on its 7 per cent preferred stock. Both are payable September 15 to stockholders of record on September 5, according to an announcement made yesterday by the firm.

Security Finance Dividend.

Dividend checks to stockholders have been mailed by the Security Finance Corporation, covering the regular semiannual dividend on its 8 per cent preferred stock, James B. Evans, vice president yesterday announced.

The firm was organized about three years ago for the purpose of financing the installation of permanent home improvements such as heating plants, plumbing equipment and roofing, and reports it has made substantial progress since its inception.

The officers and directors of the corporation are Claude W. Owen, president; Merritt O. Chance, vice president; James B. Evans, vice president; William Conradis, secretary; Maj. Gen. John L. Chamberlain, treasurer, and A. H. Brewood, Edwin S. Elliott, William C. Hanson, Edgar Morris, Frederick W. Quinter and T. Lincoln Townsend, directors.

What's Behind Your Stock?

Pure Oil Co.

Originally a natural gas public utility under the name of Ohio Cities Gas Co., the Pure Oil Co. has become since 1914 a complete unit in the oil industry with an international business. The change was due largely to discovery of oil on the company's natural gas property at Cabin Creek, W. Va. Oil lands were subsequently acquired near the natural gas holdings in Ohio, and later in Texas and the midcontinent field. As of January 1, 1924, the public utility subsidiaries were sold.

This company controls, in addition acreage in the Maracaibo district in Venezuela, through a subsidiary. While the organization, as a whole, has been a large earner, it shared in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1928, the generally adverse conditions of the oil trade. Net income of $4,710,000 after depreciation and depletion being much less than half the average of the previous four years. Net in the previous year, ended March 31, 1927, was $10,731,000.

Current data: The reduction of dividend on the common stock in January, 1928, was stated officially to be due to conservative policy owing to oil overproduction. Production, refining and marketing made new high records in the fiscal year 1928.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Wheat and corn were marked down on the Chicago Board of Trade today under pressure of a variety of moderately bearish elements that found the grain markets poorly supported. September corn was the vulnerable spot, sagging 2¾ to 2⅞c while the deferred months eased off fractionally.

Wheat eased off at the start owing to Liverpool's reaction to rains in Australia and the Argentine. Canadian harvest weather continued favorable. Further losses followed during the early trading, influenced to some extent by the bearish private crop figures which, however, had already been taken into account by the trade. The forecasts ranged from 310,000,000 to 325,000,000 bushels of domestic spring wheat and a record Canadian crop between 470,000,000 bushels and 538,000,000 bushels, the latter report suggesting Manitoba's yield at 53,000,000. Saskatchewan at 310,000,000 and Alberta at 175,000,000 bushels. The world's exportable wheat surplus is reckoned at 320,000,000 bushels over the estimated imports requirements, compared with 104,000,000 a year ago. The seaboard reported 1,000,000 bushels Manitobas taken for export.

Proximity of heavy Canadian wheat movements, appearance of hedging sales for the Northwest and an increase of 3,774,000 bushels in the visible supply were the principal factors in the late weakness of wheat, which rallied fractionally to close easy at 1⅛ to 1⅜c decline—September, 1.10 to 1.10⅛; December, 1.15⅛; March, 1.19⅝ to 1.19¾, and May, 1.21⅞ to 1.22.

Corn opened firm, but buying power was listless and a downturn in September found prices undetermined, stop-loss selling becoming evident. The private crop estimates confirmed the trade's view of a 3,000,000,000 bushels harvest, the lowest figure given today being 2,996,000,000 bushels, while one authority placed the crop at 3,122,000,000 bushels. The visible supply only decreased 212,000 bushels. Corn closed ¼ to 2⅞c down: September, 92⅛ to 92¼; December, 74⅝ to 74⅞; March, 76⅞, and May, 79⅛.

Oats were dull, easing fractionally with corn and closing ⅛ to ¼c lower; September, 38⅛. Provisions were firm with hogs, lard 12 to 15c up and others unchanged. September lard closing at 12.45.

THE SPOTLIGHT

By JOHN J. DALY

As the story comes this way, the motorist was being "bawled out" by the police officer for blocking traffic at Fourteenth and the Avenue.

"Why didn't you step on the gas when I waved you to come on?" asked the officer.

"I started to," said the motorist, "but something whispered to me, 'Don't step on it, it might be Lon Chaney!'"

In a little while the President Theater will be reduced to a mass of debris. They are going to tear it down to make way for a Government building. Since the days when old "Kernan's" flourished on the Pennsylvania avenue site where now stands the theater called the President, as the old house was renamed, nothing much in the way of prosperous theatricals has happened next to Harvey's. Was a time when Pat White, and his fellow comics of the lower order, packed 'em in; but those were the good old days, when waiters tripped down the aisles, between acts, with seidels of beer on trays, and the girlie-girlie shows, made merry-merry. Under the name of The President, the old burlesque house never amounted to much. Perhaps the name was too much to carry. Naming it The White House would have been the same. Washington has a one-track mind. A gentleman of Pennsylvania avenue one night stopped a reporter.

"Can you tell me," he asked, "where the President is?"

"I suppose," he replied, "the President is in the White House. I don't think he's out of town."

It was that way with the old theater under a new name. Few seemed to know where, what or why it was the President.

James A. Duff is dead. That may mean anything or nothing to the youngsters in the theater, but oldtimers will recall Duff as the man who introduced the Gilbert and Sullivan operas to America. He became prominent in theatrical circles along about 1875. In England, he had bought for a few shillings the score of "H. M. S. Pinafore," and after much persistence had finally persuaded a manager that this work might become popular. At that time there was no international copyright, and the New York production, like its predecessor in Boston, was unauthorized; but this laid no halting hand on its brilliant success. The "Pinafore" craze, started then, has persisted to this day. In its early stages it became responsible for the great organization known as "The Bostonians," which started in life as the "Ideal Pinafore Company." The last thing James A. Duff did in the American theater was to revive John Gay's 200-year-old work, "The Beggar's Opera," which he twice brought over from England; the second time last year. It played here at Poli's under the Wilson-Greene banner.

Vacationists returning from far-off places bring back all sorts of little items, though it is terribly hard these days, they say, to get in anything over the border.

From National Theater patrons on the loose during the torrid spell word comes that John MacFarlane, the big basso profundo, formerly with the National Theater Players, is now playing leads in a stock company up in Portland, Me.; that John Warner, dressed to kill, was recently seen on Broadway; that Minor Watson, another leading man here, is now in Cape Cod, playing with the company that boasts as its star Laura Hope Crews, and that Kathryn Givney is away out in Denver, at the Gardens.

• • • •

There is a name for those Gardens in Denver, where many of the truly great thespians land, sometime or other, but the vacationist who brought in this item fails to remember. It is quite well known, too, in the profession. Were it just some 40 miles farther on, say outside of Colorado Springs, we'd all know—the Garden of the Gods.

Higher Tariff on Corn Sought by Farm Bureau

(Associated Press.)

The American Farm Bureau Federation yesterday filed with the Tariff Commission a brief asking for an increase in tariff on corn from 15 to 22½ cents per bushel, declaring that the present tariff does not equalize the production costs for the United States and Argentina, the principal competing country.

Hearings on the application of various farm organizations for a higher tariff barrier on corn were held before the commission a month ago. Manuel Durand, Argentine consul, the only witness who appeared in opposition, read a statement from his government and the federation's brief criticized Durand's testimony in detail.

Curb Review

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The curb market was buoyant today and a wave of selling caused by a rise in the call money rate from 7½ to 8 per cent was easily absorbed. New high prices for the year or longer were reached in practically all groups, save mines, which were weak in contrast to the rest of the list.

Utilities were notably strong. American & Foreign Power 1st preferred jumping nearly 15 points to a new high at 114¾, while Southeast Power & Light and American Gas & Electric each gained more than 4 points. United Gas Improvement advanced 2 points and Electric Bond & Share 1½.

In sympathy with heavy buying of amusement shares on the "big board," Fox Theater "A" was heavily traded, but lost a small gain and closed unchanged. Balaban & Katz mounted 3 points to a new high at 80.

Checker Cab went to a new high at 47, Perfect Circle Co. at 38¼. United Carbon preferred at 90 and U. S. Asbestos at 48, in gains of about 1 to 4 points. Armstrong Cork, Auburn Auto, Carnation Milk, Nichols & Shepherd and St. Regis Paper advanced 2 to 3½ points, while Bancitaly jumped up 5 points on the return of A. P. Giannini from Europe, who stated that the corporation was never in a stronger position. Kalamazoo Stove soared 20 points in a few sales.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CONTENTMENT.

Ask not too much from life. Expect no more
Than just a few red ramblers at your door.
Nature is lavish with her summer charms,
But if with roses you have filled your arms,
Take but a step and some to earth will fall.
'Twas not intended you should hold them all.

The world is wide and brief the life of man;
To see it all is not within the plan;
Beyond a certain point on earth we can not go.
Riches piled up have nothing to bestow.
'Tis appetite not money flavors meat.
More than his fill no billionaire can eat.

Who in his home finds comfort and content,
Has all that is for human beings meant.
Pride, power and place at last to this descend:
Who would be happy first must have a friend.
And who has friends and neighbours near his door,
Dines well and sleeps; would not be helped with more.

"They are as sick who surfeit with too much
As those who starve with nothing." And to clutch
Mountains of gold and silver is to seize
Not greater joys but greater miseries.
Who for this hour his world at peace can see,
For this one hour is rich as man can be.

FIFTH RESERVE BANK CREDIT SHOWS DROP

Deposits During Month Reported Increasing Over $2,000,000.

LOCAL EXCHANGE ACTIVE

Reserve bank credit outstanding in the fifth district declined slightly between July 15 and August 15, according to the monthly review of business conditions just issued by the Federal Reserve Bank at Richmond.

The decline in credit was noted in face of the opening of South Carolina and some North Carolina tobacco markets, and the marketing of other early agricultural products, which generally increase the demand for accommodation at the reserve bank.

According to the review, the banks in the agricultural sections actually increased their borrowing during the month, but a decline in rediscounts for the large city banks resulted in a net increase in rediscounts held by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond from $56,678,000 on July 15 to $53,442,000 on August 15. Total earning assets of the Richmond bank declined by about the same amount, falling from $67,301,000 to $64,511,000 between the two dates under review. The circulation of Federal Reserve notes remained practically the same, totaling $53,626,000 on July 15 and $53,440,000 on August 15.

Member banks increased their reserve deposits during the month from $64,871,000 to $67,690,000. The several changes enumerated raised the cash reserves of the reserve institution from $60,055,000 on July 15 to $64,743,000 on August 15, and increased the ratio of cash reserves to note and deposit liabilities combined from 50.49 per cent to 52.39 per cent.

Rediscounts held by the Federal Reserve Bank on August 15, 1927, totaled only $20,923,000, in comparison with $53,442,000 held by the bank on August 15, this year. Total earning assets of the bank a year ago amounted to $51,487,000 compared to $64,511,000 on August 15, 1928. The greater spread between rediscounts and total earning assets last year was due to much larger holdings of Government securities in 1927, which amounted to approximately $21,000,000, as compared with $3,000,000 owned this year. Federal reserve notes in actual circulation declined from $59,379,000 on August 15, 1927 to $53,440,000 on the corresponding date this year, and member bank reserve deposits dropped from $70,119,000 to $67,690,000 during the same period.

The cash reserves of the Richmond bank totaled $88,713,000 a year ago, but declined to $64,743,000 on August 15, last, and during the same period the ratio of cash reserves to note and deposit liabilities from 67.02 per cent to 52.39 per cent.

New Offices Open.

Formal opening of the new offices of Crane, Parris & Co. at 821 Fifteenth street northwest, will be held today, and it is expected scores of clients and friends of the firm will inspect the new quarters. Early yesterday large baskets of flowers were being received by officers of the firm, and the business of transferring valuable records and securities, as well as office paraphernalia was carried on last night.

Since acquiring the four-story building some months ago from the McPherson Square Corporation, extensive remodeling alterations to the interior have been completed by the investment firm. These have been designed to expeditiously despatch the needs of the investment clientele of the house. The executive force will use the entire first floor, and the mezzanine will be devoted to the sales organization, a news-ticker service, and stock tickers carrying quotations of the issues on the New York Stock Exchange, as well as a ticker carrying quotations on the New York Curb.

The old quarters of the firm at 823 Fifteenth street northwest will be taken over by the Republican State committee, which have located on the second floor of the structure.

Transactions on Exchange.

With many bankers and brokers back from vacation, trading on the Washington Stock Exchange was resumed yesterday, and showed unusual activity with issues holding firm. Chestnut Farms Dairy preferred sold at 103⅞, with 104½ asked at the close. Potomac Electric 6 per cent sold at 111⅛, a fractional loss from the last sale. The 5½ per cent preferred of the electric company sold at 106¾. Washington Railway & Electric common turned over on a 10-share lot at 433, and 20 shares of Capital Traction changed hands at 105, an increase of a quarter of a point. Only two bank stocks came out on the board, District National bringing 242 for 1 share, and 5 shares of Second National selling at 270. In the miscellaneous list, 10 shares of Peoples Drug Stores preferred sold at 112, and 30 shares of Sanitary Grocery Co. preferred brought 134.

In the bond division, Capital Traction 5s sold at 101¼, a slight increase, and Washington Railway & Electric general 6s turned over in two $1,000 transactions at 103⅝ and 103¾. These were bid at 103 on Friday. Washington Gas 6s, series B, sold at 107, and the series A at 103-104.

Smith Dividend Declared.

The P. H. Smith Co. has declared the regular semiannual dividend of $3.75 a share on the 7½ per cent cumulative preferred stock and $3.50 a share on its 7 per cent preferred stock. Both are payable September 15 to stockholders of record on September 5, according to an announcement made yesterday by the firm.

Security Finance Dividend.

Dividend checks to stockholders have been mailed by the Security Finance Corporation, covering the regular semiannual dividend on its 8 per cent preferred stock, James B. Evans, vice president yesterday announced.

The firm was organized about three years ago for the purpose of financing the installation of permanent home improvements such as heating plants, plumbing equipment and roofing, and reports it has made substantial progress since its inception.

The officers and directors of the corporation are Claude W. Owen, president; Merritt O. Chance, vice president; James B. Evans, vice president; William Conradis, secretary; Maj. Gen. John L. Chamberlain, treasurer, and A. H. Bregood, Edwin E. Ellett, William C. Hanna, Edgar Morris, Frederick W. Quinter and T. Lincoln Townsend, directors.

What's Behind Your Stock?

Pure Oil Co.

Originally a natural gas public utility under the name of Ohio Cities Gas Co., the Pure Oil Co. has become since 1914 a complete unit in the oil industry with an international business. The change was due largely to discovery of oil on the company's natural gas property at Cabin Creek, W. Va. Oil lands were subsequently acquired near the natural gas holdings in Ohio, and later in Texas and the midcontinent field. As of January 1, 1924, the public utility subsidiaries were sold.

This company controls, in addition, acreage in the Maracaibo district in Venezuela, through a subsidiary. While the organization, as a whole, has been a large earner, it shared in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1928, the generally adverse conditions of the oil trade. Net income of $4,710,000 after depreciation and depletion being much less than half the average of the previous four years. Net in the previous year, ended March 31, 1927, was $10,731,000.

Current data: The reduction of dividend on the common stock in January, 1928, was stated officially to be due to conservative policy owing to oil overproduction. Production, refining and marketing made new high records in the fiscal year 1928.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—Wheat and corn were marked down on the Chicago Board of Trade today under pressure of a variety of moderately bearish elements that found the grain markets poorly supported. September corn was the vulnerable spot, sagging 2½ to 2⅞c while the deferred months eased off fractionally.

Wheat eased off at the start owing to Liverpool's reaction to rains in Australia and the Argentine. Canadian harvest weather continued favorable. Further losses followed during the early trading, influenced to some extent by the bearish private crop figures which, however, had already been taken into account by the trade. The forecasts ranged from 310,000,000 to 325,000,000 bushels of domestic spring wheat and a record Canadian crop between 470,000,000 bushels and 538,000,000 bushels, the latter report suggesting Manitoba's yield at 53,000,000, Saskatchewan at 310,000,000 and Alberta at 175,000,000 bushels. The world's exportable wheat surplus is reckoned at 320,000,000 bushels over the estimated import requirements, compared with 104,000,000 a year ago. The seaboard reported 1,000,000 bushels Manitobas taken for export.

Proximity of heavy Canadian wheat movements, appearance of hedging sales for the Northwest and an increase of 3,774,000 bushels in the visible supply were the principal factors in the late weakness of wheat, which rallied fractionally to close easy at 1⅛ to 1⅝ decline; September, 1.10 to 1.10⅛; December, 1.15⅛; March, 1.19⅝ to 1.19¾, and May, 1.21⅞ to 1.22.

Corn opened firm, but buying power was listless and a downturn in September found prices undetermined, stop-loss selling becoming evident. The private crop estimates confirmed the trade's view of a 3,000,000,000 bushels harvest, the lowest figure given today being 2,996,000,000 bushels, while one authority placed the crop at 3,122,000,000 bushels. The visible supply only decreased 712,000 bushels. Corn closed ¼ to 2⅞c down: September, 92¼ to 92½; December, 74½ to 74⅝; March, 76⅞, and May, 79¼.

Oats were dull, easing fractionally with corn and closing ⅛ to ¼c lower; September, 38½. Provisions were firm with hogs, lard 12 to 15c up and others unchanged. September lard closing at 12.45.

A motion of stockholders of J. I. Case Plow Works, Chicago, to vote on dissolution has been postponed to October 16.

Exports of quicksilver without license will be barred in Spain and Italy on October 1 under an agreement reached by Spanish and Italian producers effected with the support of their government, the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter says. Quicksilver produced in Europe will be sold through a single agency. The agreement is expected to result in control of production, the setting of prices and the elimination of competition between the largest producers of quicksilver in the world.

THE SPOTLIGHT

By JOHN J. DALY

As the story comes this way, the motorist was being "bawled out" by the police officer for blocking traffic at Fourteenth and the Avenue.

"Why didn't you step on the gas when I waved you to come on?" asked the officer.

"I started to," said the motorist, "but something whispered to me, 'Don't step on it, it might be Lon Chaney!'"

In a little while the President Theater will be reduced to a mass of debris. They are going to tear it down to make way for a Government building. Since the days when old "Kernan's" flourished on the Pennsylvania avenue site where now stands the theater called the President, as the old house was renamed, nothing much in the way of prosperous theatricals has happened next to Harvey's. Was a time when Pat White, and his fellow comics of the lower order, packed 'em in; but those were the good old days, when waiters tripped down the aisles, between acts, with seidels of beer on trays, and the girlie-girlie shows, made merry-merry. Under the name of The President, the old burlesque house never amounted to much. Perhaps the name was too much to carry. Naming it The White House would have been the same. Washington has a one-track mind. A gentleman of Pennsylvania avenue one night stopped a reporter.

"Can you tell me," he asked, "where the President is?"

The reporter hesitated only a minute.

"I suppose," he replied, "the President is in the White House. I don't think he's out of town."

It was that way with the old theater under a new name. Few seemed to know where, what or why it was the President.

James A. Duff is dead. That may mean anything or nothing to the youngsters in the theater, but old-timers will recall Duff as the man who introduced the Gilbert and Sullivan operas to America. He became prominent in theatrical circles along about 1875. In England, he had bought for a few shillings the score of "H. M. S. Pinafore," and after much persistence had finally persuaded a manager that this work might become popular. At that time there was no international copyright, and the New York production, like its predecessor in Boston, was unauthorized; but this laid no hand on its brilliant success. The "Pinafore" craze, started then, has persisted to this day. In its early stages it became responsible for the great organization known as "The Bostonians," which started in life as the "Ideal Pinafore Company." The last thing James A. Duff did in the American theater was to revive John Gay's 200-year-old work, "The Beggar's Opera," which he twice brought over from England; the second time last year. It played here at Poli's under the Wilson-Greene banner.

Vacationists returning from far-off places bring back all sorts of little items, though it is terribly hard these days, they say, to get in anything over the border.

From National Theater patrons on the loose during the torrid spell word comes that John MacFarlane, the big basso profundo, formerly with the National Theater Players, is now playing leads in a stock company up in Portland, Me.; that John Warner, dressed to kill, was recently seen on Broadway; that Minor Watson, another leading man here, is now in Cape Cod, playing with the company that boasts as its star Laura Hope Crews, and that Kathryn Givney is away out in Denver, at the Gardens.

• • • •

There is a name for those Gardens in Denver, where many of the truly great thespians land, sometime or other, but the vacationist who brought in this item fails to remember. It is quite well known, too, in the profession. Were it just some 40 miles farther on, say outside of Colorado Springs, we'd all know—the Garden of the Gods.

Higher Tariff on Corn Sought by Farm Bureau

(Associated Press.)

The American Farm Bureau Federation yesterday filed with the Tariff Commission a brief asking for an increase in tariff on corn from 15 to 22½ cents per bushel, declaring that the present tariff does not equalize the production costs for the United States and Argentina, the principal competing country.

Hearings on the application of various farm organizations for a higher tariff barrier on corn were held before the commission a month ago. Manuel Durand, Argentine consul, the only witness who appeared in opposition, read a statement from his government and the federation's brief criticized Durand's testimony in detail.

Curb Review

New York, Sept. 4 (A.P.).—The curb market was buoyant today and a wave of selling caused by a rise in the call money rate from 7½ to 8 per cent was easily absorbed. New high prices for the year or longer were reached in practically all groups, save mines, which were weak in contrast to the rest of the list.

Utilities were notably strong, American & Foreign Power 1st preferred jumping nearly 15 points to a new high at 114¾, while Southeast Power & Light and American Gas & Electric each gained more than 4 points. United Gas Improvement advanced 2 points and Electric Bond & Share 1½.

In sympathy with heavy buying of amusement shares on the "big board," Fox Theater "A" was heavily traded, but lost a small gain and closed unchanged. Balaban & Katz mounted 3 points to a new high at 80.

Checker Cab went to a new high at 47. Perfect Circle Co. at 38¼. United Carbon preferred at 90 and U. S. Asbestos at 48, in gains of about 1 to 4 points. Armstrong Cork, Auburn Auto, Carnation Milk, Nichols & Sheperd and St. Regis Paper advanced 2 to 3½ points, while Bancitaly jumped up 5 points on the return of A. P. Giannini from Europe, who stated that the corporation was never in a stronger position. Kalamazoo Stove soared 20 points in a few sales.

Radio shares were active, De Forest and Freshman making small gains while Canadian Marconi eased in a heavy turnover. In the chain stores, Piggly Wiggly gained more than 2 points in good demand, while Safeway advanced 10 points and Schulte United 3 points to new peaks at 650 and 25.

Columbia Graphophone and Grasselli Chemical encountered profit taking, while Celanese was in supply.

Noranda fell 3 points in heavy selling and dragged most other mines down from a point to a fraction. New Cornelia, however, improved slightly.

Oils were generally steady. Imperial was a strong point, spurting nearly 4 points to a new high at 72¾. Standard of Indiana gained more than a point, while Kentucky dropped a point. Gulf lost more than a point, but regained most of it.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

CONTENTMENT.

Ask not too much from life. Expect no more
Than just a few red ramblers at your door.
Nature is lavish with her summer charms,
But if with roses you have filled your arms,
Take but a step and some to earth will fall.
'Twas not intended you should hold them all.

The world is wide and brief the life of man;
To see it all is not within the plan;
Beyond a certain point on earth we can not go.
Riches piled up have nothing to bestow.
'Tis appetite not money flavors meat.
More than his fill no billionaire can eat.

Who in his home finds comfort and content,
Has all that is for human beings meant.
Pride, power and place at last to this descend:
Who would be happy first must have a friend.
And who has friends and neighbors near his door,
Dines well and sleeps; would not be helped with more.

"They are as sick who surfeit with too much
As those who starve with nothing." And to clutch
Mountains of gold and silver is to seize
Not greater joys but greater miseries.
Who for this hour his world at peace can see,
For this one hour is rich as man can be.

CITIZENRY SHIFTS DETENTION HOUSE BATTLE TO COURT

Petition Filed for Injunction to Oust the Institution From Southwest.

ZONE LAW IS BROKEN, PROPERTY HURT, CLAIM

W. K. Wimsatt Also Asserts District Is Paying Twice Usual Rate of Rent.

Protests of the Southwest citizensry in the battle against location of the House of Detention in an apartment building at 908 B street southwest yesreached the District Supreme Court when an injunction suit aimed to restrain the District from operating the institution in the building was filed.

The court action was taken by William Kurtz Wimsatt, of 910 B street southwest, through Attorney George E. Sullivan. The suit named Mrs. Mina C. Van Winkle, commander of the Police Women's Bureau; District Commissioners Proctor L. Dougherty, Sidney F. Taliaferro and William B. Ladue, the Wardman Construction Co., Harry Wardman and Albert F. Deuhring, owner of the property, as defendants.

William W. Bride, corporation counsel for the District, last night said he had not seen a copy of the papers filed, but judging from what he had heard about the case it is probable that his office will follow the same procedure used in connection with the battle over the Stanton Park site.

Citizens "Holding the Bag."

Citizens of Southwest Washington seem to be holding the bag in this case, one official of the District said yesterday, pointing out that it is much harder to dislodge someone than it is to get a restraining order from the courts.

Mr. Wimsatt described the detention house as a "female lock-up" and declared that the District zoning regulations are being violated in locating the home in the apartment building. The District, he declared, is paying twice the maximum rental value of the property.

"Females over 17, of all races, taken in custody at all hours of the day and night, through raids of disorderly houses or in any other manner, will be brought to the said premises, which will constitute the female lock-up for all such females, in lieu of the police precinct stations, which will be used for male lock-up purposes exclusively," the injunction plea read.

This, according to Mr. Wimsatt, will greatly injure the rental value of his property, and cause a depreciation of the property value in the neighborhood.

District in Residential Zone.

The zoning classification of property in the immediate neighborhood, Mr. Wimsatt declared, is "residential" and by locating the Woman's Bureau in the apartment, the District is violating its own regulations governing zoning.

The property, according to the petition, is valued at $75,000 and $7,500 is set as the maximum rental value. The District lease, he declared, is for rental of the quarters at $15,000 per year and does not become effective until November 1.

Lieut. Mina Van Winkle's surprise move of taking over the apartment quarters on Saturday night while the citizens were preparing their fight in court, is cited in the bill as well as Mrs. Van Winkle's declaration, "Possession is nine points of the law."

The Wardman Construction Co. and Harry Wardman are sued as agents of the property, and Arthur F. Deuhring is sued as the owner of the property.

Hesse Holds Conference.

A conference between Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, chief of police; Maj. L. E. Atkins, assistant Engineer Commissioner, and Mrs. Van Winkle was held in the office of Maj. Hesse yesterday afternoon. Maj. Hesse said the conference was called merely for the purpose of talking over "routine matters" in connection with the operation of the Woman's Bureau.

Mrs. Van Winkle plans to "keep moving in" despite the action taken by Southwest citizens. Workmen have been busy in renovating the apartment during the last three days, and Mrs. Van Winkle said she expected to have half of the 34 prisoners quartered in the new home within a day or so.

Drowning of 3 in Car Held to Be Accident

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the drowning of Mrs. Lenore R. Kahler, of 1729 North Capitol street, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Attwill, of 1657 Harvard terrace northwest, who were trapped in an automobile which ran off the seawall at Hains Point into the river Saturday. Armin A. Kahler, driver and sole survivor, was still at Emergency Hospital and unable to appear.

Lieut. Henry Helms, of the Park Police, testified that Kahler said he was so excited when he found the steering wheel of the machine locked and the car in motion, he can not now remember what he did. When the machine was dragged to the surface the ignition switch was found to be turned on and the emergency brake not set, Lieut. Helms said.

F. H. Smith Company's Sales Force Dinner Host

The Washington sales force of the F. H. Smith Co. had a banquet last night at the Club St. Marks, with an attendance of more than 50. Representatives from branch offices in New York, Richmond, Boston, Albany, Camden, Buffalo and other cities were present.

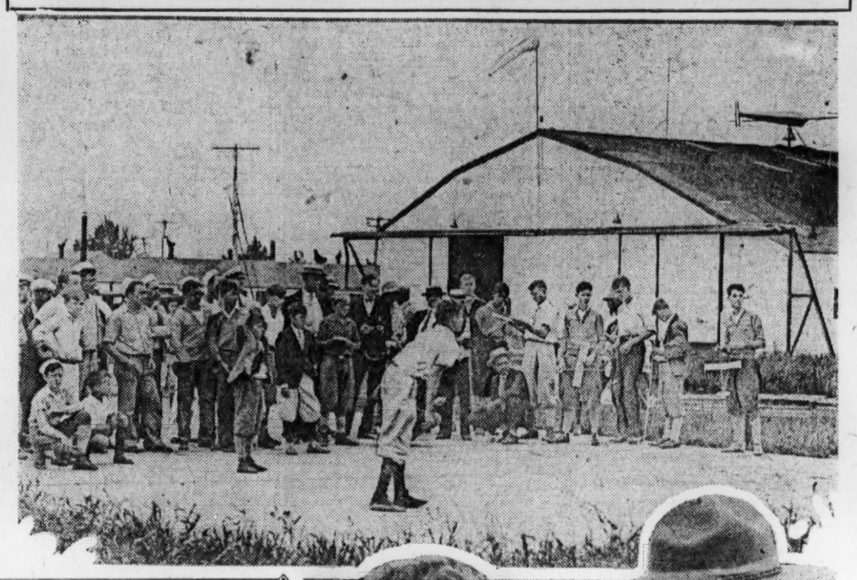

B. F. Dawes, vice president in charge of sales, and C. S. Schindler, general sales mangaer, delivered the principal addresses, complimenting Frank C. Casey, Washington sales manager, and the entire Washington sales force on the excellent record achieved during August. Roma Plake, special representative of the company in Virginia, was toastmaster.

Police Search in Vain For Capitol Page's Body

Harbor police yesterday continued their efforts futilely to find the body of Robert Richardson, 16-year-old Capitol page, who was drowned about a mile below Chain Bridge Monday afternoon. The depth of the water and the speed of the current where the boy sank, however, rendered dragging exceedingly difficult, they reported.

The youth was drowned in launching a boat which he had made with the aid of a 10-year-old companion. Richardson was last seen struggling to regain a pair of water wings which he was wearing while paddling about near the newly launched boat.

CROWDS SEE MODEL PLANE MAKE RECORD IN TEST

HAD ATTENDED GAY PARTY

Sidney Prince, jr., 19-year-old Yale student, and son of an official of the Southern Railway, of Chevy Chase Circle, and Alexander Knapp, 19-year-old son of Charles Knapp, prominent Baltimore, Md., merchant, who were being held in the Waynesboro, Pa., jail charged with assault and attempt to rob a Waynsboro grocer, and with impersonating officers, were freed last night on $1,000 bail each.

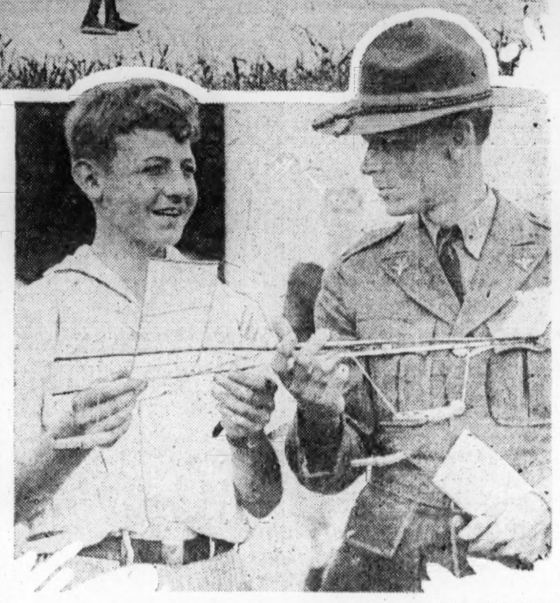

Judge Eugene O'Dunne, of the supreme bench of Baltimore, gave bail for the two youths.

The arrest is said to have grown out of an escapape which began at a debutante party at Blue Ridge Summit Prince and Knapp, according to the story they told police, becoming slightly under the influence of liquor, went for a ride to wear it off. A truck laden with peaches for the Washington market was taken for a liquor truck by the boys. They stopped it, declaring they were going to search the machine for liquor.

The youths were arrested yesterday morning following the filing of charges by Harry M. Rowe, Waynesboro merchant. The youths, who have been passing some time at the summer colony at Monterey, mountain resort near Hagerstown, Md., were riding in their automobile early yesterday near the resort when Rowe approached in his truck.

Police said the youths stopped the truck and asked Rowe for a quart of liquor. Rowe said he told the boys he was not in the liquor business and drove off. The youths followed, according to police and again halted Rowe, informing him, police allege, that they were revenue officeers. They are said to have searched the truck.

During the search Rowe charges the youths with seizing his pocketbook. When Rowe observed they were not armed, he grappled with them, seized his pocketbook and threw it to a companion, Harold Hill, who was riding on the truck with him. Hill fled to a nearby garage and called for aid. The youths were captured after a chase and a fight during which Prince was knocked down.

Herbert Dorsey's Model Plane Victor in Tourney

Sets Record, and Performs Feat Equal to Langley's Years Ago, Historian Says—Atlantic City Trip Seems Assured—Other Winners.

When Herbert Dorsey's tiny R-O-W model hydroplane rose from a pool of rain water at Bolling Field, and sailed through the air for 1 minute 26 seconds yesterday, the youthful plane builder achieved almost precisely the same feat as did Samuel P. Langley, one of the fathers of present day flying, 32 years ago at Widewater (Va.) near the same river the Potomac.

The feat of Dorsey, who lives at 3708 Thirty-third street northwest, in winning the scenic hydroplane event in the finals of the district model aircraft tourney's outdoor events was compared to Langley's by Paul E. Garber, aeronautical historian and Smithsonian Institution expert. The relative importance of the two events, he added, was a different thing entirely, of course.

Where Langley's 26-pound model, driven by a 1-horsepower steam motor and with a wing span of 14 feet, stayed in the air a minute and a half and traveled about three-quarters of a mile, young Dorsey's plane accomplished almost the identical feat, although it is built on a scale so much smaller that the difference almost epitomizes the advance in man's victory over the sky. Dorsey's plane weighed about 2 ounces and has a wing span of 2 feet, said Garber.

Dorsey's feat was the feature of both the outdoor and indoor events, setting a District record and apparently assuring him of a trip to Atlantic City to represent the District in the national finals.

Dorsey also took high honors in the indoor events, held last night at Macfarland Junior High School. He carried off first honors in the Fuselage R-O-F model senior event, with a remarkable duration mark of 1 minute, 22 4-5 seconds, won the scientific R-O-F model senior event with the still more unusual time of 1 minute, 57 2-5 seconds, won the scale R-O-F model senior event, in which he was the only entrant, with 18 seconds, and placed second in the senior R-O-W model event with 10 3-5 seconds.

George Bell, 2718 Thirty-second street northwest, and Lloyd Fish, 2425 Third street northeast, were others who hung up excellent records in the course of the contest.

Dorsey was the winner in the miniature airplane contests conducted last spring by The Washington Post, winning a trip to the national finals at Detroit.

The contests here were conducted under the auspices of the Community Center department of the public schools, in cooperation with the Capitol Model Aero Club.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, U. S. A., retired, who was on the special committee in charge, attended both the indoor and outdoor finals, and awarded the cups and medals given the winners of the various events last night.

Police Criticized In Vagrancy Cases

Judge McMahon Dismisses One Because of Lack of Details.

A rebuke was dealt to members of the Police Department by Judge John P. McMahon in Police Court yesterday for what he considered their lack of knowledge in presentation of vagrancy cases for trial. The judge delivered his remarks in open court just before dismissing a charge of vagrancy against John Russell, of no fixed residence.

Russell was brought into court by Patrolmen Hellmuth and Burrough of the Sixth Precinct. The policemen testified that they had the defendant under surveillance for several months, and that he loitered around gambling houses during the day and slept in automobiles at night.

Questioned by the judge if they had ascertained whether Russell worked or had a means of livelihood, both policemen admitted they did not know. Judge McMahon observed, "and still the Police Department wonders why it can not make vagrancy cases in court," and dismissed the case. Russell was convicted of charges of intoxication and disorderly conduct and fined $10.

Dr. Peter J. McLoughlin In Critical Condition

Dr. Peter J. McLoughlin, dean of the Catholic University Law School, was reported last night as being in a serious condition in the Deaconess Hospital at Brookline, Mass., as a result of blood poisoning. Surgeons amputated Dr. McLoughlin's left leg about a week ago. The infection spread, however, and a subsequent operation was necessary.

Dr. McLoughlin suffered an infected foot several months ago while on his vacation at Falmouth, Mass. He was confined to his bed for four days with chills and subsequent fevers before being taken to his home at Worcester. He has been a professor in the law school at the university for twelve years.

Lad, 6, Essays Police Job; Broken Leg Is His Reward

Six-year-old Edward Whalen, 1247 Thirty-fifth street northwest, has long cherished ambitions to be a motorcycle policeman. With envy in his eyes, he watched Officer Millard F. Collins of the Seventh Precinct, drive up in front of his house and park his motorcycle while he went on an errand yesterday.

A few moments after Collins disappeared, Eddie rushed to the street where he cast longing eyes on the motorcycle. He wondered how it would feel to sit on the seat and grip the handlebars. Then he decided to find out.

Eddie is short and the motorcycle seat was above his head. But he began to climb for it. He almost reached the seat when the machine toppled over and fell on his leg. Collins heard his cries and took the lad to Georgetown Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a possible fracture of his left leg.

Despite the injured leg, Eddie still cherishes an ambition to chase speeders on a motorcycle.

FIRE PAY TOO LOW, WATSON DECLARES, ASKING FOR RAISES

Department Chief Points Out Higher Rates in Nearly All Large Cities.

TOTAL LOSSES IN YEAR $1,101,164, HE REPORTS

Eleven Blazes Were Started by Incendiaries; 300. False Alarms.

Higher salaries for firemen, especially for commanding officers, were urged in the annual report of George S. Watson, chief engineer of the District Fire Department, submitted yesterday to Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty.

Chief Watson also complained that the office of the fire marshal, who does fire prevention work the year around, and investigates causes of fires, is undermanned, stating in particular that the services of two men are required to supervise oil burning equipment alone and adding that "other hazardous occupancies are increasing and need more frequent inspection than we are now prepared to make."

"The salaries now paid officers," Watson's report said, "and members of the department are not commensurate with the duties and responsibilities incident to their daily work and there exists a real need for readjustment of compensation rates.

Below Other Cities Rates.

"Those paid officers particularly fail to provide salary increases in promotions sufficient to compensate for the increased responsibilities incident to advancement in rank.

"The details of a fireman's vocation in the District differ in no material way from those of other large cities in the United States and rates of pay here should be substantially similar to those of our larger municipalities. At the present time they fall in this regard."

There were 3,704 alarms of fire in the year ended June 30, according to the report. This was an increase of 616 over the preceding fiscal year. Of these 1,516 were alarms from boxes and 2,188 were local alarms, including telephone calls for the rescue squad in scores of cases where there was no fires.

False Alarms Total 300.

Fire losses for last year were estimated at $1,101,164, as compared with $675,399 the year before, but $472,125 of last year's loss occurred in three fires at the Army Air Station in Anacostia.

There were 300 false alarms, 79 less than the year before, but no basis for prosecution could be laid in any case. Eleven fires were branded as incendiary, and 24 more as suspicious in their origin.

The fire marshal's staff made 64,205 inspections in its fire prevention work, and battalion chiefs detailed members of engine and truck companies who made 133,891 inspections in hotels, restaurants, apartment houses, asylums, public and private schools and similar buildings. The rescue squad responded to 187 local and 279 box alarms and to 5 special alarms of fire.

Lindbergh's Cousin Made Air Pilot at 50

Capt. Land Wins License as He Takes Up Work With Aviation Foundation.

Capt. Emory S. Land, Navy authority on submarine and airplane construction, who yesterday began a leave of absence of one year to assume the vice presidency of the Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, has been granted an airplane pilot's license, the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics announced yesterday.

Capt. Land, who is a cousin of Col. Lindbergh, with whom he will be associated with the Guggenheim fund, is prohibited from becoming a naval aviation pilot because he is a staff officer, but on August 24 he was granted a pilot's license by the Department of Commerce. He made his first solo flight August 23, and passed his final tests the following day.

Capt. Land achieved his license after he was 50 years old, and after he had spent 30 years in the Navy. Although not heretofore licensed as a pilot, he has been an accredited aerial observer since 1922 and has more than 500 flying hours to his credit.

Thirteen new members were dmitted last night at the monthly meeting of the Washington Chamber of Commerce. They are as follows: Waverly Taylor, Inc., Samuel T. Ansell, Ben B. King, jr., J. E. Cunningham Co., B. R. Buck, Dewey & Co., Inc., Samuel B. Eaton, W. P Grove, Roy A. Haines, William Oakley, Howard R. Palmer, Charles Visek and Harvey Warwick.

Charles J. Stockton was appointed chairman of a committee of three to draw a report on referendum No. 52 of the United States Chamber of Commerce, dealing with agriculture. Other members are Col. Robert N. Harper and P. A. Drury, sr. This committee will deliver a full report on the referendum on September 18.

A resolution was adopted calling for a joint entertainment between the local Chamber of Commerce and the Allentown (Pa.) Chamber of Commerce on the visit of the latter organization to this city on September 24-26. A dinner will be tendered the visitors by the Washington Chamber on September 26.

Democratic Women To Organize Tonight

To organize local women who are supporters of the Smith-Robinson ticket, a meeting will be held at 16 Jackson place northwest at 7:30 tonight. Mrs. Charles F Taylor, chairman of women's activities of the Smith-Robinson clubs of the District, will preside.

Mrs. Taylor, who was appointed by John F. Costello and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, of the Democratic national committee, has issued an invitation to all women interested in the Democratic ticket to be present.

Intruder Escapes Pursuers.

Apprehended in an effort to enter the home of Edward J. Funk, at 233 Twelfth place northeast early yesterday morning, a negro took to his heels when occupants of the house were aroused.

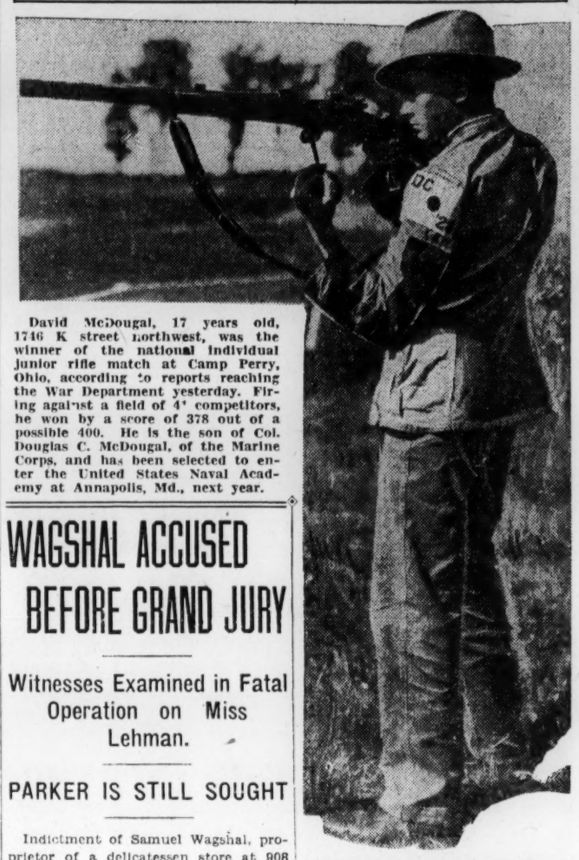

Monument Opened To Public Nights

The Washington Monument was illuminated last night and crowds visited it, the occasion being its opening at night to the public under a plan tentatively adopted by the authorities. Heretofore, the monument has been open only during the day. Now, it is planned to keep it open from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night for a two-week period.

The lights at the top made a weird effect on low-hanging clouds, causing many queries to newspapers from Washington residents. In some cases, it was thought that the display was a return of the aurora borealis.

Others, who saw the lights, believed them to be caused by searchlights in Virginia, even officials of the Naval Observatory falling into this error.

CAPITAL YOUTH WINS RIFLE MATCH

David McDougal, 17 years old, 1716 K street northwest, was the winner of the national individual junior rifle match at Camp Perry, Ohio, according to reports reaching the War Department yesterday. Firing against a field of 47 competitors, he won by a score of 378 out of a possible 400. He is the son of Col. Douglas C. McDougal, of the Marine Corps, and has been selected to enter the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., next year.

WAGSHAL ACCUSED BEFORE GRAND JURY

Witnesses Examined in Fatal Operation on Miss Lehman.

PARKER IS STILL SOUGHT

Indictment of Samuel Wagshal, proprietor of a delicatessen store at 908 G street northwest, and Charles Parker, said to be living in Philadelphia, accused of aiding Dr. Louis W. Hoffman in performance of the illegal operation on Miss Eleanor Lehman last March, was asked of the grand jury yesterday. Miss Lehman died while undergoing the operation and Dr. Hoffman, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder, is serving 30 years in prison for her death.

Dolores Monroe, also known as Dottie King, who was employed as a waitress in the Wagshal store, was the principal witness for the Government to go before the jury. The Government's case was presented by Assistant District Attorneys Pearl McCall and William H. Collins.

Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald, a deputy coroner, who performed the autopsy on Miss Lehman, and a woman, who was employed as a charwoman in the Victor Building, Ninth street and Grant place northwest, where Dr. Hoffman's office was located, were also before the jury.

Wagshal will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage on Friday. He was arrested on a warrant issued by Commissioner Turnage last Friday by Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, of the Detective Bureau, and was released in $1,500 bond pending the hearing.

A Charles Parker, employed by a Philadelphia telephone company, was arrested by Philadelphia police at the request of local authorities, but upon being brought to this city he was found to be the wrong man and immediately released. The arrest was made, according to Lieut. Kelly, on information furnished from three different sources. Another Charles Parker is still being sought.

It is charged that Wagshal furnished the money for the operation and Parker was responsible for the young woman's condition. In the performance of the operation, according to the investigators, Miss Lehman went into convulsions and her neck was broken by Dr. Hoffman. While she was dying, Miss McCall said, Wagshal and Parker were both summoned to the office of Dr. Hoffman.

Blaine Invincible Club To Aid Colored Voters

Activity in giving information to colored voters was planned last night by the Blaine Invincible Club, at 928 Fourth street northwest. Francis Wells presiding. The organization decided to experiment in interest of Hoover and Curtis with a series of block parties.

The plans made last night include speakers from several States, acquainted with election laws in all parts of the country, who will expound them from the steps of houses in the Fourth street block. If this plan proves successful, Wells stated, a series of block parties in various localities will be held for registration, instruction and voting purposes.

Woman Takes Poison In Error for Medicine

Mistaking a box of poison tablets for medicine, Mrs. Annette Walters, 23 years old, 4501 Illinois avenue northwest, swallowed three of the pellets in her home yesterday. Her husband, John Walters, answered her cries when the posion began to take affect and hurried her to Garfield Hospital.

Dr. Clyde Cantrell, of the hospital staff, said her condition will remain undetermined for a few days but did not believe the poison would have a serious effect.

Costello Post Calls for Gala Reception, Criticizing "Paltry" Official Fund.

Officers and enlisted men of the Australian warship Australia, whose reception here and at Annapolis is being arranged largely through personal contributions of American comrades-in-service in face of a trifling Federal donation of $750, will be welcomed in the National Capital today.

Characterizing as "insignificant" the sum appropriated by the Government for the entertainment of the Australians, Costello Post, No. 15, of the American Legion, last night unanimously adopted a resolution calling on the citizens of Washington, District officials, civic organizations and the District department of the Legion to join in planning a gala reception for the visiting sailors.

Reception to Be Planned.

Frederic William Wile, author of the resolution, declared it to be beneath the dignity of the Nation's Capital to let pass the visit of the Australians without giving the foreign guests the warmest possible reception which the citizens of Washington can offer.

Maj. L. E. Atkins, newly elected commander of the post, named Thomas Walsh as chairman of a committee composed of Wile and William Franklin to cooperate with local legion officials in planning the proposed celebration.

Members of the post were vehement in their remarks when they learned the Government had offered only a "paltry" $750 for the entertainment of the Australians. They recalled the recent visit of the American battle fleet to Australian and New Zealand ports when the Australian and New Zealand governments literally "turned over the cities to the American visitors.

They will arrive this morning for a tour of the city, including a visit to the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the U. S. S. Maine Memorial in Arlington National Cemetery.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Acting Secretary of the Navy Robinson will give a luncheon at the Metropolitan Club in honor of Rear Admiral G. H. Hyde, commanding the Australian squadron, who is with the ship. A luncheon for the ship's officers also will be held at the Army and Navy Club.

Dinners and Sports Events.

A third luncheon will be held for the enlisted men at the Seamans Barracks at the Washington Navy Yard. At 7:30 o'clock tonight there will be a dinner, given in honor of Rear Admiral Hyde, by Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and Mrs. Robison.

Today's schedule also includes a dinner at 7 o'clock for the ship's warrant officers aboard the old Spanish ship of Spanish war days, Reina Mercedes, at Annapolis. A dance at 9:30 o'clock tonight honoring Rear Admiral Hyde in Mahan Hall, at the academy, concludes the day's events.

Tomorrow morning the officers of the Australia will make a tour of inspection of the academy, and warrant officers and enlisted men again will visit the city. At 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon the Australian officers will be "at home" aboard their ship to United States naval officers. A dinner and theater party will be held for the Australian warrant officers in Washington at night, and a smoker is listed for the enlisted men at State Armory at Annapolis.

Friday afternoon there will be golf and tennis matches between officers of the Australia and United States officers, at the Officers Club of the Naval Academy. Enlisted men of the Australia will be given a tour of the academy, and this will be followed by a combined cricket and baseball game between teams from the visiting ship and that from the academy station ship, Reina Mercedes.

Sports and Show for Men.

A tug-of-war also will be held, and on completion of these events the enlisted men in attendance will proceed as a body to the Circle Theater at Annapolis for a special motion picture show.

The Navy's program of welcome for the officers and enlisted men of the visiting ship which arrived at Annapolis, yesterday, was announced by the Navy Department in detail.

It began yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock with a two-hour reception for the visiting sailors by Rear Admiral and Mrs. Robison, in honor of Rear Admiral Hyde, his flag captain and staff, and officers of the Australia.

Warrant officers of the ship were entertained at the academy and at dinner and dance at Harvest Inn, Magothy, Md., last night. The enlisted men also were entertained with a dance in Luce Hall of the academy.

Plans for a new medical and surgical building for St. Elizabeths Hospital, authorized by Congress at a cost not to exceed $875,000, were referred to the Commission of Fine Arts yesterday by the Interior Department, for advice as to design and location.

Congress already has made $400,000 available for the structure, which is to be a brick one of five stories. Its design is to fit into the plan for future and present buildings of the hospital. A tentative site selected is adjacent to Nichols avenue.

Through Attorneys Crandal and Argyle Mackey, the woman declared that an iron trap door of a railroad car on a siding in the Union Station, which she was entering to clean November 30, 1926, fell and struck her in the head. She declared she has since been unable to work and has expended $1,000 for treatment.

Two of Old Russian Nobility Wed Here by District Judge

Marriage of Prince Alexander Bariatinsky and Olga Massalskaja Follows That of Latter's Mother Saturday to A. S. Georgiades, Florist.

Two of the old Russian nobility were married here yesterday afternoon when Judge Robert E. Mattingly, of the Municipal Court, united Alexander Bariatinsky, 23, who says he is a prince and grandson of the late Czar Alexander II, and Olga Massalskaja, 17, also said to be of noble Russian descent.

Bariatinsky, who gave his address as 1742 F street northwest, when he procured the license, could not be found at that place yesterday, it being said there that he had left the city. Miss Massalskaja was unknown at 1335 Twelfth street northwest, the address assigned to her in the application for the license.

Judge Mattingly officiated at a similar event Saturday, when Olga's mother, Vera Massalskaja, 34, married Alexander S. Georgiades, 39, a florist in business at 2617 Fourteenth street northwest.

Georgiades, who goes by the name of "Mr. George," refused to discuss the wedding when interviewed yesterday beyond admitting his marriage to Miss Massalskaja's mother.

Bariatinsky was known as "Mr. Barry" when he resided at 2110 G street northwest, according to Miss Fanny Davis, the landlady, who said that she knew little of him beyond the fact that he was until recently employed as a salesman by Sterrett & Fleming, automobile dealers. He moved from the G street address to 1742 F street only five or six days ago, said Miss Davis.

The "Prince," according to Miss Davis, has been having his troubles. Not long ago, she said, he was anxious to get an automobile driver's permit. He was so anxious to get it that he drove his car to police headquarters without thinking how such a procedure would appear to the officers.

As a result, he was forced to put up collateral for driving without a permit.

Further than that, excepting a certain incident when she had a warrant sworn out for Bariatinsky in connection with his rental to her, Miss Davis professed ignorance as to his career.

The Russian Greek Orthodox rites which customarily follow the civil ritual will be performed by the Rev Wiachislav Gindlin, pastor of St. Alexander's Russian Greek Orthodox Church. Father Gindlin resides at 1317 Twelfth street, which is the address of Mrs. Vera Georgiades (nee Massalskaja), according to Georgiades.

Mrs. Evert is a graduate of Lawrence University, Appleton, Wis., with a bachelor of arts degree. The order was issued on recommendation of the Acting Secretary of War and the Civil Service Commission has submitted the case without prejudice, being unable to occur in view of the existence of the eligible register. The order concluded with the words "for patriotism."

Taxi Company Sues Driver.

The District Supreme Court was asked yesterday to restrain Lewis Daniel, of 1026 D street northeast, from operating a taxicab by the Black and White Taxi Co., which charged that Daniel's taxicab was "an exact replica" of the cabs being operated by the company. The company charges that Daniel's cab has been in operation since August, 1927, and that the public is being misled in hiring his cab, thinking one of the company's vehicles is being hired.

Fire Department Rescue Squad No. 1 was also called. Mrs. Wolff's condition was reported serious.
